TWO WOMEN IN ROOMING HOUSE ROBBER GANG?

Police Believe Arrest of Six Persons With Stolen Jewels and Clothing in House Clears Mystery of Many Thefts.

ONE ACCUSED OF ROBBING WOMAN WHO REARED HIM

Stolen Cloak Gives Clew—Many Articles Found in Dwelling Are Identified—All Locked Up Deny Guilt.

The police believe that in the arrest of four men and two women they have broken up an organized band of rooming house sneak thieves.

The first of the arrests was made Tuesday night; the others at 1:30 a. m. Thursday. Another man is being sought.

In the house which is said to have been the rendezvous of the gang, at 1308 Biddle street, were found weapons, files and skeleton keys, and a patrol wagon load of articles which have been identified as stolen.

One of the victims of the thefts is the woman who gave a mother's love and care to one of the prisoners for the greater part of her life. She accuses him of robbing her of $800 worth of jewelry, recovered in the alleged rendezvous, a few hours before his arrest.

This woman is Mrs. Carrie Henderson of 1911 Wright street. She raised Frank Butteral, also known as Frank Burke. Three years ago he left home, but has been a frequent and welcome visitor since then.

Rooms Rented; Jewels Gone.

For several weeks the police have been receiving complaints of men who engaged rooms, paid small deposits and in a few hours disappeared, quantities of jewelry and clothing also disappearing.

Among those who made these complaints were Mrs. James Goodman of 2211 North Eleventh street; Mrs. William Tait and Miss Katherine Dean of 2618 Gamble street; Mrs. Mary Copeman of 618 South Broadway; Mrs. Charles Kern of 1262 Cheuteau avenue, and Mrs. Frances Bruen of 1312 North Jefferson avenue.

They became convinced that an organized gang was doing the work, but found no clew on which to work. Descriptions of the supposed thieves were vague, and there was little on which to base a search.

Tuesday evening Miss Dean reported the robbery of her home. She said two men had called at 10 a. m. and engaged a room. At 4 p. m., when she went to fix the room for the night, they were gone, and so was $100 worth of clothing belonging to Mrs. Tait and her husband.

Among the missing articles was a cloak, which was described to the police by Mrs. Tait. This cloak led to the arrest of the gang.

At 8 p. m., Wednesday, neighbors of Mrs. Henderson say they saw Butteral near her home. At the same hour the man for whom the police are now looking met Mrs. Henderson at her front door, and held her in conversation for more than half an hour.

After he had gone, Mrs. Henderson found that someone had stolen a pair of diamond carrings valued at $600, a gold watch worth $100, and other trinkets and jewels worth $100 more.

These articles were found in the Biddle street house Thursday when Butteral and the others were arrested.

At 9 p. m. Special Officer McDermott of Carr Street Station, who had been put on the case, saw a man trying to dispose of a cloak at 1115 Morgan street.

It was Mrs. Tait's cloak, and the man was Edward Burckhart, scarcely more than 19 years old, who says he lives at 1226 Madison street. McDermott took Burkhardt and the cloak to Carr Street Station, and there both were identified by Miss Dean.

For nearly 30 hours Burckhart was closely questioned as to his associates, and eventually the police got a few facts on which to base a search. They could not find the gang, however.

Wednesday evening the report of Mrs. Henderson's loss was received, and her suspicions as to the thief were related. McDermott, with Special Officers Smythe and Lawyer, investigated. They learned of Butteral's association with persons who live at 1308 Biddle street, and began to watch that house.

Police Recover Jewels.

It was 1:30 a. m. Thursday before their vigil was rewarded. At that hour Butteral and John Casey came out and went to a saloon for a bucket of beer. The policemen arrested them at the corner of Thirteenth street and then pushed their way with them into the house.

They found Edward Brown and his 19-year-old wife, formerly Ada Welch, who came here from Farmington, Mo., four years ago, and has been a maid at the Planters', and Dora Carrione, a laundress at the same hotel.

Indignant denunciation was hurled at the officers, who began to search the rooms. Jewels and 16 pawn tickets were found in a dresser. All were taken to the Carr Street Station and locked in separate cells.

Thursday morning another search of the house was made, and the patrol wagon load of plunder taken to the station. There most of the articles, as well as the ones found in the pawnshops, were identified by their owners.

In the lot are Mrs. Henderson's diamond earrings and watch, a gold necklace, two bicycles, a gasoline stove, a sewing machine, quantities of bed clothing, suits and parts of suits of women's and men's clothes, trunks, valises, hatpins, stickpins and breastpins, and numerous other trinkets.

Mrs. Brown says she knows nothing of any thefts. She says she eloped to Belleville with Brown eight months ago. He told her he was a mechanic, but was not working at his trade.

When he began staying out at night she says he told her he was at work. She did not know where he got all the things brought to the house, but did not know they were stolen.

Mrs. Brown said Dora Carrione was equally guiltless, and lived at 3714 Cozens avenue.

Butteral gives his address as 3715 Kosuth street; Casey says he lives at 4252 De Soto street. Brown and his wife are the only one who admit that they lived at the Biddle street number.

Thursday afternoon Miss Maud Blair of 2723 North Broadway identified Burckhart as one of the men who, at 10 a. m. Saturday, engaged a room of her. They disappeared soon afterward, and at the same time there disappeared a quantity of clothing belonging to John Hogan, Roy Stephens and William Fulton, roomers.

Mrs. Kate Dressler of 2710 North Ninth street partially identified the men as those who rented a room from her at 11:30 a. m. Saturday. After they had gone she found that a clock and a quantity of clothing were missing.

NIGHT OF RAIN IS FORECAST

Showers Today and Tonight to Precede Higher Temperature Predicted for Friday.

Warmer weather, with glimpses of sunshine is expected to follow, Friday, the rain of Thursday.

The local forecast official is not any too confident concerning the sunshine, but he says the indications are that it will be only "partly cloudy." He is quite optimistic concerning the warmer part of the prediction.

But until Friday dawns he thinks the showers will continue. He sees nothing for Thursday afternoon and night but more rain, coming on the installment plan, with gray clouds constantly hovering.

The rain did not pick out St. Louis as a special place on which to fall. It has been dropping also upon the Injust and just of Kansas City and other places over a widely scattered territory. Kansas City, however, got the lion's share of 2.4 inches. Tampa, Fla., was next with 2 inches.

30 REPORTED KILLED IN NEW YORK EXPLOSION

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 3.—It is reported here that a number of men, said to be 30 or more, were killed by an explosion at Esopus today. No details have been received and the number of men said to have been killed has not been confirmed.

The explosion occurred at the dynamite factory of the Nitro Powder Co., at Mingo Hollow, in Esopus Township, shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

A report received at police headquarters is that six men were killed and a number injured.

GRAIN MEN ARE RESTRAINED

Nebraska Dealers' Association Is Charged With Operating as a Trust.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 3.—Judge Barnes of the Nebraska Supreme Court today granted a temporary injunction against the Nebraska Grain Dealers' Association, which, it is alleged, is operating as a trust and in restraint of trade.

The association is forbidden to pool prices or accept rebates, and pending the injunction the officers of the association must not act as officers and new officers must not be elected. The action is brought by the Attorney-General of the State under the law passed by the last Legislature, framed along the lines of the national Sherman law.

USE DYNAMITE IN POSTOFFICE TO WRECK SAFE

Burglars Visit Boles, Mo., and Obtain $340 by Expert Work as Cracksmen—Citizens Say They Heard Explosion.

NO ATTENTION PAID TO NOISE ABOUT MIDNIGHT

St. Louis Authorities Asked to Look Out for Crooks, Who Are Believed to Have Headed This Way After Crime.

Burglars blew open the safe of the Postoffice at Boles, Mo., 47 miles west of St. Louis on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, at 1 a. m. Thursday.

Citizens heard the explosion, but paid no heed to it. At 6 a. m. a blacksmith found the front door of the building broken open and investigated.

The safe was destroyed, and the interior of the building was badly damaged. It is believed nitro-glycerin was the explosive used, and the indications are that experts did the work.

The robbers got $140 in stamps, $200 in cash and several Confederate bills.

Postmaster Thomas J. Dunn immediately reported the robbery to the postoffice inspector at St. Louis, and inspectors were at once sent to the scene.

The St. Louis police have also been informed of the robbery, as there is a belief that the robbers came at once to St. Louis. Boles is at the bottom of a steep grade, and eastbound trains have to slow up. It is believed the burglars caught one of the early trains.

Another theory is that the burglars made their way to the Missouri River, two miles away, and escaped in a stolen skiff.

Citizens of Boles say no suspicious persons were seen about the town previous to the robbery, and it is believed the burglars did not arrive until about midnight, though they probably had previous knowledge of the location of the postoffice and of the amount of money on hand.

FINED FOR HITTING WOMAN WITH WHIP

Teamster Found Guilty in Police Court of Attacking Humane Officer.

RESENTED HER PROTESTS

Was Beating Mules, She Says—Court Acquits of Cruelty to Animals.

Thomas Moriarty, a teamster employed by the Scudder-Gale Grocery Co., was fined $20 and costs at the Dayton Street Police Court Thursday for an assault on Mrs. Regensburg of the Humane Society June 2.

On that date Moriarty was going east on Locust street, between Second and Third streets, with a stake wagon and a team of mules.

Mrs. Regensburg was going west on Locust street and met Moriarty. She stated that Moriarty was whipping his mules when there was no necessity for doing so.

She remonstrated with him, and in answer Moriarty told her, she testified, that he would do what he pleased with the mules.

Mrs. Regensburg then took out her notebook and was making a memorandum of the name on the wagon, when, according to her story, Moriarty hit her with his whip.

Mrs. Calkins, president of the Humane Society, was with Mrs. Regensburg at the time, and called a policeman.

Moriarty got off the wagon when he saw the policeman coming, but he was caught shortly afterwards.

Mr. Carpenter, a broker at 406 North Second street, testified in court that he saw the trouble and did not believe that Moriarty used his whip on Mrs. Regensburg. Moriarty took an appeal from the Court's finding.

Moriarty was also charged with cruelty to animals in the First District Police Court, but was acquitted.

PHILADELPHIA READY SHOULD FEVER COME.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Philadelphia is applying the ounce of preventive. The Health Department expects no yellow fever, but it will be ready for it if it comes.

The department is already erecting screen tents at the Municipal Hospital grounds in the event they should be required on short notice. They would be used for the isolation of the patients and to completely screen them so as to prevent mosquitoes from getting at the patients and flying away to spread the disease.

Pocket Picked in Street.

Jabez Rhodes of 1335A Arlington avenue, manager of a wool store at 4 North Main street, has reported to the police the theft of a watch and chain, valued at $100. Rhodes claims that the watch was picked from his pocket at Seventh and Market streets.

JOHN A. LEE TESTIFYING.

Robbed in Saloon, He Says.

Charles Jacques of 2351 Plover street reported to the police that he was held up and robbed of $25 and a gold watch by four men in a saloon at Broadway and Spruce street Wednesday at midnight. Jacques gave a description of the men.

DESERTED WIFE AND BABY MOVE IN RAIN

Almost Penniless, Mrs. Milton Phillips Is Forced to Seek Cheaper Quarters.

HANDICAPPED BY INFANT

Almost Despairs of Being Able to Support Herself and Three Small Children.

In the rain which fell dismally Thursday Mrs. Milton Phillips, deserted by her husband, was moving with her three children from her old home at 6678 West Park avenue to rooms at 3449A Manchester avenue.

Left almost penniless by her husband, who is said to have gone to Cincinnati on the same train with Mary Wimmer, a 15-year-old girl of 6618 Villa avenue, Mrs. Phillips lost no time in finding cheaper shelter for herself and children. With barely enough to pay the moving expenses and a month's rent, the woman does not know what she will do to earn food for her children.

The woman is 32 years old. Her children are Ebert, aged 12; Ruth, aged 9, and Harry, aged 3 months. Because of the baby she is so greatly handicapped in the matter of seeking employment that she almost despairs of getting anything to do which will enable her to provide for the children.

Mrs. Phillips applied to the police Wednesday evening for advice, but they were as greatly perplexed as she. In addition to being cumbered with the baby, Mrs. Phillips is not very strong. Her only immediate recourse is to borrow on her furniture and this she expects to have to do.

"I do not know what I shall do," she said in the midst of the confusion of moving, while her children clustered around her. We came to St. Louis from Indiana. I have no relatives and few acquaintances in St. Louis. My husband was foreman of a wrecking gang at the World's Fair. We have been married 13 years. He is big and strong and in the town where we came from he was familiarly known as Handsome Harry. He was always affectionate and attentive and fond of the children until lately.

I would forgive him for the sake of the children, I cannot bear to think of them in want and me not able to provide for them."

Phillips is said to be stopping at a hotel.

A dispatch from Cincinnati states that the Wimmer girl is with the family of William Bramlage at 1257 Richmond street. She says there that she left home because her parents would not give her enough money for clothes.

7500 Eagles in Parade.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 3.—One of the biggest processions of civilians ever seen in the streets of Providence was the feature of the field day of the New England League of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, held at Crescent Park today. Every state in New England was represented among the 7500 men in the parade. New York City also sent a large delegation.

TWO ST. LOUISANS DEAD ON GUNBOAT?

Now Believed That Oliver McKeon's Brother Met Death on Bennington.

From a letter received Thursday by Congressman Rodenberg of East St. Louis from the Navy Department Charles McKeon of 730 North Ninth street, East St. Louis, whose son Oliver was killed in the Bennington explosion in Los Angeles, has concluded that another son, Charles, whose whereabouts have been unknown for several years, was also killed in the same disaster.

The Rodenberg letter asked for information concerning Charles McKone, who, it was stated, was killed on the Bennington, and directed that inquiries should be made of the relatives of McKeon on account of the similarity in the names.

The father says that his son Charles was married and lived in Detroit, but disappeared from there in 1903. Since then nothing has been heard from him. At the time of enlistment Charles McKone gave his age as 21. If he is Charles McKeon, the latter's father says, his age at that time, April 6, 1903, should have been 24. McKone, according to the navy records, enlisted at New Lathrop, Mich.

If the two brothers were on the same boat, neither had ever communicated the fact to the father.

TIRED OF GARBAGE JOB.

Four weeks ago the City Council of Belleville awarded the garbage collecting contract to August Ruebel.

Now Ruebel is sorry the Council did it. He says he has found that he does not like the job and that he wishes to be relieved. Councilmen have asked him not to resign until a successor can be appointed. This will be done at the meeting next week.

Oleomargarine Causes Arrest.

Michael Stretch and James Riley, proprietors of the Sweet Clover Butter Co., 3874 Easton avenue, voluntarily surrendered Thursday to United States Marshal Morsey, who held warrants for their arrest on a charge of refilling partially emptied tubs with colored oleomargarine, thus saving the revenue tax. Revenue Agent Rodenberg seized a 40-pound lot of oleomargarine at the company's store Wednesday night. Both men gave $500 bonds for their appearance before United States Commissioner Gray Friday morning.

CAR STRIKES AND DRAGS AGED MAN

Unable to Hear As Result of Pattering Rain, Laborer Is Run Down.

Deafened by the patter of rain, Louis Wallenrapp, aged 66 years, a laborer living at Eleventh and Carroll streets, was struck by a southbound Cass avenue car at Eighth and Carroll streets at 12 o'clock.

Wallenrapp was picked up unconscious and the conductor in charge of the car telephoned for an ambulance. Wallenrapp was injured internally and he also suffered a bruised arm.

His clothes were in such condition as to make the doctors at the City Hospital believe that he was dragged by the car. The car was in charge of Motorman George Graves, who lives at 1919 Coleman street, and George Carter, living at 3715 St. Ferdinand street. Carroll's condition is serious.

LEE NOT CERTAIN SMITH GOT MONEY IN FARRIS' ROOM

Former Lieutenant-Governor, Under Cross-Examination in Alum Boodle Trial, Says He Doesn't Remember Seeing Farris Hand Other Indicted Senator an Envelope—Seven Hours on Stand.

SAYS KELLEY SENT HIM $1500 "FOR INVESTMENT"

Defense Introduces Letters and Telegrams of Lee to Kelley About Anti-Alum Legislation—Court Bars Questions About Alleged Checks From Havemeyer.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—Attorney-General Hadley began the redirect examination of former Lieutenant-Governor John A. Lee, chief witness for the State in the Farris bribery trial at 11:30 a. m.

When the defendant's attorneys turned the witness over to the State Lee had spent a total of seven and one-half hours on the witness stand. He had been under cross-examination five hours.

When court took a recess at noon until 1:30 Lee was still answering questions. He bore up exceptionally well under the fire of questions from defendant's counsel. He spoke in a low, almost inaudible tone.

One point developed by the defense was the admission from Lee that when the alleged boodle fund of $7000 was distributed at the Laclede Hotel he was not certain that one of the envelopes said to contain $1000 had been handed to Senator Charles A. Smith.

Senator Smith is under indictment for bribery in connection with the Laclede transaction.

"Did you see Senator Smith in Farris' room at the Laclede?"

Lee answered affirmatively and Attorney Jourdan asked:

"Did you see Senator Smith receive $1000 from Senator Farris?"

"I don't remember."

Lee then explained that he thought Smith received an envelope, but was unable to say that it contained money.

On re-direct examination Lee was asked by the Attorney-General if he had furnished the defense with the letters addressed by him to Kelley.

He answered that he had not and said he did not know how the defense came into possession of the checks given by him to Kelley, but which, after they had been cashed, were returned to the baking powder agent.

"Business Is Business."

Part of the celebrated Lee-Kelley correspondence was introduced in evidence. In one letter Lee took occasion to inform Kelley that in legislative matters "business is business and must be awarded to those who control the situation."

Still another of Lee's letters pays high tribute to Kelley as a "good fellow, a jolly good fellow and you have been kind to me and mine."

After confiding his financial wants to Kelley, in this same communication Lee described himself as a "howling, growling, money-seeking fellow with an itching palm."

Lee admitted writing to Kelley as follows:

"St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 2, 1901. D. J. Kelley, New York.—Dear Sir: Yours without date at hand (why in the devil don't you date your letters?) containing pure food bill. I will attend to its introduction as speedily as possible simultaneously in the House and Senate. I dictated a letter to my office stenographer yesterday to be written to you and I think I dictated one as suggested by you to President Rose. I expect to see Phelps day after tomorrow, Friday, or possibly tomorrow. Truly your friend. JOHN A. LEE.

"P. S.—Still hors du combat, but improving rapidly."

Identifies Checks for $2400.

Lee was shown various checks made payable to him and signed by D. J. Kelley, their aggregate amounting to $2400. Lee identified them, admitted he cashed them, but declared that for the most part they were not for his own use.

Lee insisted he cashed them for Kelley as a matter of accommodation. He was then asked regarding the $1500 he received as his share of the check for $8500, which Kelley sent to Lee to protect the Baking Powder Trust's interests in the Legislature. Lee said he gave $7000 to the Senators and retained $1500 for himself.

This money he insisted today was given to him by Kelley for investment purposes. He denied that it was in consideration of the services he had performed for the trust while serving as president of the Missouri Senate.

From the transcript of evidence of the first Farris trial, Jourdan read extracts showing that Lee admitted he was paid $1500 by Kelley because of the legislative services he had rendered the Baking Powder Trust.

Lee was asked if he remembered this. He replied that he supposed he had made such a statement. His attention was then directed to that part of his former testimony in which he said that Kelley considered the legislative work of a Lieutenant-Governor worth $1500. Lee became frequently confused at this stage of his cross-examination and answered questions in halting tones.

"Opposition's Fool Efforts."

"Did you receive a check for $1000 from President Havemeyer of the American Sugar Refinery Co. in 1901?" asked Attorney Jourdan.

Mr. Hadley objected. Judge Davis ruled the question out as immaterial and said that while he would permit the introduction of all testimony bearing on the relations between Kelley and Lee, he did not think it proper to admit collateral evidence for the purpose of impeaching the witness.

Judge Davis also excluded as immaterial a number of letters and telegrams sent by Lee to Kelley in which references were made to the Missouri Legislative situation.

A titter ran through the audience when the following letter, which Lee admitted writing, was identified and read:

"City of Jefferson, Jan. 7, 1901.

"Mr D. J. Kelley, New York, N. Y.

"Dear Sir—I have your esteemed favor without date (as usual). I have instructed P. not to introduce that bill until requested so to do, as I had a conference with S. and we concluded that it would be better, possibly, to devote our attention to preventing the repe[al] of present statute than the passing [of] new law.

"I will await advice from S. before having the bill introduced unless you think it best to do so at once.

"I note with considerable amusement your description of the fool efforts of the opposition. They are certainly ridiculous. I am watching things here pretty closely.

"My health is now recovered and I shall be able to hold the fort without doubt.

"I will, tomorrow, send you a copy of the bill introduced in the Lower House. It has not yet been printed; but I will have a typewritten copy made.

"The inauguration was tremendous, the largest crowd being present that ever attended an inauguration in this State, and there has been such a 'to do' ever since that I have not found time to reply to your letter, but am now settled down to business and will keep you advised. Truly your friend.

"JOHN A. LEE."

"P. S.—Just had a talk with Senator Walker, who will be chairman, and he accepts. Stated to him that he would make good, strong friends. LEE."

LEE ADMITS WRITING KELLEY, "$7000 RETURNED"

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—In three essential particulars Lee contradicted during his cross-examination yesterday the testimony he had given at the former trial of Senator Farris when the jury failed to agree.

On the first occasion he swore that a letter dated March 2, 1902, addressed to

SIMON LOSES IN CONTEST FOR HEALTH OFFICE

Judge Kinsey Modifies Former Order Permitting Dr. Snodgras to Serve at Commissioner Pending Final Trial.

MAYOR WELLS REMOVED DR. SIMON AFTER TRIAL

He Appealed to Court for Writ of Certiorari, Which Was Granted, but He Stayed Out of Office by Agreement.

Judge Kinsey in Division No. 8 of the Circuit Court Thursday morning handed down a decision modifying the order made by him last Wednesday reinstating Dr. John H. Simon as Health Commissioner of St. Louis.

Dr. Simon will not be vested with the right to assume the duties of the office as the order of Court originally demanded.

After Dr. Simon was removed from office following his trial before Mayor Wells Attorneys Rowe and Crow, representing the deposed Health Commissioner, applied to the Circuit Court for a writ of certiorari, ordering the Mayor to certify into court all the records in the Simon trial.

Judge Kinsey granted this writ last Wednesday and when an order, drawn up by Simon's attorneys, was presented to the court for ratification it was found to nullify all the subsequent acts of the Mayor, the most important act being the appointment of Dr. Snodgras, formerly City Bacteriologist, to succeed Simon as Health Commissioner.

As soon as the order was signed by Judge Kinsey, Simon and his attorneys went to the office of the Health Commissioner, armed with the writ of possession vested in them by the order of court, and for several hours last Wednesday St. Louis had two health commissioners.

After several moves on both sides, Dr. Simon agreed not to push the matter until the city, through its counselors, had time to move to modify the order.

City Counselor Bates and Attorneys Rowe and Crow presented their arguments for and against the modification of the order before Judge Kinsey last Friday and the matter was taken under advisement until today.

The bone of contention was as to how far certiorari proceedings go in such a case and whether or not everything that has been done is undone by the granting of a writ of certiorari, pending final judgment by the superior tribunal.

The writ demands that all the records in the Mayor's recent trial of the Commissioner be certified into court on or before the first Monday in October, that Judge Kinsey may review the trial and determine its legality.

DOWNEY IDENTIFIED.

Victim Says He Is Man Who Stole Watch on Car.

A warrant charging grand larceny was issued Thursday against John Downey, who, it is alleged, stole a gold watch from the pocket of Jacob Weimer of 3829 Easton avenue, Aug. 1, on an Easton avenue street car at Twentieth street and Franklin avenue. Downey was arrested Wednesday night by Policemen McGrath and McQuellen. He was later identified by Weimer as the man who thrust his hand in his pocket on the street car.

Two girls were arrested Aug. 1 when Weimer lost his watch. They were detained until Wednesday when they were released.

Court Frees Man Who Beat Wash Boiler at Wedding.

Frank Lohrum of 2613 Bismarck street was discharged by Judge Spalding in City Hall Police Court after evidence had been heard in support of the charge that he had disturbed the peace by beating a wash boiler with a cane in honor of the wedding of Mr. Barry and Miss Dugan, who have gone to housekeeping at 168 St. George street.

He was the only one of a hundred serenaders captured when the bride summoned Policeman Ward of the Second district. There was evidence that Lohrum had made a good deal of noise, but Judge Spalding decided that the circumstances were somewhat extenuating.

Leaves as Fuel.

In Paris a company has contracted with the municipal authorities for all the foliage to be derived from the trees of the public squares, gardens, streets and woods within the limits of the city. These leaves are to be compressed under high pressure and will then be converted into a fuel, which, it is claimed, will have a far greater calorific capacity than coal or any other fuel known.

From this collection may be learned all the details of the temples, palaces and convents of what has hitherto been a city of impenetrable mystery.

D. J. Kelley and signed by John A. Lee, in which the writer called attention to $8000 which he said he had returned to D. J. Kelley was a rank forgery. Another communication from Jefferson City to the effect that if called before the grand jury in relation to legislative corruption he "would stand pat," he admitted having written. He admitted that he went to St. Louis on the train leaving Jefferson City at 2:30 p. m., accompanied by D. J. Kelley and Senator Farris in the closing day of the 1901 session of the Legislature.

Yesterday he declared that in respect to these matters he was mistaken.

He acknowledged that he wrote the letter dated March 2, 1902, which reads as follows:

"CITY OF JEFFERSON.
March 2 (Sunday), 1902.

"Friend Kelley:

"You or I might die, and the situation out here without you to protect me and without me to protect you might become, through vindictiveness, one wherein there might be a necessity to show to the courts, if so required, certain matters of business which have transpired in their proper light. I therefore suggest that you write to me, on the letterhead of the National Health Society, a copy of a letter which you sent me about a year ago when you mailed me a check for $8000 for collection and use in a certain direction. I have forgotten the exact date, but you can find it by the date of the check, if you retained a copy. For fear that you did not retain a copy of it, and having myself destroyed the copy I had, I give you my recollection as closely as I can of its contents. It was mailed to me from New York about the date of the check, probably the day it was dated, and addressed to me at St. Louis, though at that time I was in Jefferson City.

"You will remember that I paid you back $7000 of the money when you were in St. Louis, March 19, 1901, as you were starting to New York, and that the remainder was invested as directed and is still so invested. Truly, LEE."

But he denies this time the authorship of the "standpat" letter. He says he did not leave Jefferson City on the afternoon train when the Legislaure adjourned in 1901, but waited until evening when he took his departure with Kelley and Farris.

In explanation relative to the letter of March 2, 1902, he declares that at the first trial of Senaor Farris only part of the letter was shown to him by Attorney Jourdan, hence he denied the entire communication.

Respecting the other letter he has no explanation to offer. He does not remember having testified previously that he wrote it. "I did not go to St. Louis on the afternoon train," he testified, "but on the one leaving here after 6 o'clock. The Legislature did not adjourn until 2 or 3 o'clock. My previous impression was correct."

Unshaken on Main Points.

Attorney-General Hadley, while perhaps disappointed at Lee's testimony in regard to these matters, still says the prosecution has a strong case.

Concerning the main points with reference to the bribery transactions Lee's statements were unshaken.

His idea in writing the 1902 letter was due to the St. Louis boodle disclosures which were attracting considerable attention at the time.

Lee thought the State might take up the investigation of legislative corruption, and armed with such a letter he could easily protect himself before a grand jury.

In response to Attorney Jourdan's questions, Lee testified that he had been assured by the prosecuting officers that if he turned State's evidence he would not be prosecuted.

He was indicted for perjury, but this was dismissed yesterday before he went on the witness stand.

He admitted that on two occasions he went before the Cole County grand jury and denied all knowledge of corruption in connection with the anti-alum repeal bill, but had made a contradiction and a confession 10 days later.

Attorney Jourdan pressed the cross-examination on points relative to the meeting, which Lee says occurred between Farris and himself in Farris' room at the Laclede Hotel, also concerning the details of their meeting in the Madison Hotel in Jefferson City.

Lee stated that he believed Senator Charles Smith was in the room at the Laclede when he called to distribute the $4000 boodle fund. He was uncertain as to the identity of another senator who he said was in the room, but thought it might have been Senator Costello.

Attorney Jourdan then directed a crossfire of questions at the witness relative to his previous testimony to the effect that Senator Matthews was present.

Lee said he was uncertain as to the identity of the third man and had always so stated. After considerable prodding by Jourdan he said he believed he recollected meeting Matthews just as the latter was leaving the Laclede.

Despite persistent objections from Attorney-General Hadley Jourdan succeeded in bringing out the fact that an indictment returned against Matthews for bribery on the strength of Lee's testimony before the grand jury was subsequently dismissed on the admission of the former Lieutenant-Governor that he might have been mistaken relative to Matthew's being in the Laclede Hotel room when he took the Baking Powder Trust money there for distribution.

On further examination Lee acknowledged that he had shown only a bank book on the Central Missouri Trust Co. of Jefferson City to the Cole County grand jury and had not displayed his account in the American Exchange Bank.

Lee testified that at the time he deposited the $8500 check from Kelley in the American Exchange Bank he also deposited a check for $500 in his own name. He drew out $7000 the same day and took it over to the Laclede Hotel at once.

Says Farris Divided $7000.

In the course of his direct testimony yesterday Lee described the alleged distribution of $7000 in currency for members of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee of the Senate in Senator Farris' room at the Laclede Hotel. He said he took the money there, having made an appointment the day before to meet Farris.

Nobody but Farris was in the room when he arrived, he said, and he placed the money on the table. Farris went downstairs and secured large envelopes from the clerk. In seven of these, Lee said, Farris put bills. He thought there was $1000 in each, although he didn't count it.

Senators Smith and Costello, he said, came in the room while he and Farris were there and Farris gave each of them an envelope. They left, he said, before he did and later he left Farris in the room alone. He did not remember what Farris did with the other envelopes.

Lee also recounted an alleged long-distance telephone conversation with D. J. Kelley, legislative agent of the Baking Powder Trust, in which he said he told Kelley that he feared he would be unable to prevent the repeal of the anti-alum law by "personal influence."

He then told Kelley, he said, that Farris had made a proposition to hold up the repeal bill in committee for compensation.

Kelley replied, he said, that he expected the matter would come to that and asked details of the proposition.

The following day he said he got a telegram from Kelley saying the proposition was acceptable.

Lee described the final report of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee on the anti-alum repeal bill. He said Senator Orchard introduced it an hour before final adjournment with a lot of other bills. He said the statement attached to it had been sent to him by Kelley. He had shown it to Farris, and at Farris' direction had given it to Orchard, he said.

Sensational Suit Dismissed.

The suit of Harry A. Kramer against Dr. Eugene A. Caulfield for $25,000 for alleged alienation of his wife's affections, which has been pending in Judge Taylor's division of the Circuit Court since last February, was dismissed Thursday by the plaintiff. About the time the suit was filed Mrs. Kramer filed suit asking divorce from her husband. Kramer was later granted a divorce on his crossbill filed in this case. Shortly after the divorce was granted Caulfield and Mrs. Kramer were married.

THRILLING RESCUE OF CHILD FROM CAR

Man Hurled by Fender as He Snatches Little Girl From Track.

CROWD CHEERS HIS ACT

"It Was Nothing," Says He, When Picked Up Bruised From Pavement.

Timothy Denehy of 2111 Division street awoke Thursday to find himself a hero. He insisted that it was a "little thing," but his neighbors think that it was a big thing to save the life of little Josephine Williams at the risk of his own.

Josephine lives with her parents at 2112 Division street. She was playing in the street Wednesday afternoon. Unmindful of danger, she ran around the corner of Twenty-first and Biddle streets and out on the track of the Spring avenue line in front of a car which was approaching at high speed.

One who saw her shouted at her and she stopped in the middle of the track and looked around with mild curiosity to see what was wanted.

Tim Denehy was standing at a nearby corner. He saw the child standing on the track and the car bearing down on her only a few feet away, and although the motorman was making frantic efforts to stop it he knew that unless the little one was rescued she would be mangled under the wheels.

Others were paralyzed with horror and could do nothing more than turn their eyes away, but Dennehy bounded to the rescue of the child.

He reached the middle of the track almost in one jump and clutched the dress of the child and swung it clear of the track just as the fender struck him and sent him rolling to the gutter.

Bystanders and passengers hurried to him and assisted him to his feet.

Rescuer Injured.

He had received painful bruises but was not seriously hurt, and Baby Josephine escaped without a bruise.

The parents of the child knew nothing about the narrow escape until neighbors brought her home and told them what had happened. They sought Dennehy to try to express their gratitude to him, but he had disappeared after insisting to those who praised his act that it was such a little thing that it was not worth speaking about.

One of the men who saw the act of heroism does not agree with Dennehy that it was a little thing. "It was the bravest thing I ever saw in my life," he said. "I was as near the child as Tim was, but I was paralyzed with horror and could do nothing. If it had not been for Tim the child would almost certainly have been killed."

Dennehy is foreman of the Union Electric Light and Power Co.

Struck by Trolley Car.

Thomas O'Neil, who lives in "Boyleville," or "Ragtown," which lies between Sarah street, Boyle avenue, Laclede avenue and the railroad tracks, walked in front of a Chouteau avenue car at Sarpy and Manchester avenues Thursday. His hands and forehead were badly skinned, but no fractures were discovered at City Hospital, to which he was sent by the car crew.

Only Son Willed Winter Shoes.

Accident was the verdict Thursday of the Coroner's jury in the inquest into the death of Thomas L. Savage, who died Wednesday at the City Hospital from a bullet wound received July 4 at the hands of John H. Sweeney at his home, 4017 Green Lea place.

The evidence supported the claim of Sweeney that he mistook Savage, who was his friend, for a burglar.

MRS. HAHN GETS LITTLE SON

Judge Modifies Divorce Decree, but Husband Is to Have Boy Part of Each Day.

Judge Kinsey of Circuit Court Thursday modified the decree in the divorce granted to Julius Hahn from Mrs. Dora Hahn, giving Mrs. Hahn the custody of their 3-year-old son Julius Jr., but the husband is to have him from 5 to 7 o'clock each week day evening and from 9 to 5 o'clock on Sunday.

The divorce was granted on account of Mrs. Hahn's friendship for Teodulfo C. Paliso, a Philippine Scout at the World's Fair. When it was granted Hahn was given the custody of the child. In modifying the decree Judge Kinsey said that while under the evidence there was nothing to do but grant the divorce, he did not consider that the wife had put herself utterly beyond the pale of consideration so far as the child was concerned.

BLANCHARD NAVY PATROLS COASTS FOR INVADERS

Louisiana Governor, Bottled Up at Baton Rouge, Issues Orders at Long Range and Breathes Threatenings.

SPREAD OF FEVER IS CREATING A PANIC

There Are Thirteen Cases Outside of New Orleans, Not Including Shreveport — Texas Pacific Practically Abandons Traffic.

NO NEW CASES AND TWO DEATHS TODAY.

At New Orleans—New cases to date, Aug. 3, none; deaths to noon, Aug. 3, 2; total cases, 375; total deaths, 81.

In Louisiana, outside of New Orleans and not including Shreveport—13, scattered cases, mostly convalescent.

Shreveport, La.—1, convalescent.

Montgomery, Ala.—1, convalescent.

Lumberton, Miss.—1, convalescent.

Summerall, Miss.—1 case.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 3.—The Louisiana oyster commission schooner, under gasoline power, carrying some of the armament and Colt's guns from the training ship Stranger, and manned with Louisiana naval reserves is now at Lake Borgne Canal, according to a message at noon, and is proceeding as fast as possible to Chef Menteur and the Rigolets.

One detachment of naval reserves left on a Louisville & Nashville train at 7:40 o'clock this morning and will meet the Louisiana fleet at Pearl River and man the boats.

Gov. Blanchard, who is shut up in Batin Rouge and cannot get out, is burning the wires with his orders to Capt. J. W. Bostick, commanding the Naval Reserves, and to Brigadier-General Arsene Perrilliatt of his staff and in command of land forces that are being held in readiness.

The Don Quixote telegram of Gov. Vardaman from Jackson last night was not satisfactory to Gov. Blanchard. While Vardaman has promised to withdraw his armed invasion, thee Governor of Louisiana proposes to see that it is done, and his armed forces are being sent to the Mississippi State line as fast as possible.

Orders have been issued to release the Louisiana fishing boats that were seized by the Mississippi patrol boats.

It is believed the situation will quiet down as soon as Louisiana's forces reach the front and face the Mississippi guards.

When at 6 o'clock last night Gov. Blanchard heard the Mississippi Oyster Commission patrol boat, the Grace, was anchored at the Rigolets railroad bridge on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, with her guns trained on the bridge and the keeper's house, he turned from red to purple.

Capt. J. W. Bostick, commanding the Naval Reserves, dispatched a special detail of his men to the scene by train. The entire command was summoned and quartered at the armory on Camp street and then marched to a tug, two launches and three patrol boats of the Louisiana Oyster Commission. This flotilla, armed with howitzers from the Stranger, rifles, revolvers and short swords, set sail late last night on its way around to Chef Menteur and the Rigolets, via Lake Borgne Canal.

It is believed that a conflict will probably occur when this little fleet attempts to emerge from Lake Borgne Canal, although still in Louisiana waters.

It was here that Vardaman's fleet picked up the 18 fishing boats last night and carried them to the Ship Island quarantine station as prisoners.

Serious Trouble Expected.

If an effort is made to capture the Louisiana fleet and take it to Ship Island, it is believed that there will be a serious fight.

Gov. Blanchard's adjutant and chief of staff in this city, Gen. Arsene Perilatt, is directing the movement so far as the State militia is concerned.

The Rigolets is not only in Louisiana waters, but is in the city of New Orleans, being within the confines of the Ninth ward.

It is seven miles inside the Louisiana State line, and it is contended that the Mississippi patrol boats have no rights there and especially no right to order the drawbridge across navigable water to be nailed down and vessels held up indiscriminately.

Increase of yellow fever cases broke all records yesterday.

So did the increase of deaths.

There were 32 new cases and 11 deaths. Also there were several new points of infection.

It is believed that a considerable number of cases are being concealed by the Italians.

In one instance, where the officers had made a thorough inspection of premises and failed to find what they were looking for, they went through a skylight and found a sick man lying on the roof.

In another case they found a patient concealed under a cistern.

The other day a wagon loaded with household goods and accompanied by Italians, started to cross on one of the ferries.

Suspicious officers insisted on an investigation, and when the goods were unloaded a man very sick was found in the bottom of the wagon.

The Government land office has been taken from New Orleans to Little Rock.

Arkansas will be divided into four districts to enforce the quarantine effectively. Headquarters will be at McGhee, Bridge Junction, Texarkana and Helena. Militia will patrol at all points where trains enter the State and at river junctions. A strict quarantine has been placed on Memphis.

Louisiana passengers are barred from Paragould. The Iron Mountain will not stop trains at Pine Bluffs.

Hot Springs will have a double quarantine line.

Jonesboro, Ark., established a strict quarantine yesterday. Health certificates must be shown and no freight will be received from fever points.

Four coach loads of refugees bound for St. Louis over the Cotton Belt were permitted to lunch at Jonesboro, but were made to return immediately to their coaches.

Deaths Follow Concealment.

Concealment until the cases are almost hopeless and utterly inadequate treatment until they fall into the hands of a doctor, are considered as partly responsible for the heavy mortality among the Italians. It is said articles like macaroni and bananas have been taken by patients after the fever has attacked them. That means almost certain death.

Milk is the principal diet with alkaline waters and the juice of watermelon to work on the kidneys. To allay nausea the doctors prescribe small pieces of ice to be dissolved in the mouth. Many of the Italians die because they do not get this treatment until too late.

Comparatively few outside of Italians have been attacked and some of these exceptions are already on the street, little worse for their sickness.

Passengers Complain.

A whole trainload of passengers on the Iron Mountain road has been held up in Concordia Parish, removed from any habitation for some time. The passengers have been loud in their telegraphic protests to the railroad commission, declaring that they have had neither food nor water. Efforts are being made to move the train.

Monroe, La., with fever on three sides of her has put militia and armed citizens on every road leading into her limits.

New Iberia, La., has put a curfew law in effect. Columbus, Miss., has decided to guard against infection by the use of rifles. Many of the smaller towns are passing mosquito ordinances.

Alexandria has completely bottled herself up, but in order to save herself and the parish from starvation she has permitted the running of a train, thoroughly fumigated, three times a week to bring in provisions and other supplies.

In Mississippi the State Board has issued an address to the people recommended that all lodge and public meetings be discontinued for 30 days.

LEADER OF THE KNIAZ POTEMKIN'S MUTINEERS.

MATUSCHENKO, RUSSIAN REBEL.

This is the first picture to reach this country of Matuschenko, the leader of the mutineers on the Russian battleship Prince Potemkin.

Matuschenko, who defied the Russian Black Sea fleet and fired on Odessa, was the last of the rebellious crew to consent to surrender to the Roumanian authorities at Kustenji, a Black Sea port.

Before Odessa some of the mutineers would not consent to fire on the city. Matuschenko, like a madman, insisted on loading the guns with shells. He ruled by fear. He went and came through the battleship's waists, on the bridge, among the guns, always raging, pistol in hand, even threatening. All trembled when he appeared.

HEALTH BOARDS CONSIDER FEVER

State and City Bodies Will Decide What Quarantine Rules Are Needed.

The State Board of Health will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Southern Hotel and agree on a plan for quarantining the southern border of the State against yellow fever refugees. The plan agreed upon will be submitted to the St. Louis Board of Health at a joint meeting to be held at 5 o'clock at the Old City Hall.

It will be decided whether to establish quarantine stations along the border or simply watch trains and steamboats.

A joint meeting of the two boards was held Thursday forenoon at the Southern for the discussion of conditions and of the advisability of quarantining. No definite conclusion was reached as to what would be the best method of quarantining.

The forenoon conference was attended by the following members of the State Board: Dr. R. H. Gobdier of Hannibal, President; Dr. J. A. B. Adcock, Warrensburg; Dr. M. M. Hamlin, St. Louis; Dr. J. T. Thatcher, Oregon; Dr. W. S. Thompson, Armstrong, and Dr. B. T. Powell, Thayer. The St. Louis board was represented by Health Commissioner Snodgrass, Dr. Albert Merrell, Dr. H. A. Forman, Dr. H. W. Bond and President A. C. Stewart of the police board.

Dr. James Morsell Gassaway, surgeon of the United States Marine Hospital, and Samuel Dreyfuss, a merchant of Shreveport, La., were also present.

The question of boat quarantine was discussed with Dr. Gassaway. Mr. Dreyfuss, who is on his way East with his family, but says he is not a refugee, volunteered information about conditions in Shreveport. He said there had been but one case there, and that was of a refugee who had come in on a train. He had been isolated and as the city was in fine sanitary condition there was little alarm.

EAST ST. LOUIS READY TO ISOLATE SUSPECTS.

The Board of Health of East St. Louis is taking precautions against yellow fever. A meeting of the board was held Wednesday night and instructions issued to Chief of Police Purdy to have the police on the alert for suspects from the South.

All trains are to be searched on their arrival in East St. Louis and any person found suffering from fever of any kind will be detained and the Board of Health notified. If the symptoms are sufficiently suspicious the patient will be taken in an ambulance to a double-screened isolation tent near Four-Mile Crossing on the outskirts of the city.

The State Board of Health has established a quarantine along the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad from East St. Louis to Vincennes.

The East St. Louis Board of Health is composed of Mayor Cook, Drs. McBrien, DeHaan, Zimmerman and Lillie and Chief of Police Purdy.

MISSING MAN HAD MONEY WITH HIM

This Makes Relatives of Joseph G. Fakes Fear That He Met With Foul Play.

Joseph G. Fakes, who arrived in the city Sunday from Dallas, Tex., has been missing since Monday afternoon, and fears are entertained that he has met with foul play. On his arrival with his wife Mr. Fakes registered at the Terminal Hotel.

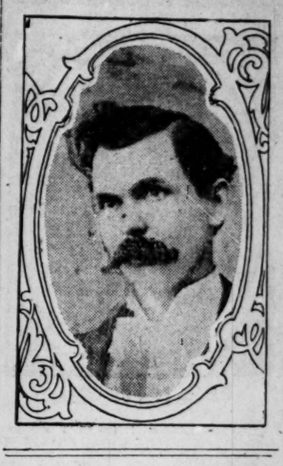

Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. Fakes went to 3931 Russell avenue, where E. B. Sheldon, the husband of Mrs. Fakes' half-sister resides. Mr. Fakes left the Sheldon residence at 1 p. m. Monday with the intention of finding a permanent boarding place. He called on his friend, J. L. McDowell, at 927 Chestnut street, shortly afterwards.

At 2:30 o'clock he left Mr. McDowell, and he has not been seen since.

Mr. Fakes had a large sum of money on his person, and it is this fact that has given rise to the suspicion that he has met with foul play. His friends assert that he is a man of very temperate habits. He is about 40 years of age, is about 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs about 180 pounds. His hair is black, wears a small brown mustache, and has gray-blue eyes. When last seen he was wearing a dark business suit and a soft black hat.

Until recently Mr. Fakes has been employed by the Denver Gas and Electric Light Co. He came to St. Louis to accept a position with the Laclede Gas-light Co.

JOS. G. FAKES, MISSING, HAD MONEY IN CLOTHES.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 3.—The extraordinary session of the Riksdag was brought to a close today. King Oscar was not present, but was represented by the new Premier, Christian Lundeborg.

In declaring the session closed, the speaker of the Lower House said the situation still contained disquieting elements, but Sweden would be absolved from blame if a breach occurred, after the offer made by the Riksdag.

DREAMED OF HIS WORK.

Thought He Was Going After Tar and Walked Out Window.

O. P. Hawkins' dream that he had to go after a bucket of tar caused him, at 2 a. m. Thursday to walk from the second story of a stable at 1442 Mississippi avenue, where he lives, into the alley. His right hip and arm were broken and his face was badly cut.

Hawkins is a tar roofer. He says he was dreaming of his work when the shock of the fall awakened him. He crawled back to his room, and did not know how badly he was hurt until his employer, W. H. Brothers, found him helpless in bed six hours later and sent him to the City Hospital.

WITTE COURIER AND ALSO HAS PLENARY POWER

Czar's Envoy Officially Stated to Have Authority to Agree to Indemnity and Cede Territory to Japan.

GETS INTO TROUBLE OVER AN INTERVIEW

Repudiates Statement That He Believed Japan's Terms Would Be Intolerable, Then Says Wasn't Talking for Publication.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—It can be officially stated that Russia's envoy, M. Witte, does not come merely as a courier, but has plenary powers, as complete as Russia ever gives to envoys.

The Czar is in honor bound to accept any terms within reason that he makes.

He has power to assent to an indemnity and to the cession of territory.

But he says that he comes to "ascertain the conditions which our gallant adversary deems necessary and adequate as a basis of peace negotiations."

Then he adds: "Meanwhile, however, the terms offered must first be ascertained, weighed and judged admissible by Russia before she can proceed to formal negotiations."

M. Witte undoubtedly has powers as complete as the Japanese envoys have, but he himself regards the preliminary conferences as merely a means of finding out whether a basis for a treay of peace can be established.

When shown the wireless message sent by a newspaper correspondent on Tuesday night quoting M. Witte as saying that the conference would not last a week, as the Japanese terms would be intolerable, he was visibly annoyed, and in the most emphatic manner declared that it was absolutely untrue. Several members of his suite also denied it, and expressed great annoyance at its publication.

Later on the correspondent who had sent the dispatch sought out M. Witte and reminded him of the circumstances of the interview, then his excellency admitted that he had, in substance, said what was quoted, but that he had no idea that it was to be printed.

Summed up, the following facts can be stated, gathered from formal statement issued by the envoy and from interviews with members of his suite:

Speaking personally and not as the official representative of the Czar, M. Witte did express the opinion sent from the ship by wireless telegraph late Tuesday night, that the peace conference would be over in a week, because Japan's conditions were too intolerable to admit of discussion. This he defied when first told that it had been printed, then he remembered having spoken the words.

Mr. Sato, speaking unofficially, of course, said today that it would not be diplomatic to discuss the statement of M. Witte concerning the prospects for peace. In reference to the wireless message in which M. Witte was quoted as saying the conference would not last a week owing to the intolerable demands of Japan, Mr. Sato said:

"I do not know why Mr. Witte should hold such views when he does not know what the conditions Japan will insist upon will be and has no means of knowing. At no time has any one been given any idea of what is to be asked by Japan outside of our own party. Even President Roosevelt does not know what our terms will be.

"Unless we hear these remarks directly from Mr. Witte we are inclined to take no notice of them."

CROWD HORRIFIED AT FATAL FALL

A crowd standing on the east side of Seventh street, between Olive and Locust streets, watching the erection of the addition to the tall Missouri-Lincoln Building, was filled with horror to see a man fall from the skeleton iron work of the eleventh floor to the sixth floor. It was Robert Scully, foreman of the iron construction work. He died a few hours later at City Hospital from his injuries.

The steel work had just been completed at the eleventh floor and Scully was loosening some bolts to remove the derrick, when he lost his footing and dropped through the framework to his death. The floor had been built in the fifth story and his fall was arrested there. At the hospital it was found that his skull was crushed and that many bones were broken.

Scully, whose age was 42 years, leaves a wife and eight children in Cambridge, Mass.

CHINESE BOYCOTTERS COME

Wealthy Merchants Will Try to Get Ear of Congress.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 3.—The boycott being laid on American goods by China will be the subject discussed by two passengers on the Empress of Japan, who arrived here yesterday on their way to Washington.

They are wealthy Chinese merchants named Le Man Lounb and Chan Chinman. They will first visit the Chinese legation and hope through the Chinese Minister and Secretary Root to reach President Roosevelt and finally Congress.

Lo Man Loung said there was a strong feeling at present growing in force in the coast cities of China for a union with Japan.

MOURNED MISSING BROTHER

Hostler Who Tries Asphyxiation Leaves Letter.

Saying that he never knew the whereabouts of his brother, the only person to whom he could be of any use, Claude McClease, aged 24, employed as a houseman at the home of E. H. Warner, 1906 South Grand avenue, attempted suicide Wednesday afternoon by inhaling gas. He was found in the loft of the stable, unconscious, by Daniel Carlton, 3630 Shaw avenue, and was taken to the City Hospital. He had attached a rubber hose to a gas jet and taken the other end in his mouth.

A note addressed to his brother, Fred McClease, Wellington, Mo., said that he had worried until he was unable to stand the strain longer. "I have nobody to look after but you, and never know where you are," the note read.

SHOT OF FRIEND FATAL.

Man Mistaken for Burglar Dies at City Hospital.

Thomas L. Savage, aged 62, died at City Hospital Wednesday afternoon as the result of the injury received when shot by Joseph H. Sweeney, a roomer at Savage's home, 4017 Green Lea place, who thought he was a burglar. The shooting occurred early in the morning of July 4 and resulted from the failure of Savage to give the signal by which the men knew each other at night.

Sweeney is at Evangelical Deaconess Hospital suffering with appendicitis, being operated on Wednesday, and could not attend the inquest held by the coroner Thursday.

ST. LOUISAN FINED.

Broker James Campbell Pays for Fast Motoring in London.

According to a cablegram from London, James Campbell, St. Louis broker, has been fined £2 10s in that city for fast motoring.

Mr. Campbell has been touring Ireland and Scotland and in view of the fact that he ordered an automobile before he crossed that should have the maximum horsepower it is presumed that he has been cutting a lively clip. It would appear that he did not bother to slacken his pace when he reached London and the result was that a bobby nabbed him and haled him to Bow Street Court, where the Magistrate fined him, as stated.

Mr. Campbell is said to have paid $15,000 for his auto on the eve of his departure for Europe and to have engaged a chauffeur who was somewhat famed for his disregard of speed limitations.

Man Who Used Pistol Scared.

K. B. Brown, the St. Louis barber, held at Clayton, charged with shooting Clark Walton, had a bad half hour when it was officially reported that Walton was dead. The charge against him had been changed to murder, when it was learned that Walton was recovering at the Jefferson Hospital.

"Lost" Money in His Pocket.

After reporting to the police that he had been robbed by four men at Broadway and Market street and $40 taken from him, John Savio was arrested. When taken to the Central Station and searched the money was found in his pocket. He was released.

We Saved ⅓ on Sample Undermuslins—So May You

PRINCE, EVANS & CO, of 709-711 Lucas Av., city, are known throughout the United States as makers of the highest class undermuslins. They are famed for the exquisite styles they produce, and visitors to their large, light and airy workrooms are instantly impressed with their sanitary condition. We bought from them several thousand sample garments at one-third less than regular, and will place this entire purchase on sale Friday at prices that represent an equal saving to you.

THERE are immense assortments of Gowns, Drawers, Corset Covers, Skirt Chemises and Petticoats made of finest muslins, nainsooks and longcloth; exquisitely trimmed with various laces, beautiful embroidery, etc.; all made amply wide and full, and, what is very essential, under the most sanitary conditions.

BEING samples, these garments are more or less soiled, but a trip to the wash tub will remedy that evil. The women who come and choose early will pick up some wonderful bargains, for despite the large quantity there is no telling how long the various lots will last. The sale begins promptly at 8 o'clock.

This Is Yvonne Lamor, the Gold Mitten Girl

Yvonne Lamor.

NEW ANNA HELD AN ALL-ROUND ARTIST

Combines French, Spanish Irish and English Accents and Paints and Sings Well.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The girl with the golden mitten came on the Blucher the other day. She came unheralded. Yet she is to displace Anna Held on the American stage if Joe Webber has his way.

She made her success at Bechstein Hall, London, where Yvette Gilbert got before her public.

She wore bronze mittens last winter and made them the vogue.

Her name is Yvonne—Yvonne Lamor. She speaks with the funniest combination of French, Spanish, Irish and English accents. Her father was a Spaniard, her mother an Irish woman, she was born in Paris and for six years she studied painting in England.

"I have been at the Palace Theater, London, for a year," said Miss Lamor, "and am going back next year in September. I have also appeared at the Tivoli, in the English provinces and in France and Germany, but this is my first visit to America.

"I have been on the stage only a year last April. I had been doing water-color posters in original designs, some of which are still on exhibition at Covent Garden and at Allen's printing house in London.

"I have a good mezzo-soprano voice and an ambition to succeed on the stage. It was my voice and my ability, I suppose, that won me my present engagement."

TARANTULA BITE GOOD FOR NERVES

Time-Honored Excuse in Southwest for Hilarious "Jag" Shattered by Pennsylvania Doctor, Who Says Sting of Insect Is Harmless.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—It will be sad news for Texas and Arizona to learn that one of the most sacred traditions of the Southwestern desert—that the bite of a tarantula is certain death unless the recipient fills himself with whisky as an antidote for the supposed virulent poison is untrue.

So deep rooted has this idea become in the minds of the frontiersmen that "tarantula juice" has superseded the term "spiritus frumenti" in the pharmacopoeia where "Alkali Ike" is best known.

Now comes a Philadelphia doctor who poo-poos the theory and even invites the tarantula to come on and do his worst.

Dr. Philip Samuel Stout of the University of Pennsylvania, after a series of experiments with tarantulas, has expressed his opinion most emphatically that the popular theory of tarantulas is a bugaboo, and that their bite practically is harmless.

To prove his assertions Dr. Stout declares that he probably will allow one of the insects to bite him. He declares that so far from the bite being poisonous it probably is an antidote for certain forms of nervous diseases.

Dr. Stout, who is an assistant demonstrator in pathology, has been carrying on his experiments for several weeks. One of these showed that a dog which had been suffering with chorea and which was subjected to the bite of a tarantula was much benefited temporarily.

Dr. Stout began his work with a half a dozen tarantulas that were sent him as a joke by a friend traveling in Central America. As some of the dreaded insects have died he has sent for a number from Panama, and will continue his experiments on a larger scale.

All of his experiments have been carried on with dogs as subjects. The animal has been placed in a small compartment and the tarantula then released. In each case the dog's curiosity has proved too strong, and, on investigating the strange animal, has been bitten. Unfortunately for the continuance of the experiments, the dog has always retaliated by killing the tarantula. None of the dogs thus bitten has suffered any ill effects.

In speaking of the popularly supposed deadly effects of the tarantula bite, Dr. Stout said that he thought the reports of such cases were greatly exaggerated. "Without doubt many tales we hear of experiences of those bitten by these insects are entirely false," he said. "For instance, they say that the bite produces an effect on the unfortunate victim which is termed 'tarantulidance,' and this is frequently exhibited by natives of Central America, who allow themselves to be bitten by tarantulas for small sums and then entertain their patrons with their weird actions. In this case it would seem that the dance is a cleverly concocted hoax which is perpetrated on the over-credulous traveler. If these natives can be bitten by a tarantula without suffering any harm, there is no reason why it should have such a deadly effect on others."

FIGHT IN MIDAIR WITH MAD LASCAR.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—An exciting struggle with a mad Lascar seaman took place in mid-air in the rigging of the steamship Asia, of the Anchor Line, which has just arrived in the Royal Albert Docks.

The Lascar, a powerful man, named Hadil Cassim, went out of his mind soon after the vessel was berthed, and complained that the noise made by unloading the cargo hurt his head.

Soon afterwards he left his work, ran into the rigging, and took up a perilous position at the top of the foremast, 60 feet above the level of the deck.

The chief Lascar seaman, called the serang, and one of the officers tried to persuade him to descend, but as he took no notice he was allowed to remain, for it was believed that he would eventually return to the deck.

For five hours, however, the man clung to the top rigging. Then he seized the signal halyard, twisted a noose in it, and before anyone could interfere slipped the noose around his neck, took a flying leap from the masthead, and swung in the air, struggling wildly.

The first, second and third officers and several of the crew climbed into the rigging, and at considerable risk caught the swaying rope and released the Lascar. Then began a fierce struggle on the mast top, where the Lascar fought the serang and the third officer with maniacal fury.

The work of unloading stopped. Dock laborers, officials and others crowding to the side of the vessel, held their breath as they watched the desperate fight in mid-air.

The crew on deck hoisted a large cargo basket, which they tried to suspend beneath the mad Lascar, but before they could get into position, he broke away from his captors and fell to the deck. The third officer and the serang narrowly escaped falling with him.

The madman, who sustained several minor injuries, was taken to the Seaman's Hospital, where he is making satisfactory progress.

Queer Russian Tax.

Russia has probably the most curious tax of the world. It is called the "amusement tax," and was instituted a year or so ago to found an institution for the poor, under the title of the "Empress Marie Foundation." The tax is laid on every amusement ticket sold, and the managers increase the price accordingly. Already more than 1,000,000 roubles have been raised in that way.

BANK ON WHEELS IS NOW PLANNED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COICINNATI, O., Aug. 3.—President Charles E. Roth of the Cosmopolitan Bank and Savings Co. has received information from the Patent Office at Washington that insures the establishment of the automobile bank which that company has been planning to put in, and which will be the first automobile bank ever operated in the United States.

The patent has been perfected with the exception of one or two minor details.

The machine is to be built of chilled steel and will be equipped with safes and vaults. It will be lighted by electricity, with the same motive power.

Mr. Roth says a schedule will be made for the bank which will cover about 40 miles a day.

Business in the Ohio and Kentucky suburbs of Cincinnati is to be sought by the bank, as well as local business, and trips to these places are to be made at regular intervals.

Mr. Roth expects that it will take six months to build the machine, and it is said its cost will be more than $5000.

King's Anarchist Chauffeur.

In spite of his years, King Leopold of Belgium is one of the most daring of men. Not only is he given to riding in an automobile at tremendous speed, but he also employs as a chauffeur one Marcel, who is a pronounced Anarchist. He has been warned against the man by the police of Belgium, France and Germany, but he pays no heed to their counsel.

HOW THE DUCKS SLEW THE OUTCAST ON IT'S RETURN

Being the Story of a Barnyard Tragedy Woven About a Duck Born Into a Turkey Family

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WISHART, Mo., Aug. 3.—This is the story of a duck tragedy in a local barnyard:

After an absence of a month, one of a farmer's turkey hens came home this spring leading a brood of eight little turkeys and one white duck. For a while it was a mystery how the turkey had acquired the duck. Then the abandoned nest was found and the whole matter explained. She had hatched. An old duck had found the turkey's nest and laid an egg there.

Ducks and turkeys are fowl of entirely different natures, and this strange family attracted the attention of the farmer. He watched it closely, confident that the turkey would abandon the duck or that the little creature would join the great flock of young ducks in the barnyard. But he was mistaken.

The old turkey was very attentive to the duck and it appeared devoted to her, patiently following her away to the woods each day in quest of insect food. As it grew, the influence of its association with turkeys became strikingly evident. It was noticeably sedate while its duck brothers and sisters in the barnyard were nervous and noisy.

When It First Felt Alone in the World.

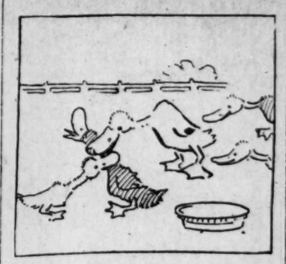

Before the brood was large enough to be abandoned, the turkey hen built another nest and went to setting again. Then a very strange thing happened.

The old turkey gobbler, a big, quarrelsome fellow whose aim in life seemed to be to whip all the chickens on the farm, actually took charge of the brood. The little turkeys and the duck also were in need of protection, and they promptly accepted their new guardian and ceased to call for their mother. The gobbler was not qualified for this self-imposed duty and was very like a father with his first baby.

At first he seemed to think that all the little fellows cared for was to see him strut about, but, when they began calling for food, he took the hint and proudly led them away to the woods. He soon caught on, quit strutting and showing off and got busy running down grasshoppers and bugs.

At night he led the flock home to the coop where the mother had roosted with them and then mounted the roof of the chicken house which was his favorite perch. That would not do, and the little fellows ran about on the ground calling for him. Finally he came down, gingerly entered the coop and they crawled into his feathers for warmth and protection. After that he always roosted in the coop.

Like Mary's little lamb, wherever the gobbler went the duck followed. On these long jaunts in the woods, it learned strange things that only turkeys know. At evening, when it would return home, the other ducks would rush up to it, boisterously quacking and evidently trying to be friendly, but it would walk away from them with an air of disdain and join its turkey friends. Soon the other ducks seemed to realize it was an alien, and after that they would strike it when it came near them.

Killing the Outcast.

There came an evening when the little turkeys forsook the coop and mounted the fence to roost. The gobbler accompanied them. The change worried the duck for awhile; it rushed about trying to find a way to reach the new perch. Failing, it selected a nice spot in the grass, close to the fence, and every night after that it could be found there.

In a little while, however, the turkeys got so big that they wanted a higher perch, and one night the gobbler took them to roost on the roof of the chicken house. The change agitated and frightened the duck. It would go to its favorite spot in the grass by the fence and, not seeing the turkeys above it, would quack like its little heart was breaking.

The ducks on the other side of fence would answer.

Darkness settled over the farm, a the turkeys, failing to heed its pleadi and return to the old perch, it fou a hole in the fence and went out to kind.

The farmer was eating his supp when this happened. Soon his atte tion was attracted by a great uproar the duckyard. All the ducks seemed be quacking and flapping their wing and at the request of his wife he r out to ascertain what was the matte Presently he returned, carrying t duck which the turkeys had reared.

It was bleeding and dying.

"The others jumped on it and kille it," said the farmer to his wife.

HORSES FALL ON WET PAVEMENTS

Bituminous Macadam of Chestnut Street Abandoned After Drivers Learn Conditions.

ONE HUNDRED TUMBLE

Onlooker With Gambling Propensity Wins Wagers as Result of Slippery Street.

The combination of Thursday's rain with the bituminous macadam paving of Chestnut street on the steep grade between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets caused as many downfalls as does snow on the levee.

People in the neighborhood estimate that 100 horses fell there Thursday morning before drivers, afraid to take further chances, practically abandoned that part of Chestnut street and went up granite-paved Market street, crowding it with the diverted traffic.

In most cases the trouble was caused by the wagons slipping down the sloping sides of the street, dragging horses to an unequal footing, and throwing them. In one case two horses, which had retained their footing after such a slide by their wagon, went down when their driver began to beat them. Spectators cheered when the driver had to get out in the rain, unharness them and help them to their feet.

A laundry wagon and an ice wagon contributed an amusing feature. The horse to the lighter vehicle slipped to its haunches; the ice wagon crew turned to laugh loudly at the accident. While they were laughing their two horses went down the same way, and the laundry man had his laugh. The ice wagon accident came near being serious, however. The wagon was heavily loaded, and it required hard work to prevent it from running over the helpless horses, which had to be unharnessed before they could arise.

Automobiles also had their troubles. One, going west, tried to turn at Seventeenth street. The rear wheels skidded completely around and the machine brought up in the gutter.

John Lang, who is employed at the corner of Seventeenth, is the only known beneficiary of the slippery condition. At 8 a. m Lang began betting quarters with friends as to whether approaching teams would get down hill without falling. Inside of an hour he had net winnings of eight bets. Then he could find no more takers.

Ice Men Engage in Fight.

Elmer Jennings, 27 years old, of 1912 Biddle street, a driver of an ice wagon, is at 2620 Market street suffering from severe injuries sustained in an encounter with the driver for a rival ice company in front of 3709 Finney avenue Wednesday afternoon. He was unconscious for several hours, but physicians say he will recover.

SCOTT LOST DOG AND GEMS

Death Valley Miner Goes Home in Pullman to Again Lower Railroad Records.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—Some one stole Walter Scott's yellow dog while he was in Central Park, New York. That is why Scotty, the Death Valley miner, is going back to California in one seat in a common Pullman car. The mascot's loss was followed by other losses.

Scotty passed through here last night on the California limited of the Santa Fe.

There was a conspicuous lack of the diamonds that he wore when he left California. When attention was called to this omission "Scotty" stopped smiling and lapsed into sullen gloom.

"Wouldn't that jar you?" he said. "No diamonds outside for me. Didn't the New Yorkers get my dog and about everything else that was lyin' 'round loose? They skinned me good."

He was congratulated on his fast run from Los Angeles to Chicago. Then the smile that had been so rudely flushed returned.

"I am going back now after some of the yellow, and in 12 weeks from today I am going to start in to break the record for a ride from Los Angeles to New York.

"You put it down in your little book that 'Scotty' is going to make the run from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast in 60 hours."

LONG CHASE AFTER DOG.

Policemen Pursue Canine Many Blocks Before Killing It.

After biting the 9-year-old son of Policeman Cornelius Hough of 2322 Eugenia street, a dog terrorized crowds at Union Station Wednesday evening and afterwards fell dead in an alley behind the Missouri Pacific Building at Seventh and Market streets, from a bullet fired by Policeman Stewart.

COULD'NT LIVE ON $75,000

New York Society Woman Declared Incompetent to Manage Her Affairs.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Following an inquiry before three commissioners, a Sheriff's jury decided that Mrs. Nellie Bostwick Cary, the beautiful wife of Hamilton Wilkes Cary of 801 Fifth avenue, society leader and an Astor, is incompetent to manage herself or her property.

The petition upon which the proceedings were based was filed by Mrs. Cary's husband, her mother, Mrs. Helen C. Bostwick, and her brother, Albert C. Bostwick. They averred that Mrs. Cary had long been addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants, and unable to properly care for her estate, which gives her an income of $50,000 a year, and ran heavily in debt, notwithstanding that Mrs. Bostwick supplemented her daughter's income with an allowance of $25,000 a year.

LILLIAN RUSSELL FOR VAUDEVILLE

Noted Stage Beauty Leaves the Shuberts and Goes to Frederick E. Proctor.

Lillian Russell will not be a Shubert star next season. After hesitating and negotiating through much of the summer, the noted stage beauty has signed a contract to appear in vaudeville next season under the management of Frederick E. Proctor.

Lee Shubert says that Miss Russell's contract with his firm expired last May and that they had the option of renewing it. They notified Miss Russell some time ago that they would not claim this privilege, whereupon the singer accepted the offers made by Proctor. She appeared last year in the title part of "Lady Teazle," a musical version of "The School for Scandal." Mr. Shubert says an English singer will take the part next season.

D. E. Russell, manager of the Imperial Theater, has returned from his vacation trip and announces that his house will open Aug. 20 with "A Slave of the Mill."

It is said that we are to experience a delightful surprise when we look into the Olympic Theater after the period of rehabilitation progressing there. The new paint has spread out through the foyer to the street doors. Mr. Patrick Short, the manager, has been spending part of the summer at Mt. Clemens, Mich. The St. Louis theatrical season really begins when the Olympic opens, and the date of this important event has not been announced. This week of last year the Olympic was doing a land office business with "Way Down East," which opened its season July 31. Blanche Bates opened at the Imperial the same night in "The Darling of the Gods."

In "The Wizard of the Nile," which is running at Delmar Garden this week, the comedian, Gus Weinberg, has a remarkably long part to commit to memory. He says he conceived the idea of relieving himself of a large part of the study by nailing up on the back of the tree all the lines and cue of his part which occur while he is perched upon the immense leaf of the tree. The dialogue which he recites from there is quite lengthy, and the comedian had everything nicely arranged for the opening performance, Sunday matinee. When he climbed up into the tree, however, he discovered that somebody had taken down the part which he had taken so much pains to nail up there, and he was forced to go ahead with his character without the use of these lines. As he only remembered a small portion of the speeches and comments he was supposed to make from the tree, he had to improvise. After he got through with the matinee Weinberg decided to take no more chances at tacking his part up in the tree, and at the night performance he was giving it from memory.

The New York Casino success, "The Lady Slavey," will be put on at Delmar next week, beginning with a matinee Sunday.

NICHOLAS WEAVER, GRAFT KING, DEAD

Sailed Yacht and Left Trail of Debts and Worthless Paper Around World.

MEMBER OF SWELL CLUB

Atlantic Compelled to Repudiate Him—Died When About to Receive $100,000.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Acquaintances of Nicholas J. Weaver, one of the kings and most picturesque members of the world of graft, were today informed that he is dead.

There are lots of people who remember Weaver, because for a time he was a member of the Atlantic Yacht Club and paid big wine bills in the various hotels in which he made his home. Weaver flew the colors of the Atlantic Yacht Club on the schooner-yacht Norma, and wherever the Norma stuck her nose he left a record.

There were not many summer resorts along the Atlantic Coast that escaped the Norma and her crew in the summer of 1895, and for nearly a decade after that Weaver left a trail of victims extending around the world.

American cities and those of England, Nice, Gibraltar, Suez, Alexandria, Cairo, Yokahama, Calcutta, Tokio, Melbourne and Honolulu felt the hand that steers the fortunes of the up-to-date pirate ship.

Weaver did not fly the black flag at his mizzen peak, and there was no "long Tom" mounted on the forward deck of the Norma, but Capt. Kidd, Morgan, Sir Ralph the Rover, and Flint certainly never left such a trial of bad checks and crooked paper.

Weaver's picture is in the Rogues' Gallery as No. 1297, because of some business that he transacted here more than 10 years ago, but the police did not know that he had come back to town last year with another big proposition, and that he was the manager of the Guaranteed Securities Co., with handsome offices in the Barclay Building at 299 Broadway.

First Arrest by Police.

It was in 1888 that Detective Sergeant Evanhoe took Weaver in—his first recorded arrest in the city. He was sent to Chicago, where Muller Bros. of that city said the prisoner had swindled them of a case of goods which was valued at $1400.

Weaver was not convicted. He was afterward heard of in Los Angeles. He sank $50,000 there, it was said, in a newspaper.

Then he came to New York, joined the Atlantic Yacht Club and secured the yacht Norma in 1895. With a party of friends he started on a trip south. First he called at Old Point Comfort, where his wife had a sister, who was well-known around the Hotel Chamberlain and the Hygeia.

After a dance on the yacht, several young men were asked to dinner, and a poker game that followed cost them a lot of money. When the checks given to Weaver had been stopped and the story of the poker game got around the Government reservation, the Norma sailed for Cape May. Weaver did a good business there, and at Atlantic City.

That fall he turned up in New York, still a member of the Atlantic Yacht Club, and a boarder at the Waldorf.

Before Weaver left he had proposed a plan for visiting out-of-the-way places of the globe and writing them up. He declared that he had offered Kipling the post of historian of the expedition at a salary of $12,000 a year. Frank R. Stockton, he said, wanted to go along. He said he had offered Stephen Crane a berth on the Norma. As Weaver figured it, he was to sell a weekly letter to 100 newspapers at $10 a letter, or $52,000 a year.

Touched Up the English.

Weaver turned up in London in 1897, flying the pennant of the Commodore of the Atlantic Yacht Club. He told the Johnnies over there that he was going to start a great London daily after the fashion of American newspapers, and incidentally he asked a lot to dinner on the Norma.

When they went ashore they were minus a lot of coin, according to reports. Weaver stopped at the Cecil, and nothing was too good for him.

At yacht races in English waters he had the temerity of fly his commodore's pennant, but the Atlantic Yacht Club disowned him. In 1899 the Norma was in the Red Sea and got in trouble with the elements. She was picked up by a British man-of-war, which lost her in the night, and she was reported missing. But she came around safely, and not long after that was attached in Honolulu for Weaver's debts. Mrs. Hattie Wallace, a wealthy widow traveling for her health, had loaned Weaver $6,000, which he did not repay. Mrs. Wallace brought about legal proceedings in Auckland and obtained possession of the Norma.

Weaver dropped out of sight then until he turned up in New York last May with options on mining properties in Arizona and Alaska. Few people here knew him. A few days before he died a well-known physician called at his hotel to give him a check for $100,000 for investment in the Guaranteed Securities Company.

BLOW AT AMERICAN TRADE

President Castro Grants Monopoly of Flour and Glass in Venezuela.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—American flour and glass will be driven from the markets of Venezuela by the action of President Castro in granting concessions which practically give a monopoly to two persons engaged in the manufacture of glass and flour.

While these contracts will not prevent the importation of glass and flour or grain, they will in a short time affect seriously the importation of these articles, as the holders on the concessions are given great advantage over their competitors. One contract gave Jose Hilario Mora the exclusive right to establish flour mills in Venezuela. The contract runs for 20 years, and cannot be transferred to a foreigner.

The other concession was granted to Senor Carlos Zuloiga, who is given the exclusive right to manufacture glass and crystal articles for a period of 15 years.

WEST TO BEGIN INSURANCE INQUIRY

Association to Investigate Big Companies With New York Offices.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The commissioners of insurance of Western States are to make an independent investigation of the big insurance companies whose main offices are in New York.

The investigation is in the interest of the hundreds of thousands of policy holders throughout the country. The full plan of the inquiry will be determined upon at a meeting to be held in New York on Aug. 10.

This was the decision reached yesterday afternoon at an informal meeting of the insurance commissioners of Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan at the Great Northern Hotel. The investigation is to be broad in scope. Not only are the affairs of the Equitable Assurance Society to be scrutinized officially, but the conduct, methods and financial conditions of the New York Life and the Mutual Life are to be looked into in detail.

It is the purpose of the inquiry to know just how the affairs of these companies are managed, so that the policy holder will be intelligently informed of what is going on in the companies by which he is insured, and that prospective policy buyers may understand what they are going into when they invest their money.

ORGANIZE NEW RAILROADS

Mississippi Valley and Gulf Company Formed at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Organization of the Mississippi Valley & Gulf Railroad was begun here yesterday.

W. I. Allen was elected president; Theo. Rockefeller, vice-president, and H. L. Gochnour secretary-treasurer. According to Allen, the company is incorporated in Iowa and all the Western Mississippi Valley states to the Gulf, with a capitalization of $50,000,000. It is planned, he said, to start the road from some point in Iowa on the Mississippi and build to one of the Gulf ports.

ROOSEVELT FOLLOWS IMPERIALISTS IN DESIRE FOR OFFICIAL GAZETTE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Imperialistic ideas pure and simple have taken possession of President Roosevelt and another long step toward the imitation of foreign kings and princes is now being strongly advocated by the chief magistrate.

President Roosevelt is anxious to publish an official gazette in which his excellency will make official announcements.

When the Keep Commission was appointed the President, in his instructions, suggested that the Government should issue an official gazette. The matter was not considered serious, but the commission which has prepared a long list of questions which the chiefs of bureaus have been requested to answer, propounds the following:

"If the Government published an official gazette containing executive orders, statements of changes of organization of personnel, advertisements of all Government contracts, notice of civil service examinations, legal notices not required to be published locally and reports of important work begun, in progress or completed by any department, are there any other matters connected with the work of your department which should be published in such gazette?

"Such a publication would be a large and dull affair, and it could not be published without specific authority from Congress. It would place in the hands of the chief executive an immense power."

Home for Newspaper Men.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 3.—King Leopold of Belgium and the King of Siam have expressed willingness to help build a home for sick and disabled newspaper men. The International League of Press Clubs fathered the idea. S. J. Morrow has found Louisville keenly interested in the movement.

CABANNE MEN IN BURGLAR CHASE

Residents Assist Policemen in Arresting Negroes Seen Leaving J. H. Leek's.

Business was suspended for a brief period in Cabanne Wednesday afternoon while policemen and merchants pursued and arrested two negroes who were seen leaving the residence of John H. Leek of 1430 Hamilton avenue.

Excitement was intense in the neighborhood at the time and the police, unable to cope with the situation, were heavily reinforced by private citizens who assisted in the capture.

Robert Brown of 542 Montrose avenue and Ike Soddredge, both aged 38, of 522 South Ewing avenue, were the negroes placed under arrest. Alonzo Robinson, a negro employed as a houseman in a West End residence, was also taken into custody, charged with interfering with the officers. The two negroes were seen loitering around Ridge and Hamilton avenues all morning. When Policeman Punshon attempted to place Soddredge under arrest Brown ran into the street and threw rocks at the policeman. As Punshon drew his revolver Soddredge grappled with the policeman and the revolver was discharged.

Citizens then came to the rescue and after a chase and a struggle the men were arrested. Two toy banks, containing $5, and several pair of trousers were taken from the negroes at the police station.

BRITISH SQUADRON COMING

Prince Louis will reach this country in September. He will go first to Quebec and then to New York with his fleet. He will also visit the naval academy at Annapolis and come to Washington later.

Nurses Suspected of Kissing Young Doctors Get up "Round Robin."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 3.—Fifty female nurses at the City Hospital have rebelled against the strict rule of Miss Alice Peddle, night superintendent.

The nurses have arranged a "round robin" protesting against what they call Miss Peddle's "arbitrary measures," which will be presented to the Board of Medical Advisers.

"Gum Shoe surveillance" is the term used by the nurses to express the extreme watchfulness of the night superintendent and they declare her notions of propriety are "something fierce."

The signers of the round robin are the youngest and prettiest members of the City Hospital training school. Tales of kissing bees between dainty nurses and young doctors or internes in the hospital corridors after dark led Miss Peddle to adopt unusual measures, it is said.

DISCUSS ARKANSAS CASE.

Insurance Men Take Up New Law of That State.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The Laws and Legislation Committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters met here yesterday to consider the Arkansas situation.

A motion was made to discontinue a test case brought in the name of a company which transacted business in Arkansas one day after the anti-trust law went into effect in order to make a foundation for the suit. Action on the proposal to drop the case was postponed, however, until later in the month.

There was some informal discussion of the idea of canceling out of Arkansas, but the sense of the meeting seemed that the matter was not in the scope of the committee's authority.

In Honor Bound.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

"I ain't dirty by choice, ma'am," the hobo explained. "I'm bound by honor. I wrote a testimonial fur a soapmaker once an' promised ter 'use no other.'"

"Well, why don't you use that?" demanded Mrs. Goodley.

"Because, ma'am, dat firm failed in 1887."

FOLKS AWAY; THIEVES PLAY.

Owner Knows Nothing of Visit Until He Reads Papers.

Thomas H. Wagner, Vice-President of the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co., who has been living at the Monticello Hotel while his family is away for the summer, has made an examination of his residence, 4269 Washington boulevard, after the visit of burglars to his home Monday afternoon, and has found that the loss is not over $100.

Mr. Wagner's first knowledge of the burglary was obtained from newspaper reports. None of the silverware in the house was taken, and Mr. Wagner removed it to a safety deposit vault. The burglars stole a gold watch, a charm and $10 in money.

Mean of Him.

From the Detroit Tribune.

"Where have you been?" asked Mr. McGuff, as his wife came in the drawing room all excited.

"Why, I have been down to the genealogist's," she replied, proudly, "and he has traced my ancestors back a thousand years. Here is the list. You will notice after some of them there stands the letter 'P.'"

"H'm! What does that stand for?"

"Why, either poets or painters."

"You don't say? I thought, perhaps, it stood for pirates or peddlers."

Lightning Destroys a Roll of Money in Italian's Hand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Louis Debastio, an Italian, was sitting under his piaza, counting out his money preparatory to a trip to Italy.

A terrific flash of lightning nearly blinded him, and, when he recovered his sight, his pocketbook and money were missing. The lightning had struck the pocketbook and burned up the money and yet Debastio's hands were not even scorched. There was about $200 in the pocketbook, representing many years' hard work.

MARION EMMONS MEETS MOTHER

Girl Who Had Unpleasant Experience in Arkansas Returns to St. Louis.

Marian Emmons, the young woman who claimed to have been mistreated on the plantation of an old man near Barfield, Ark., whom she went to work for, arrived in St. Louis Wednesday night and was met at Union Station by her mother, Mrs. Clara S. Hamblin of Anna, O.

The girl said that the old man used objectionable language to her, but did not mistreat her in any other way during the week she was there. She stated that she left the plantation cabin with a deputy sheriff, who went to the plantation in response to a telegraphic request from Chief of Detectives Desmond to the county authorities to investigate conditions there.

She says she walked three miles to a postoffice to mail the letter to her mother which brought Mrs. Hamblin to St. Louis on her way to Arkansas.

Chief Desmond sent Detective Tom Kiely Thursday to the residence of Mrs. L. F. Curts, at 3647 Folsom avenue, where Mrs. Hamblin has been stopping. Mrs. Curts said she had received a message from Miss Emmons which stated that her mother was under the care of a physician, because of the strain and anxiety she had been under.

Miss Emmons had not seen her mother in several months, having been employed here before she went to Arkansas.

BLIND BOYS WANT A HOME

Iowa Having Turned Theirs Over to Dunkards, They May Build One.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MANCHESTER, Io., July 29.—Will J. Ludley, a blind boy living in this city, is interesting his friends in a project to build a workshop for the blind at Des Moines. Several years ago the State Legislature appropriated funds for the erection of a home for the blind at Knoxville, but the place was closed on account of poor management.

The building is now being used as a home for inebriates, and one of the most appealing arguments used by the blind people, who are trying to get their home re-established, is a painting showing a picture of the Knoxville home with several blind persons groping their weary way down a path while policemen are leading drunkards up to the portals by another path. Over the door of the home is the legend, "Blind rejected, drunks accepted."

The idea is to raise enough money by popular subscription with the hope that the State will maintain the place once it has been established. Mr. Ludley says the blind boys of the State have plenty of tools, etc., which they will donate to the home until such a time as new ones can be purchased.

TRAP THIEVING SNAKES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Aug. 3.—Edward Yost, who resides on Sugar Run, near this city, has been missing a great number of young ducks this season, and he attributed their loss to rats.

To protect the ducks he housed them at night in a back kitchen, but each morning, in spite of his vigilance, a number would be missing.

He then procured a steel trap, which he set. About midnight he was awakened by a great fuss among the ducks. Procuring a light, he starred an investigation, and was surprised to find a large copperhead snake caught in the trap. The snake was soon killed.

Killed by Train.

William Anderson of New York, beating his way westward to work in the harvesting fields, was killed by a Wabash freight train from which he fell at the trestle over the tracks of the Terminal company, five miles north of the city. Jesse Gaither, a companion, is held at the Mounted Police Station to await the coroner's inquest.

Swift West Virginia Justice.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 3.—E. S. Amos, Justice of the Peace and a member of the City Council, broke the record for a quick administration of the law here last evening, when he fined Nick Costello $25 for killing a rabbit out of season.

The Justice was seated at the Council table when called, and after a lapse of three minutes he was back again, having issued a warrant for Costello, tried him, adjudged him guilty, assessed the fine and collected it.

Constable Dies in Asylum.

Pierce Murphy, former constable and well-known politician, died Thursday in the Insane Asylum of softening of the brain, from which he had been a sufferer for the past year. His former home was at 2631 Walnut street. During his term as constable, Murphy gained considerable notoriety in numerous attachments of theatrical companies. The funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Arrested for Stealing Paint.

Was it a desire to enliven the town that led to the arrest of Roy Wynne, aged 8, and Ralph Denny, aged 10, of 331 Manchester avenue, on a charge of stealing $50 worth of paint from a store at Nineteenth and Chestnut streets, or was it a wish to put some color into their gray little lives. These questions may be solved by Judge Bishop in the Juvenile Court, for which the children are held.

The POST-DISPATCH is the only St. Louis newspaper with Associated Press Day Dispatches.

TO HAVE BEER AT PICNIC.

German Society to Try Again and to Resent Interference.

A mass meeting of all German residents of St. Louis, members of singing societies and turning societies, has been called by the Humboldt Turnverein, whose picnic at Grout's farm on the Natural Bridge road last Sunday was interrupted by the police refusing to permit the drinking of beer, which the members said had been stored in a saloon adjoining the park. The big meeting is called for the purpose of discussing the action of the police on that occasion and to consider means of obtaining more liberal interpretation of the Sunday closing law.

It will be held Tuesday evening at the Humboldt Hall, Easton and Vandeventer avenues.

Another result of Wednesday night's session was the determination on the part of the society to have their family picnic and to make beer a part of it. The picnic will be given in a private park, the members say, and the beer will be bought beforehand. They declare that the police will then have no authority to interfere.

POST-DISPATCH STORY SAVED BABY'S LIFE

Mrs. Arnold Krutel of 6429 Wade avenue believes that pure milk supplied by the Pure Milk Commission saved the life of her baby girl Clara. Baby Clara is 9 months old now, one of the merriest spirits in Clifton Heights.

Three months ago she was only a skeleton. Mrs. Krutel attempted to nourish her at the breast, but could not. The baby pined away.

Different dairy milks were tried, but none benefited the baby.

Then Mrs. Krutel read of pasteurized milk to distribute which the Post-Dispatch is raising the Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund. She secured several bottles. Baby Clara drank it eagerly and slept that night.

"The pure milk saved my baby's life," Mrs. Krutel told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday.

"She would have died without it. I watched her suffer for weeks before I read of the pure milk. We would have spent every cent we had to get something that she could use. Every milk we tried disagreed with her.

"I was in despair. Mr. Krutel comforted me all he could, but there is little comfort to a mother who watches her baby fade day by day.

"Clara is our only baby. It nearly broke my heart to watch her going. All I could do, it seemed, was to watch beside the crib and fan my darling.

"I tried everything I could think of. But nothing benefited her. She would not drink the dairy milk and the condensed milk would not lie on her stomach.

"I believe it was an inspiration that led me to try the pure milk. Somehow I believe that God directed me to it. The first day I used it baby became better. Day after day she improved. She has gained 10 pounds since she has used the pure milk. She sleeps all night and is now absolutely healthy. I know, as I know that I am living, that the milk saved baby's life."

Delay Results in Injury.

By waiting too long to repair the roof of his home, Charles Moser of 210 East Stein street had to be treated for a scalp wound at the City Dispensary. The roof was leaky and the timbers had rotted. When Moser reached the peak, the timbers broke and he went through, to be hurled under shingles and beams. Hermann Hagg of 7600 South Broadway rescued him and called an ambulance.

12-Year-Old Boy Missing.

Frank Vincent, aged 12, is reported missing since Tuesday from his home, 1711 South Third street.

WINONA SUBJECT OF A TELEGRAM FROM SHAW.

WASHINGTON Aug. 3.—Secretary Shaw received a tedegram from Gov. Blanchard of Louisiana, and today sent this reply:

"As authorized by law, revenue cutter Winona has been detailed to assist Public Health and Marine Hospital Service in maintenance of quarantine established by the State of Mississippi. The State of Mississipi having established quarantine, please advise if, in your opinion, the act of Congress, approved Feb. 15, 1893, has been violated, and, if so, wherein."

The act of Congress referred to in the Secretary's telegram directs the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, under the supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury, to assist State authorities in maintaining quarantine against infectious diseases and clothes the Secretary with power to enforce quarantine regulations whenever, in his judgment, the public health requires it.

Gov. Blanchard holds that the Winona has aided Gov. Vardaman in invading Louisiana waters and there holding Louisiana boats without authority and without excuse.

Summer Complaints.

The diseases of summer are numerous and can only be avoided by careful attention to diet, and the regular and judicious use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Hot, sultry days and breathless nights are now at hand, and thousands of men, women and children are suffering from the exhausting heat. Doctors everywhere are alarmed at the unusually large number of deaths from diarrhea, dysentery, cholera morbus, chills, typhoid and other fevers, due to impure water, the consumption of unripe fruit and vegetables, and other causes.

In the treatment and cure of these summer complaints it has been shown by medical science that the only sure remedy lies in the regular and judicious use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which drives the poisonous germs from the system, renews and builds up the wasted nerves and tissues, enriches the impoverished blood and gives new strength and vitality to every organ of the body.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is a form of food already digested, as it agrees with the most delicate stomach. It makes the old young and the young strong. Duffy's is an absolutely pure distillation of malt without fusel oil, and is the only whiskey recognized by the Government as medicine.

CAUTION.—When you ask for Duffy's be sure you get the genuine. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. All druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

To Those Afflicted with Piles, Fistula, Fissure or Any Disease of the Rectum

I have offered the most convincing evidence of my ability to cure; the evidence in the form of testimonial letters from former grateful patients, many of whom I cured after they had given up all hope of ever being cured; they had become skeptical because they had tried so many times and ways to be cured and had failed; finally through the recommendation of some of my former patients, through my advertisements, or some one who had heard of my successful treatment of piles and other rectal diseases, they came to me, placed their case under my care, were cured and became one of my hearty friends, and an enthusiastic supporter of my methods and treatment for curing rectal troubles.

Ladies should remember that I never use the names of my lady patients in public print, although I am quite often requested to do so by those who feel so grateful after they are cured that they want in this way to influence others who are afflicted to come and be cured. I have under treatment all the time just about as many ladies as men. I have a private waiting room for ladies with a lady attendant present all the time, so you need not feel backward about coming to my office to consult me about your case.

I publish in this ad several testimonial letters from parties who live out of the city—because in all the many ads I have published I have used letters only from former city patients. I have under treatment all the time many patients from all parts of the country. Therefore any one who is afflicted and lives any distance from St. Louis can afford to come to my office and take my treatment because it means a permanent cure in a very short time and at a very reasonable expense.

I cure without the knife, and my treatment is the most painless of any ever offered by any physician in the United States.

Send for my free 100-page book. Information, consultation and examination free at office or by mail.

PILES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE
FISTULA—FISSURE
PAY WHEN CURED

Mr. Leon Selig, Well Known in Commercial Circles in Europe and America — Buyer for "The Famous"—Writes the Following Letter:

St. Louis, Mo., March 17, 1905.

Dr. M. Ney Smith, 814 Pine Street, City.

Dear Doctor—It affords me pleasure to write you a testimonial letter, which I conscientiously do, hoping it will reach some sufferer whom it may benefit by influencing them to go to you.

I had been afflicted with rectal trouble from boyhood; had a great many operations performed; been treated by prominent specialists in New York, Philadelphia, Indianapolis and St. Louis; spent thousands of dollars and obtained but temporary relief.

I finally saw your advertisement in the paper and concluded to see you.

I was permanently cured by your treatment, and am satisfied that any one suffering as I did with a fissure and Pruritus of many years' standing, ought to consult you at once. I cheerfully recommend any one to your care, knowing that you will do the right thing by them. Your standing in this community as a physician and gentleman prompts me to write the above, which I trust may be of benefit to you and the afflicted. Very respectfully,

Leon Selig

513 Pine street. Jeweler.

N. B.—It is now about four years since you cured me. I am perfectly cured. My object now is to try and get others who suffer to see you.

CHILD CURED OF POLYPUS.

St. Louis, Mo., April 24, 1901.

Dr. M. Ney Smith, City.

Dear Sir—Several years ago I consulted you in reference to my little child, then about 3 years of age. We thought he was troubled with piles. On examination you pronounced it a case of "Rectal Polypus," and you treated and completely cured him.

There was no pain, nor soreness following your treatment. The polypus was the size of a large strawberry. It protruded at every passage from the bowels, and had to be replaced.

I will state that I have known you for years, and know how very successful you are in your Specialty; and I most heartily recommend you to those afflicted. Your grateful friend,

W. M. Krauke

Mr. J. M. Tugel—A Farmer's Testimony—Afflicted Twenty Years—Could Not Attend to Work—Entirely Cured in Four Weeks—No Trouble Since—Advises Sufferers to Call on Dr. Smith.

Herrmann, Mo., June 6, 1903.

Dr. M. Ney Smith.

Dear Sir—I had been a sufferer for twenty years with rectal trouble of a most severe and painful kind. I became so bad as to be unable to attend to my work. The piles protruded at every passage from the bowels, and I was often compelled to lie down for hours after being at stool. I became so bad and had so much pain that I was compelled to have my stool at night and then retire to bed that I might obtain some relief in that way.

I had been treated by others several times before I applied to you. The treatment I received from others did not cure me—in fact, did me no good.

At length I applied to you, and bad as I was, you entirely cured me in about four weeks! Your treatment soon stopped the protrusion, and I have never been troubled that way since, and I have been doing heavy farm-work. Since you cured me there has been no return of the trouble.

Many persons told me that my case was so bad that I could not be cured, but you cured me and I am most grateful for what you have done for me. The cure is permanent. I want to say to those suffering as I have suffered to apply to you, knowing that you will, by your new method of treatment, speedily cure them. You have treated me like a gentleman, and I will never forget your kindness to me.

I speak from experience. I advise sufferers to call on you, feeling assured that you will cure them.

Thanking you for what you have done for me, I am, gratefully yours,

J. M. Tugel

Rural Route No. 2.

Professor of Greek and Registrar Shurtleff College, Cured of Piles—Suffered Twenty-Five Years—Treatment Practically Painless—Lost No Time from Regular Duties—Permanently Cured.

Upper Alton, Ill., March 12, 1905.

To Whom It May Concern:

For the benefit of like sufferers, I am glad to testify that after suffering nearly 25 years with the piles, and trying many remedies in vain, I at last went to Dr. M. Ney Smith, 814 Pine street, city, and took his treatment and was cured.

His treatment is practically painless, and soon over. I did not lose any time from my regular duties. I can recommend Dr. Smith's treatment most heartily. Respectfully,

FAMOUS NEWSPAPER MEN WILL ATTEND

Press of European Capitals Send Best of Their Staffs to Peace Conference.

RUSSIANS MEET JAPANESE

Correspondents Greet Each Other Effusively—Baron Rosen Forgets and Is Cordial.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—It was a good place to be in, the smoking room of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, any night in the last week. One might hear tales true and new and strange of famous men and great events, of Deleasse and Buelow, and of Chamberlain, of imperial scandals and weakness, of "red Sunday" in St. Petersburg and "black Monday" in Warsaw, of war seen from the inside.

The things that were told were the things that never get printed, and the men who told them were the men whose business it is to be present when history is in the making. These men come now to America, because in a few days a quiet little seaside town of New England is to be the center of all the world's diplomacy.

Congregating in New York are representatives of most of the great newspapers of Europe. Each European steamer brings more of them and by the time the peace conference opens there will be an assemblage of correspondents at Portsmouth which could at once resolve itself into the greatest journalistic convention ever held. For the newspaper men who are being sent to America are the leaders of their profession in each capital.

It is hardly expected that there will be a possibility of any journal obtaining such exclusive news as, for instance, the London Times obtained when it printed the text of the treaty of Berlin, but if there is any chance of getting a "beat" the men able to secure it will be there.

Smalley Young at 72.

Most celebrated of all who arrived here yesterday is George W. Smalley of the London Times, still active and alert in spite of his 72 years. He will be one of the three correspondents the London Times will have at Portsmouth, and will be dean of the gathering.

One of the others will be the famous Dr. Morrison of Peking, who is coming half way around the world to be present when the plenipotentiaries of Japan and Russia meet.

He was in Peking during the siege of the legations, and since the present war began has visited almost every corner of the site of conflict to which the Russians and Japanese would allow him to go.

Dr. Emile Joseph Dillon, author of works in half a dozen languages, Orientalist, Russian scholar, philologist, expert on Scandinavian literature and charming conversationalist and finished man of the world, was on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, and will report the peace conference for the London Daily Telegraph. He married a Russian woman, and once edited a Russian paper, but he is equally at home in the far East.

Russians Are Good Fellows.

For the first time in the history of Russian journalism special correspondents are being sent to the United States. There were two of them on the Kaiser, one representing the St. Petersburg Slovo and the other the Novo Vremya, both clever linguists.

Their goodfellowship was delightfully illustrated on the North German Lloyd pier at Hoboken yesterday afternoon. In the crowd which waited the arrival of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse were the two Russian newspaper men and two Japanese correspondents from Tokio.

The Russians walked up to the Japanese, greeted them effusively, shook hands with them, compared notes, and took care that the little Tokio journalists should miss nothing of what was going on.

When the big ship was being made fast the Japanese, who, of course, were anxious to see M. Witte, got to the wrong end of the pier, and one of the Russians searched for them for ten minutes and took them to the right gangway.

Baron Rosen Forgot.

But if Russian journalists can fraternize with the Japanese it can hardly be expected that Russian diplomats will do the same, and, while Baron Rosen was waiting M. Witte's arrival something happened which made him the most surprised man on the pier.

The aforementioned Japanese newspaper men, Messrs. Shiro Fujioka and Jihei Hashiguchi, had known Baron Rosen in Tokio. When they caught sight of him they walked right up to him, smiled, bowed and offered to shake hands.

The ambassador forgot himself for a moment and put out his hand. Then he withdrew it with electrical suddenness, bowed stiffly, turned and walked to the other end of the pier.

Two French correspondents, one of them the well-known Jules Hedeman of the Matin, and two Germans, made up the tale of those who arrived on the Kaiser.

GIRL FROM SCOTLAND, VISITING HERE, WEDS.

MRS. LIZZIE WIEHE.

The announcement of the wedding in St. Louis Wednesday afternoon of George C. Wiehe of 2317 North Market street and Miss Lizzie Cossar of 817 South Eighteenth street comes close upon the announcement of their engagement, which was made only a short time ago, two weeks after they first met. Rev. John F. Baltzar, pastor of Zion German Evangelical Church, was engaged to perform the ceremony.

Miss Cossar came to St. Louis from Scotland eight months ago to visit friends. It was at the home of a friend that the couple met two months ago. The engagement was soon announced, and the young woman wrote to her friends in Scotland of her approaching marriage.

The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's parents. Mr. Wiehe is 22 years old and his bride is 19.

JUDGE SCORES MRS. DUKE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Justice Giegerich yesterday denied Alice Webb Duke $5000 for counsel and $250 a week temporary alimony pending the suit of Brodie L. Duke, tobacco millionaire, for absolute divorce.

"That she is a notoriously immoral woman and has been for years, and has continued her immoralities since her marriage," said Justice Giegerich, "I must recognize as established by the decided preponderance of proof. There is evidence also," continued the court, "that she and a group of women she consorts with have made a practice of extorting money from men with whom they have had illicit relations.

"She is now suing the plaintiff," said the court, "in an action in which she is represented by the same attorneys who defended her other suit for the sum of $250,000 for alleged breach of a contract claimed to have been made at about the time of her marriage to him. Aside from the lack of merit in her case, it appears that she is able to procure legal services without the granting of a counsel fee."

BURGLAR WHO TOOK SHAVE AND BATH CONFESSES

Charles Rector, Now Under Arrest, Says He Is Son of Late Prominent Railroad Man, Whose Friends He Robbed.

FOUND HOUSE VACATED, PERFORMED ABLUTIONS

Broker Whose Home Was Robbed Could Not Remember Having Any Friends of the Name of the Man Arrested.

Charles Pope Rector Jr., aged 24, arrested at the Home Hotel on Sixth street by Detectives Kennedy and Sullivan Wednesday night, admits that he is the burglar who visited the home of John J. Mulholland, broker, 4362 Forest Park boulevard, several days ago, and after taking a bath and a shave, left the house attired in Mulholland's best clothes from hosiery to cravat. He also admitted to Chief of Detectives Desmond that he entered the home of A. S. Dodge, Vice-President of the Frisco Railway System, 5540 Cates avenue, and carried away a suitcase full of clothes.

Rector has puzzled Chief Desmond by his manner and his statements. All the information obtained from him has been by direct questioning, to which the young man has replied in monosyllables. While apparently well educated and intelligent, he has been very slow in making replies to questions.

Has Prominent Relatives.

According to his story he is the son of a well-known railroad man, now dead, and is related to a prominent railroad man of this city. His brother, C. W. Rector, he says, is a business man of East St. Louis, but the directory does not give his name, nor that of Rector himself. He has been living at the Home Hotel, he says, while in hard straits.

Rector says that he went to the home of Mr. Mulholland because the latter was a friend of the family when his parents were alive, with the intention of asking assistance. When he found nobody at home, he says, he broke into the house through a side window and took the clothes. He did not intend to commit any burglary further than the clothes, he said, and did that only because he was in desperate need.

When he found he had plenty of leisure, Rector said, he took a bath and shaved himself before fitting himself with the clothes. His size is about the same as that of Mulholland and the clothes fit him well.

Mr. Mulholland, when he identified the clothes that Rector wore at Four Courts as his own, said he could think of no friend, least of all a railway official, by that name.

At Dodge's home, Rector said, he broke in after he had found that nobody was at home. He had gone there, he said, to seek assistance, on the strength of the friendship between his family and the Dodge family. He said he pawned all the clothing and the suitcase obtained at Dodge's and a revolver and a pair of shoes he had got at Mulholland's, for $2.75.

A warrant was applied for, alleging burglary on the part of Rector.

AGED SISTERS FIGHT

One Asked Other for Money and, Refused, Used a Hammer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 3.—Two aged sisters, Miss Ellen Badkins and Mrs. Addie Jordan were picking huckleberries in the woods near Quinton, New Kent County. Mrs. Jordan asked her sister to write her a check for $50.

The sister refused, saying she had given her money several times and could not give her all she had. Upon this Mrs. Jordan threatened to kill her. To prove it she tapped her sisted on the back of her head twice with a hammer. When Miss Badkins attempted to rise Mrs. Jordan struck her twice again upon the forehead, making deep wounds.

Then they indulged in a rough and tumble fight. Miss Badkins fled to the nearest house and sent for a doctor and then for a magistrate, who had Mrs. Jordan committed to jail.

CHARGES ROBBED DEAD WIFE

Toledo Man Causes Arrest of His Brother-in-Law on Ugly Accusation.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 3.—Four hours after the death of his wife, James Sheehan, a wealthy contractor, had his brother-in-law, Fred Alexander, placed under arrest for receiving five diamond rings alleged to have been taken from his dead wife.

Sheehan says that his wife asked Alexander's wife, who is a sister, to put the rings in her jewel case. Instead Mrs. Alexander gave them to her husband. When Sheehan asked for them they were refused. Sheehan forced Alexander to give a wedding ring back at the point of a revolver.

A few hours later the wife died, it is claimed, by Sheehan, largely because her hysterical worry over the loss of the jewels. Alexander claims the rings were given to his wife as a present.

Charles Rector Jr., Who Confesses to Being a Burglar in the West End

MANY TELL HOW TO KEEP DEWEY HOME, BUT HE ESCAPES

Four-Year-Old Champion Bolter Rescued by Stranger, Who Recognizes Him From Pictures Printed When He Runs Away After Visit of Women.

Dewey Trautman, the world's prize 4-year-old runaway, made his latest independent exploration Wednesday afternoon. He was discovered at 8 o'clock by a stranger who recognized him from Post-Dispatch articles and pictures based on his previous adventures, and was taken back home an hour later. Dewey doesn't know where he was, and the stranger did not say. But Dewey was not hungry, and his mother accepted that fact as evidence that the stranger or some other stranger had given him his supper.

It was Dewey's first runaway for a week. As was told in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, his mother kept him chained in their home, at Broadway and Montgomery street, during the time when it was impossible for some older member of the family to watch him; but she found this impracticable and Sunday abandoned the chain plan, depending on surveillance to prevent Dewey from running away.

Scores Call to See Dewey.

It was all right Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and until afternoon Wednesday. In that time scores of people, most of them women who were well dressed and evidently from more comfortable walks in life, called at the Trautman home to see the runaway boy and talk with his mother. Most of them were prompted by a desire to aid the mother; some were only curious. But all offered suggestions.

One mother, escorting six sons, called Monday. She said she had read the Post-Dispatch article to her boys, and all wanted to see Dewey. Dewey received them graciously. The mother suggested that Mrs. Trautman control Dewey by dressing him in girl's clothes.

"He will be ashamed to run away then," she explained.

"I tried that while we lived in Paducah," said Mrs. Trautman. "Within an hour he was gone, and when we found him he was at another end of town."

Callers Have Suggestions.

Another mother suggester that Dewey's clothes be kept from him. Mrs. Trautman smiled.

"I tried that, too, in Paducah," she said. "He ran away sooner and farther than before."

A phrenologist came and measured Dewey's head. Then he tried to feel the bumps; but the natural bumps were reinforced by so many artificial ones, acquired through falls from ice wagons, street cars and other elevations, that he had to give up that part of the work.

"Dewey will be a very smart man," said the phrenologist, "provided, of course, he survives the disasters he invites and reaches man's estate. But," he continued impressively, "it will be a hard matter to keep him in school."

"I think I can foretell that," said Mrs. Trautman.

Young Women Take Candy.

Two handsome and stylishly attired young women brought with them two five-pound boxes of candy.

"We thought this would keep him at home for awhile, anyhow," they said.

It did. Dewey ate candy until he showed symptoms of colic and the remnants of the two boxes were taken from him.

Other callers suggested that Dewey be sent to some institution where he could be carefully guarded until he was older. Mrs. Trautman said she could not afford to send him to a private institution, and would not send him to a public one.

Dewey heard most of this, and for a time it seemed that his restless spirit was calmed. That may, however, have been because his sister, Maidie, and his mother took turns in watching him.

They never let him get out of their sight. He was allowed to go down stairs and play with other children, but Maidie was always with him.

Watchers Become Confused.

Wednesday, after lunch, however, Maidie thought her mother was watching him, and Mrs. Trautman thought Maidie was on guard. It was Dewey's opportunity and he embraced it. At 2 o'clock he was so far out of the neighborhood that no trace of him could be found. It was only when the stranger took him home at 9 o'clock that he was heard from.

Mrs. Trautman relates to physicians who have become interested in the strange case, a story of pre-natal influence which they believe accounts for Dewey's strange predilection for running away. Nearly five years ago, her husband came to St. Louis, leaving her and Dewey's older brother and sisters at their home in Paducah. The home which had been Mrs. Trautman's pride became, because of her husband's absence, extremely distasteful to her, and she was harassed by an almost uncontrollable desire to travel.

Humane Society Interested.

She wanted to go—preferably to join her husband, but if not that, anywhere. It was a constant struggle for her to control this desire; and the knowledge that it was impracticable for her to leave home only accentuated the desire.

Dewey's propensity for running away, and his antipathy for remaining at home, have been noticeable ever since he began to walk. No amusement, no coaxing, no punishment, so far employed, has had the least effect in overcoming these traits.

Mrs. Trautman has been asked to meet officers of the Humane Society and discuss with them plans for taking charge of Dewey; but she has not decided whether she will do so.

MISS LAWSON TO MARRY

Engagement of Daughter of Frenzied Finance Author Announced on Birthday.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—This is the twenty-second birthday of Miss Gladys Lawson, eldest daughter of Thomas W. Lawson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawson announced her engagement to Eben Blaine Stanwood, a well-known Boston society man. The wedding will take place in October.

Mr. Stanwood is the son of Francis M. Stanwood of Boston and a grandnephew of the late James G. Blaine.

Miss Lawson is an accomplished horsewoman and athlete, and is the owner of the famous Gypsy Queen, winner of more than a score of blue ribbons. She also owns numerous valuable dogs.

CARRINGTON RECOVERING.

Man Who Was Stabbed in Heart Doing Nicely.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Everything continues favorable for the early and complete recovery of Alonzo J. Carrington, the man whose heart was stitched up last Saturday night after a brawl in which he was stabbed.

At the Bryn Mawr Hospital it is stated that he is getting along nicely and that no complications of any kind have developed. It has not been determined by the surgeons whether to take out the catgut stitches. They probably will be left in the heart muscles, where they can hardly do any harm.

MRS. MURPHY SUES FOR $20,000 FOR DAY IN JAIL

Cabanne Woman, Back at Her Home, Says She Would Not Undergo Experience Again for More Than $20,000.

NEW SUBPENA WILL BE MADE OUT, SAYS LAWYER

Former Paper Was Dated Wrong and Judge Bishop Says Mrs. Murphy Was Right in Refusing to Answer.

Mrs. Anna L. Murphy, 5575 Maple avenue, who was committed to jail by Notary Public Funkhouser because she refused to testify in a civil suit against her husband, and released after 20 hours, filed suit today against Notary Public Funkhouser, the American Surety Co. of New York, his bondsman, and John S. Poindexter, asking $20,000 damages for false imprisonment. Poindexter is agent for the insurance company, plaintiff in the suit against her husband, in which her testimony was desired on the question whether her husband had transferred certain property to her.

Happy at Home.

"Well, I am truly happy to see these things today instead of that horrible Jail room," said Mrs. Murphy to a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning. She indicated what she meant by "these things" by a glance about her beautifully furnished home.

"I am almost sick now. I could hardly sleep last night because of nervousness. I could not get the picture of that awful place out of my mind.

"I wouldn't go through that again for more than $20,000.

"But I am not going to testify against my husband. I will not give testimony in that case unless he tells me to or the attorneys advise it. I don't have to do it. The Judge said I do not, and I will not.

"The only reason I refused to answer the summons sent me was because I knew the date to be wrong. I knew that all the time, and I knew that the

"O, the suffering that I endured while I was imprisoned! I could not sleep or eat. My husband sent me a dainty meal that he had had prepared at a restaurant. Do you know what they did with that?

Food on Wooden Dishes.

"They scraped everything into their wooden dishes and put it on the long table, where those other women were eating, and told me to eat it there. They took away the knives and forks and gave me a spoon to eat with. I could not eat and I told them to give it to the others.

"The other women scrambled for it and fought over it.

"Many of those women were morphine users. I saw one of them take almost a teaspoonful of morphine. Several of them offered me cigarettes."

The hearing of the application for a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Bishop terminated very abruptly late Wednesday afternoon, when the mistake in the date of the subpena was pointed out.

When Court convened a wait of 25 minutes was necessary before Mrs. Murphy arrived. She had taken time to arrange her toilet and her appearance was attractive when she entered the room. She wore the white silk shirtwaist, black skirt and large black hat in which she was attired when she was arrested Tuesday evening. She was haggard, but all traces of tears had been removed.

She entered the courtroom walking slowly, looking neither to the right or left, and appearing not to notice her friends and relatives. She did not speak to any of her family until the court proceedings ended.

Notary Funkhouser was asked to identify the subpena alleged to have been served on Mrs. Murphy July 18. He identified it positively. It was then passed to his attorneys. Altogether five attorneys looked it over carefully.

Attorney Haskins for Mrs. Murphy then asked and was given permission to read it aloud. He read:

"You are hereby commanded to appear April 20."

"It is useless to proceed," said Judge Bishop. Indicating the subpena, he said: "This is not worth the paper it's written on."

Then to Funkhouser he added: "Next time you serve a subpena you'll have to do better."

And to Mrs. Murphy he said: "The petitioner is discharged."

Legality Not Decided.

She apparently did not know that she was the petitioner and had to be told by a friend that she was free. Then her face was lighted by a smile and she thanked the friends who crowded about her for their interest. The courtroom for a moment had the appearance of a reception room.

While Judge Bishop did not decide the question of a notary's right to commit a witness to jail for refusing to testify, he interested the attorneys present by his discussion of the case.

"If a deputy sheriff should drag me out of my home and through the streets," he said from the bench, "I believe I should refuse to testify myself."

One of the attorneys made the suggestion that Mrs. Murphy was out of the custody of the deputy sheriff when the deposition was asked for.

"If I had been her attorney," said the court, "I would have advised her not to testify. There is a grave question as to whether a commissioner or anybody else can compel a wife to testify against her husband, either in civil or criminal proceedings. I am not quite prepared to make a ruling on that question and it is not necessary now."

George S. Johnson of the attorneys for the plaintiffs in the suit against Mr. Murphy, said Thursday that Mrs. Murphy would be supenaed again to testify. He said the error in the first subpena was only technical and would have no bearing on an additional subpena. This will be issued by Notary Funkhouser within a few days, and when it is served the depositions in the case will be continued.

Mrs. Murphy declined to say whether or not she would answer another subpena if one was issued. She said her attorney, Taylor R. Young, would be her adviser on that matter. At Mr. Young's office it was said he would not be in his office Thursday.

Notary Public Funkhouser says that he does not know how the error in the subpena was made. It was filled out by a clerk on a typewriter, he says, but he cannot understand how the wrong month was inserted.

OIL MEN ESCAPE LAW.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 3.—Attorney-General Stead has interpreted the Federal statute on extradition to mean that a person under indictment in this State cannot be brought here upon a requisition unless he was in the State at the time the alleged crime was committed.

This saves Guy B. Taylor and Crittenden T. Collings, Standard Oil officials of Cincinnati, O., from being returned here to answer to an indictment in Tazewell County, charging subornation of perjury.

It is alleged that Taylor and Collings induced Charles Kircher, another Standard Oil employe, to swear falsely in a justice's court at Pekin as to the ownership of a horse and wagon used to drive another dealer out of business by lowering the price of oil.

DIES IN HOSPITAL AFTER A BEATING

Frank Beck Succumbs to Injuries Received in Mysterious Manner in Street.

SENT HOME BY DOCTOR

Returned to North End Dispensary and Operation Performed in Vain.

Frank Beck, aged 48, 1844 North Eighteenth street, died at City Hospital Thursday as the result of injuries inflicted early Wednesday morning when he was attacked by two men in an alley near Fifteenth and North Market streets.

His assailants and the purpose of their attack are unknown to the police.

John Berder, bartender for Henry Beck, brother of the dead man, whose saloon and residence are at 1844 North Eighteenth street, found Frank Beck lying at the rear of the yard at 6 a. m. Wednesday.

Beck said he had been assaulted in the alley by two men, whom he did not know. He had been hit by a club, he said, and had then been kicked as he lay on the ground.

He complained of pain in his stomach and was given a drink of whisky. The bartender called Policeman Simon, who had Beck taken to North End Dispensary.

At the dispensary a wound over his right eye was dressed. He complained, Dr. Specht of the dispensary says, of pain in his abdomen, but did not seem to be suffering much because of it. He was advised to use cold applications for the pain in his abdomen and was then taken home.

At 9:45 a. m., Dr. Specht says, he was brought back to the dispensary and this time was sent to City Hospital. At that institution it was found that the internal injuries were serious. Laparotomy was performed as a last resort, but Beck died Thursday morning.

Al Christner, barkeeper for Joseph Prede, 2400 North Fifteenth street, says that Beck visited the saloon three times between 1:30 and 3:45 a. m. Wednesday, but that he was not drunk when he left.

FAIRBANKS SPEAKS AT SOO CEREMONY

Vice-President Delivers Principal Address at Canal Semi-Centennial.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 3.—The semi-centennial of the great Soo Canal closed here today.

The shrill tones of a bugle call opened the second day of the celebration. The park was handsomely decorated and the addresses were made from a speaker's stand erected at an advantageous point. The grounds were crowded with thousands of people.

Archdeacon Lord of Sault Ste. Marie opened the exercises with an invocation. Hon. Charles S. Osborne of this city followed with an address of welcome.

Hon. Peter White of Marquette, President of the commission which had in charge the celebration, spoke on "The Development of the Lake Superior Region."

The principal speech was delivered by Vice-President Fairbanks. He said: "We owe allegiance to different institutions. Above us are different flags, emblems of the mightiest powers upon this earth. We have no sense of rivalry except in those ways which make for a higher and better civilization.

"There are no fortifications along our common frontier; no battleships upon the waters which divide us. These are not needed now, and we trust that in God's providence they shall never be required.

"Competition in trade is a vitalizing factor. It is not born of unfriendliness. One of our wisest Americans, William McKinley, whose good name is the precious heritage of the human race, said at Buffalo: 'Though commercial competitors we are, commercial enemies we must not be.'"

Other addresses were made by Congressman T. D. Burton of Ohio, chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House of Representatives; Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Solicitor-General of the Dominion of Canada; Gov. Fred M. Warner of Michigan on "The State of Michigan and the Building of the St. Mary's Canal;" United States Senator J. C. Burrows on "The Future of American Commerce," and Hon. William Livingstone, president of the Lake Carriers' Association, on "The Navigation of the Great Lakes."

FILIPINO MAID DIVORCE WITNESS

Both Sides Relying on Manila Girl in Taggart Divorce Suit.

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 3.—On a Filipino maid will depnd much of the testimony which will decide the divorce case of Maj. Elmer E. Taggart against his wife, who is a Chicago woman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Culver of that city.

What this girl is alleged to know furnishes aid and comfort to both sides in their sensational marital suit, which begins tomorrow in this placid town.

Augustina de La Cruz will not appear on the stand, but her written word may have an important bearing on a case which menaces the social underpinnings of army life. Maj. Taggart claims the girl as a witness. So does Mrs. Taggart.

He wants a divorce on statutory grounds, and names Lieut. Rither, William Taggart, Clinton Spencer and Col. Charles W. Miner, at present stationed at Columbus Barracks.

Maj. Taggart charges that in 1896 at Fort Thomas, Ky., his wife engaged in a drinking contest in an army post canteen with one Mrs. Poore, and other women, to determine who could drink the greatest amount of intoxicants.

He names numerous other incidents.

W. J. BRYAN JR. INJURED.

Tries to Trim Corn and Causes an Inflammation.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—William J. Bryan, Jr., who is a student at the Culver Military Academy near Winona Lake, Ind., was brought to the Presbyterian Hospital here suffering from inflammation of the leg, due to his efforts to remove a corn from one of his toes.

It was feared that blood poisoning had set in, but after an examination the surgeons at the hospital said the inflammation was not due to blood poisoning. The inflammation reached the knee and formed an abscess, which has been removed.

RUSSIAN SHIPS MAKE FORAY OUT OF VLADIVOSTOK

Destroyers Attack Merchant Steamer Off Korean Coast, Which Escapes, Losing Captain and Another Killed and Two Wounded.

JAPAN INTENDS TO KEEP SAKHALIN ISLAND

Officers Appointed to Organize and Institute Civil Government—Russians Reinforcing on the Tumen.

TOKIO, Aug. 3, 7 p. m.—It is officially reported that two Russian torpedo boat destroyers appeared off Chung Ching on the northern coast of Korea, at 4:40 o'clock this morning and attacked the Keisho, a small merchant steamer.

The destroyers fired 60 shots, seven of which hit the port side of the engine room and bridge, killing the Captain and one boy and wounding two of the crew.

The destroyers then ceased to fire and steamed toward Vladivostok at 5 o'clock. The Keisho was able to continue on her voyage and escaped.

Officers for the various departments have been appointed and will leave Aug. 6for Alexandrovsk, Sakhalin Island, to organize and establish civil government for that territory, recently taken from Russia.

This, it is intimated here, may be taken to mean that Japan intends to hold the island as one of the fruits of her victory over the Czar.

A complete civil government has been arranged for and will be administered as though Russia had no rights in the island at all.

Alexandrovsk will be the Japanese capital of the new province.

A report from Manchuria says that Gen. Linevitch's first army is disposed near the Fenghwa-Pamlenchien line, and that the third army occupies positions in the vicinity of Taoma. Bodies of cavalry protect the extremities of either wing.

The Russians are gradually strengthening the forces south of the Tumen River in Northern Corea. The total number of men is estimated at 22,000. The force north of the Tumen, along the line of communication, is said to be small.

The former Togo Kisen Kaisha's liner Nippon was so badly damaged by the shells of the Russian warships during the battle of the Sea of Japan that it was found necessary to run the vessel ashore to save her from being a total loss. She was one of Admiral Togo's scouting vessels.

SHAVES AND ESCAPES MOB

Sheriff Walks Prisoner, Minus Beard, Through Crowd and Prevents Lynching.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 3.—Brooks King was brought here from Monroeville, Ala., for safe keeping.

He owes his life to a close shave. King was convicted of murder and sentenced to 35 years at hard labor. A mob, on hearing the verdict, marched on the jail. Sheriff Saulsberry meanwhile had made King shave himself clean, and handcuffed to a misdemeanor prisoner, marched his man through the crowd to the station. No one in the mob suspected the ruse.

ROBS DENTISTS' PATIENTS.

Teeth Specialists in Convention Find Alleged Thief.

E. E. Williams, claiming St. Louis as his home, was arrested on the steamer Corwin H. Spencer at the Alton dock Wednesday afternoon, charged with being a pickpocket. The members of the Madison District Dental Association were in session in Alton, and while taking a recess they compared notes on a man who on Wednesday morning had visited several of the offices of the Alton dentists.

Two different dentists stated that after the visit of this same well-dressed man purses of patients in waiting had been missed. An hour later the dentists went to the levee and boarded the Spencer. There they located the man who had called upon them and had him arrested. He was brought back to Alton, and is thought to be the same pickpocket who has been operating at Chautauqua the past week. When searched at the police station he had four pocketbooks in his possession.

GOING TO SEE ROOSEVELT.

Aged Chicago Woman Tells Queer Story to the Police.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 3.—Weak and feeble and almost exhausted from lack of food, Mrs. Katherine Wickets, aged 75 years, tottered into the police station late last night and begged for shelter.

The woman said that her home is in Chicago and that she had left there just two weeks ago, bound for Oyster Bay for the purpose of seeing President Roosevelt. When she left Chicago she said she had just $5 in money.

The entire distance of almost 500 miles between this city and Chicago she had covered by foot and by riding over the almost continuous lines of electric cars which are extended.

The woman's mind appeared to be somewhat affected, the authorities believe due to the great hardships she has undergone during the past few days.

BIGGEST WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

The only St. Louis Newspaper with the Associated Press day dispatches.

Having the State Fair, Sedalia now reaches for a World's Fair.

A city jury has just given a verdict in favor of a dog that had bitten seven or eight children within a year. The rural juries couldn't have done more.

Alas! we have been compelled to shoot down some of the Filipinos who saw us in all our glory at the World's Fair. Young Alfonso will titter when he reads this.

When Roosevelt was enforcing the Sunday law in New York he was doubtless attacked, as Folk has been, but we do not remember that he was called a Spielverderber.

ST. LOUIS NOT IN DANGER.

Wisdom and humanity combine in the suggestion of Dr. Heine Marks that St. Louis, under proper conditions, welcome the refugees from the South who are fleeing from yellow fever and who are debarred from the states south of Missouri.

Of course, the health of St. Louisans is the paramount consideration and must be protected, but, as Dr. Marks says, that can be done by intelligent precautionary measures, without debarring those who are not actually infected with fever germs.

Dr. Marks is in error in his statement that only one St. Louisan died of yellow fever in 1878. The record of the Health Department shows that during the yellow fever epidemic of 1878 71 persons died of the disease in the city and suburbs of St. Louis and at Quarantine Hospital. Thirty-one cases were of domestic origin.

The opinion of Dr. Marks that yellow fever cannot become epidemic in St. Louis is supported by experience and by the conclusions of Drs. W. H. Ford and F. J. Lutz in a report made to the St. Louis Medical Society in 1879, after a thorough investigation of the subject. Drs. Ford and Lutz found that in the great majority of cases the population of St. Louis does not acquire a capacity for yellow fever until the latter part of September; the disease can be acquired in St. Louis only by contagion through contact with infected persons or with articles in which there are yellow fever germs; bad sanitary conditions greatly increase the chances of contagion and promote the spread of diseases kindred to yellow fever and nearly as fatal.

Yellow fever not being indigenous to St. Louis, the only thing to be avoided is contagion by personal contact with diseased persons or infected articles. This contagion can be prevented by rigid quarantine and the use of disinfectants. With our improved sanitation, better knowledge of the methods of disinfection and prevention, St. Louis can be protected from yellow fever without extreme measures which would shut out healthy persons from the South.

In 1878 many of the refugees from the South who fled to St. Louis to avoid disease became permanent residents. Many of them have won notable successes in the commercial and professional activities of St. Louis and have contributed largely to the city's growth and prosperity.

There is no reason why refugees who comply with the necessary conditions of precaution should not come to St. Louis. There is no reason why New Orleans merchants should not, while New Orleans is shut up, transact their business in St. Louis. St. Louis has accommodations and facilities for all of them.

The fireless cookstove is announced, but just what we need while "agents of Providence" are running things is a fireless heating stove.

THE "SOO" AND THE MISSISSIPPI.

The history of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, or "Soo," the semi-centennial of whose construction is now being celebrated, should be helpfully suggestive to the people of St. Louis.

This canal, which is only two and a half miles long, has through the aid of the Federal Government, become one of the nine great commercial waterways of the world. Last year 16,120 vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 31,546,166, passed through its locks. Fewer ships and no greater tonnage entered New York harbor for the same period.

In contrast with this record, the river traffic of St. Louis has been steadily decreasing for the past four or five years. The annual statement issued by the Merchants' Exchange shows that the total tonnage of merchandise handled at St. Louis wharves in 1902 was 641,182 tons; in 1903 it was 552,617 tons, and in 1904 it had fallen to 377,935 tons, a decrease of nearly one-half in three years. At this rate the commerce of St. Louis by water is threatened with extinction.

The permanent improvement of the Mississippi is of far greater importance than that of the Soo Canal or any other waterway. That it is being almost wholly neglected by the Federal Government is due to the apathy of the people. Michigan has obtained over $6,000,000 for the Soo waterway of two and a half miles, because the people of that State have compelled Congress, by their insistent demands, to make the appropriations. The people of the Mississippi Valley should demand a navigable waterway from the Lakes to the Gulf, even if it costs $50,000,000 or $100,000,000. The gain to commerce would speedily repay the largest expenditure.

Senator Cullom says we must pare expenditures a good many millions. This means that internal improvement is likely to be hit hard.

PREPARING FOR THE MILLION

That St. Louis is getting ready for the coming million population is shown by the official report of the Building Commissioner for the month of July.

This report shows that permits were issued during that month for 572 new buildings, to cost $2,219,026. Permits for additions, alteration and repairs brought the total number of permits up to 764. The additions, alterations and repairs will cost $155,269, making a grand total of $2,374,395 to be expended on the permits issued in a single month.

These permits will mean an expenditure of $1,379,524 more than the expenditure called for by the permits issued in July, 1904, which was World's Fair year.

Such a showing, calling for the erection of buildings that would make a fair-sized town, is striking evidence of the fact that St. Louis lost nothing, but gained tremendously, in prestige and in industrial and financial strength, by the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The month's building record is not only remarkable as compared with that of last year, but is the biggest in the history of the city. And all this progress is going on quietly, as a matter of course. It is a part of St. Louis' natural and permanent growth.

"The United States of Colombia" may well be amazed at our delay in recognizing the secession of Norway.

FOOD IMPROVEMENT.

The State Board of Osteopathy, which met at Mexico, Mo., Aug. 1, condemned the manufacture and sale of adulterated foods and pledged its support in behalf of legislation to prevent adulteration.

One of the safeguards adopted by the States of Michigan and Kentucky against the deception practiced through the sale of adulterated foods as pure, is a provision of the law requiring manufacturers to print labels on all bottles, jars or packages, showing the ingredients used in the preparation of the jelly, ketchup, baking powder or other material offered for sale. By the enforcement of such a law the buyer can see at a glance what he is buying. He is placed on his guard and it is his own fault if he is injured.

Of course, such a law must have an adequate penalty. With such a penalty, strictly enforced, the honest manufacturer and the public are greatly benefited.

It is not vegetarian or humane to say it, but the statement is emphatically made that an English sparrow 3 months old is as good eating as an ortolan, sora, bobolink, soree, reed bird or rice bird if properly prepared.

WHEN GIRLS PRESUME.

There are many signs that the girls and young women of this generation, having assimilated the new ideas regarding woman's rights to as broad a liberty as that enjoyed by the male sex, are assuming to act on those ideas, with consequences that are not always pleasant.

Every one remembers the abandon of girls and young women at the Pike during the World's Fair, when thousands vied with each other in silly horseplay. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured bodily, but the effect on manners and morals was injurious.

What may happen when girls presume was seen in the news of Monday and Tuesday, as told in the Post-Dispatch.

Two young women took the liberty to go, unescorted, to Morische's Grove Sunday night. The place was itself a danger spot for women. On their way to the street car after midnight, they were insulted, as they might have anticipated. And a watchman who went to their aid was shot.

Tuesday's news told of a young woman who had been bitten on the cheek by a brute at the Jefferson Club Carnival. The girl had been throwing confetti indiscriminately on men and boys as she passed through the show, evidently assuming that women ought to be as free in manners as men.

The consequences of such conduct on the part of women do not support the theory.

The moral wave has struck Custer County, O. T., hard. Teachers there must do without both tobacco and alcoholics.

MAGAZINE REVENUE.

Cyrus Townsend Brady in the August Critic.

The amount paid monthly by purchasers of these magazines is $1,500,000, yearly $18,000,000. For this the purchasers receive five and a half thousand pages of text and pictures a month and a little over four thousand pages of advertising. The revenue of these magazines from advertising is over $1,250,000 per month, or over $15,000,000 a year, with a grand total from circulation and advertising of over $33,000,000 a year. This is nearly an average of $1,000,000 a magazine, and were it not for the number of magazines of small circulation included in the list the average would be much greater.

There are three magazines whose circulation is over 1,000,000 copies; one over 600,000, three over 400,000, three over 300,000, four over 250,000, seven over 200,000, four over 150,000, two over 100,000, eight over 50,000 and four below 50,000. The prices range from 35 cents to a dime. There are 17 10-cent magazines and 22 whose price is greater than that.

THE NAVY AS A MONOMANIA.

From the New York Evening Post.

The President is a perfect master of the art of apropos. Every topic logically suggests to him the big navy. It burst into all his remarks as inevitably as King Charles' head into those of Mr. Dick. Yet he quit cutdid himself yesterday by winding up his feeling tribute to the beautiful charity whose work he went to inspect with three cheers for "as fine a fighting fleet as the finest in the world." But we thought that Americans had a sense of humor.

THE WANTS OF THE SEX.

From the Catholic Standard and Times.

"Of course," said Prof. Skoller, "the generic term 'man' includes 'woman'."

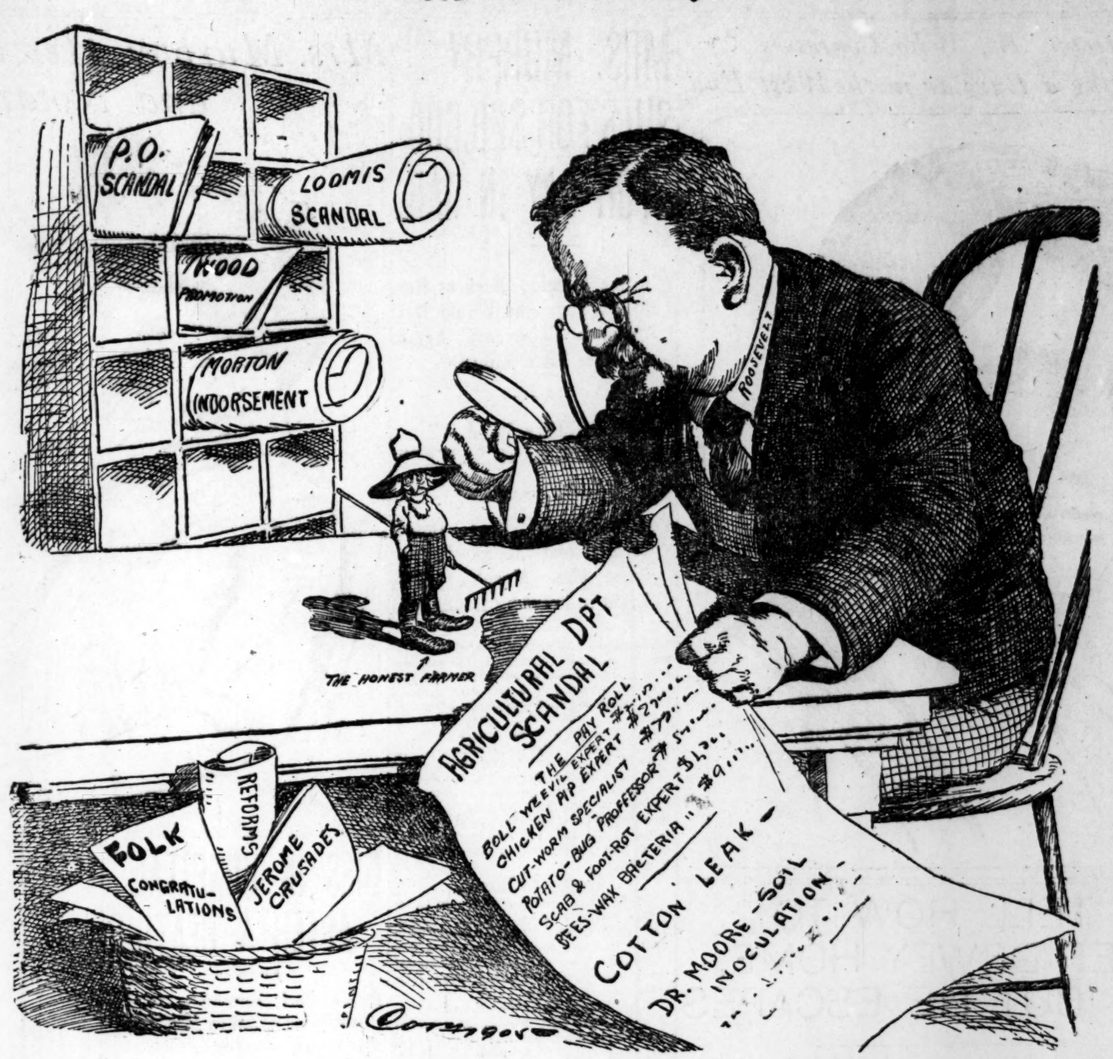

"Usually, but not always," replied Marryat.

"O, yes; invariably."

"I insist that it doesn't! for instance, in the line 'Man wants but little here below'."

Troubles of His Own.

By J. Campbell Cory.

NEW YORK EDITORIAL OPINION

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The World says:

"New Orleans keeps up courage and a good fight against the fever. Its efforts are more successful than they possibly could have been under the conditions of earlier visitations. Nevertheless, the lesson which is being painfully learned is that of the ease with which a few years of immunity may lead to perilous laxness in the first stages of a fight with a treacherous foe."

"I never robbed a poor man or an honest man," says Strosnider, a confidence man who recently was in court here.

"Easy money, as the candid Strosnider observes," says the American, "is a bait of universal attraction, especially if it appears to be a real case of something for nothing. Money without work. Money in exchange for a little cheating—if this did not attract so many men the parasitic Strosnider would have to put on overalls and hustle for a pick and shovel. However, this practitioner of 'bunk' does not fear such a fate. A sucker is born in New York every 30 seconds, he says, and he does not apparently exaggerate. And in his remarks is a silent moral: Those who are born suckers should not ape sharks."

"The visit of the British fleet under the command of a prince of the royal blood will be a welcome international incident to this country, but will scarcely have effect upon the relations between the United States and the United Kingdom which such a visit would have upon the relations of two European powers," says the Press.

"Mutual interests and mutual aims for mankind bind together the two great branches of the English-speaking race, and the pomp and circumstance of assembled fleets can not add to or detract from an unwritten alliance based upon such foundations.

"There was a time—after the war of 1812—when by orders of the British admiralty, no British fleet was allowed to visit the ports of the United States, and visits of American fleets to British ports were few and far between. Now happily the ancient tomahawk is deep in the bosom of the ocean buried and our fleets are as common in British ports as we wish British fleets were in the ports of America."

The Times cannot accept the New York Herald's wireless telegram saying M. Witte remarked that peace negotiations would end in a week. It says:

"Inasmuch as M. Witte is not only a man of peace, but is experienced and discreet, no attention will be paid by intelligent persons to pessimistic utterances ascribed to him on doubtful authority or no authority at all. It is, of course, impossible that M. Witte should have said that the peace negotiations were likely to come to an end within a week, since Japan's terms would probably be unacceptable. It is M. Muravieff who might have talked in that fashion, but M. Witte has come out to the peace conference instead of his more indiscreet countryman, and we may be sure that if he talks at all for publication it will be with such reserve and prudence as becomes his station and his responsibilities."

The Sun thinks Mr. Paul Deschanel's idea for an alliance between Russia, France and Great Britain as a guarantee of the world's peace is far less practical than one between France, Great Britain and the United States. It says: "If we are ever to see realized the vision of a parliament of man, a federation of the world, the first effective step in that direction will have to be taken by France, Britain and the United States. The bulwarks of free institutions, the exemplers of self-government, they represent three-fourths of the intellect and three-fourths of the accumulated capital of mankind.

"No sovereign in his senses, least of all a sovereign like William II, would expose his country to such a catastrophe as Germany would suffer should he defy the accumulated capital of the three richest countries on the globe. Far from defying them he would seek admission to their peaceful coalition, with whose good will his honorable aspirations for the extension and welfare of the fatherland might reasonably expect fruition. As a friend, as copartner of France, Britain and the United States, William II would have very much to gain; against them, everything to lose.

"Such an international commission as we have here suggested would not only be invulnerable, but would exercise an attraction as irresistible as the force of gravitation. Russia would be drawn to it by her league with France; Japan by her alliance with England. Italy, Austria and Spain would be impelled in the same direction by their interests in the Mediterranean and by their pecuniary necessities. The same imperative need of money for the development of its national resources would ultimately prove a lodestone to every country upon earth."

"IT STRIKES ME," SAID THE REPORTER.

A FELLOW you see on every crowded street car who, seated with a stranger, quickly arises and makes a run for the first seat that is vacated, has poorly developed reasoning powers. Evidently he thinks he is to get an individual seat, but in a big majority of instances the other half is occupied before he has time to settle himself.

AND it has also probably occurred to you, that a big portion of the waiters in the various eating places in the city are equipped with an exaggerated opinion of their own importance. There is not the least doubt but that the position of the persons supplying the wants of the hungry public is a trying one, but those employes nevertheless owe it to their employers to conduct themselves in accord with the ideas of the customers, when the latter are not at fault.

ST. LOUISANS who visited Jerseyville Sunday laughed their train fare's worth at the chicken race. There was a Plymouth Rock "springer" and its feet were tied with pink strings. It jumped out of the buggy into the dust of a main street and the owner had to chase it for a half block. Every time he was within salting distance the chicken made another jump. Urged by the laughter of the observers the man made a great effort and the chicken was again a pot-pie candidate.

OH, MATTCHEW KIELY

(With Apologies to Mister Dooley.)

By J. B. Hendricks.

George Washington, the father of his country, he was game,
He marched his men across the ice, and won himself a name;
His little stunt was nothing, though he thought it mighty fine,
Matt Kiely had him "skinned a block"—he crossed the county line.

Chorus—
Oh, Mattchew Kiely, Sir Mattchew Kiely,
You made the Delmar bookies awful sore,
You're diplomatic, and most emphatic,
You've a right to wear the "lid" your father wore.

Napoleon was a soldier in his day and that is true,
But if he were still on this earth he would feel mighty blue.
Matt Kiely showed the world he had Napoleon beater when
He marched his men to Delmar Track and marched them back again.

Chorus—
Oh Mattchew Kiely, Oh Mattchew Kiely,
They couldn't rattle you at all, at all.
You kept them busy, you made them dizzy,
You bounced them like a little rubber ball.

The people thought the nation safe when Dewey, one bright day,
Destroyed the Spanish vessels in Manila, far away,
And he deserved his country's praise for everything he did;
But Kiely put him on the shelf by nailing down the "lid."

Chorus—
Oh Mattchew Kiely, Oh Mattchew Kiely,
You showed the boys you knew a thing or two.
You stopped the Bookies, and copped the crook-ies,
You did your dooty-ooty-ooty-oo.

Now Togo was a sailor and that fact no one denies.
He sent poor Rojestvensky down where Pat McGinty lies.
But Togo is a schoolboy and he'll have to climb a tree,
With Mattchew Kiely he don't count—not even one, two, three.

Chorus—
Oh Mattchew Kiely, Oh Mattchew Kiely,
The greatest man St. Louis ever knew,
You put a gap-oh in Togo's chapeau,
You put a lid on Delmar with a screw.

Our Teddy he is strenuous, and we would have you know,
With one swipe from his "Big Stick" all the grafters they must go;
But Roosevelt's only joking, he don't mean it just a bit,
Matt Kiely is the only man that really makes a hit.

Chorus—
Oh Mattchew Kiely, Oh Mattchew Kiely,
You ticked us when these words we did hear,
"We've got them bested, don't be arrested,
Make them serve their warrants with a glass of beer."

CASEY, THE COP

The Yellow Perils Call for Sententious Comment.

"DRIVE up thot car," said Casey, the ladies' cop, to the motorman who seems to be his natural enemy, for, be it known, Casey piloted a horse car drawn by mules along the streets of old St. Louis and much of the fluency and forcibility of his vocabulary was acquired by reason of a close association with a team of Missouri canaries.

"It's yallow-yallow-yallow," sighed Casey to his friend, th ereporter, after he had straightened the tangle on the corner. "It's first the yallow peril and thin the yallow fever. Small chanst an Orishman stands the way things is goin' thse days.

"This whole counthry is gettin' nutty on the subject of yallow and bars. First we hears how the Japs is comin' over here to get all of the police jobs. Thin we hears how Joe Folk closes all of the bars on Sunday and New Orleans mixes up the two and passes a statoo that all miskities must be provided wit' a bar for fear of yallow fever.

"Well, annyhow, I'll bet that whin Vardaman called for volunteers sojers to fight the yallow pesth, not an Irishman in Mississippi hid under the bed.

"But here's a good one on me and me wife, and it's an even break," and as Casey spoke confidentially to his friend his sides shook with subdued laughter. "Ye know she has gone away with the kids, but before she wint I sint a carpet sweeper up to the house and whin I got home thot night I found her thryin' to cut the grass with it. 'Twas a good joke, but suppose she finds out that Saturday night I orders a case of beer, Sunday morning two orders of ice from the iceman and thin spinds an hour crackin' the ice and puttin' it in the icebox and don't remimber until quittin' time thot I forgot to put th ebeer where the ice was. She'll be handin' me a boonch if the neighbors put her nixt, and me guyin' her about the carpet sweeper."

Mrs. Yenowine's Burglar

By IVAN WHIN

A REVOLVER foreshortened behind a hole exaggerates its caliber marvelously. A pitiful 22 will have an effect on the imagination that is startling.

When the man mounting the stairs at midnight noted Mrs. Yenowine—clad, it must be confessed, somewhat lightly—standing rigid at the stair head, he also discerned in her hand a cannon, the bore of which was a tremendous cavern.

The weapon was pointed at his eyes. He inferred rather than saw the mechanism of the revolver beyond that hole. The rim expanded and contracted nebulously like a smoke ring, but its interior diameter at its greatest contraction was unpleasantly wide.

Mrs. Yenowine's eyes were big, glassy and kaleidoscopic in color, varying like the eyes of an angry cat in the dark.

The man paused in his ascent. In fact he stopped suddenly, trembling.

"Who are you? What do you want? Get out of here!" panted the woman.

Fear possessed his objective mind but the interior, subjective mind said: "She is hysterical, possibly insane; humor her."

"Who are you?" he asked bravely. "What are you doing here?"

"Get out or I'll shoot," she said.

"There is some mistake," he said in a quiet voice. "I hope you will pardon me, but surely there is some mistake."

As he spoke he mounted the stairs, slowly, nonchalantly.

She wavered, doubting briefly her right to protect her home and herself from this intruder.

Suddenly she was aware that he was only three steps before her. With quite an unnecessary flourish she swept her arm about and brought it again into position to fire upon him. She closed her eyes and pulled, as she thought, on the trigger.

Her finger was not on the trigger, but outside the trigger guard.

What followed was work quicker than words can tell.

The man leaped to the top step, grasped her extended right arm at the wrist with his left hand and bent the arm back so that the revolver pointed at the inoffensive and unvital wall. With his right hand he caught her languid left and his breast, thrusting against her's, forced her back to the wall in one swift rush.

"Drop the gun!" he commanded in a voice chilly with threat.

His face was close to her own.

In spite of her terror, her excitement, she noted that his eyes were large, gray and shadowed by femininely beautiful lashes; that his mouth was pleasantly curved and his broad, forward thrusting chin was cleft by the dimple of amiability.

And he, in spite of exultation over the daring which saved his life, knew that she was darkly, Orientally beautiful.

Her finger found the trigger and pressed it again and again. Shot after shot filled the hall with thunder and the acrid smell of smokeless powder. The bullets splattered against the brick wall and a fragment of lead rebounding cut the man's cheek.

"Drop that gun!" he roared, and his eyes contracted to slits.

He twisted her wrist and the revolver clattered to the floor.

Then he flung her aside and clawing the floor, secured the weapon. He put it in his pocket.

"Now," he said, panting from his exertion, "what does this mean?"

Robbed of one weapon the woman possessed another.

She screamed, loud, shrilly and long.

He made no move to check her, but leaned against the stair rail to which he had retired and beat upon his chest wherein his heart was palpitating, suffocatingly.

She checked herself abruptly.

"You coward!" she said.

"Possibly," he responded. "I never did like to look into the wrong end of a revolver. It excites me, unduly."

The coolness of the response surprised himself.

"You coward!" she repeated.

The word stung him now.

"May I ask," he said, harshly, "what this means. I am not accustomed"—

"Certainly you are not accustomed to finding women who can shoot. All the women—and the men, too—you have met are afraid of you. But I tell you I am not afraid of you. If I had that revolver"—

"Yes, if you had that revolver you could clip buttons off my coat at 50 paces. Admitted. But why should you? I do not wish to harm you. If you will kindly retire I will go to bed peaceful as a lamb."

"You" — she was evidently about to repeat the epithet, but he interrupted.

"May I suggest that your costume"—

She was suddenly aware of her single, thin garment, and as quickly as he had leaped up the stairs, she sprang into the shelter of a bedroom and slammed the door. He heard the lock click and quickly thereafter two other doors were shut and locked.

He laughed foolishly, the laugh of one who has successfully passed a crisis.

She had entered the second room, the large chamber. He entered the front room and turned on the electric light.

As he looked around the room he whistled softly involuntarily, and the fear that he had felt, but had not shown, leaped into his eyes.

He ran to the hall and studied its features, looked down into the dark depths of the hall below, trotted down a few steps and, altogether at loss traced with his fingers, absently, the figures of the paper on the stair wall.

Presently his jaw squared and his shoulders set firmly. He strode to the door behind which Mrs. Yenowine was sheltered. He knocked, and said:

"I beg your pardon, madam, but it's all a mistake. I got into the wrong house. I am Charles M. Levering. Perhaps you know I moved into a house near here—it's probably the house next door."

He was aware of a telephone bell's tinkle as the receiver was lifted from the hook and the soft murmur of a woman's voice. At first he could not distinguish the words, then the shrillness of the excited woman's voice carried the sounds clearly through the bolted door.

"I can't talk louder," she was saying room, "It's a burglar. He's in the next room. Send a policeman quick. I'm all alone. All my servants are out.

"Yes, Mrs. Yenowine, 5036 McPherson.

I have no husband! Yes. Do send someone, quick!"

Fifty thirty-six! Well, he was only one door from home.

The humor of the thing overcame him. He laughed softly and knocked again, repeating his explanation.

A bullet tore through the panel near him.

"Don't shoot, Mrs. Yenowine," he cried, leaping back into the shelter of the wall. "Don't shoot, Mrs. Yenowine. It's all a mistake. I'm in the wrong house."

"What's that?" she asked.

"I'm in the wrong house," he repeated and went over the explanation again.

She laughed hysterically.

"If that's so, or whether it is or not, for goodness sake go."

"I'm going," he said and yet he lingered.

She opened the door cautiously.

He saw that she wore something over her robe de nuit and that she carried another revolver.

"Please, Mrs. Yenowine, believe me, I am awful sorry to have given you this fright, but I thought I was in my own house," he pleaded.

She eyed him curiously took stock of him from head to foot.

"Are you the son of Mrs. Levering who"—

"Taught you to paint roses and cupids and Watteau landscapes"—

"And used to live"—

"In Windermere place. Yes, I'm her son."

"I thought you were a burglar."

"And you had every excuse to think so. It was plain stupidity on my part. I didn't look at the houses closely. You know there are four just alike. I should have counted from the first one, but I didn't, and then my latch key fitted your door."

"O, I must have it changed immediately."

"Won't you forgive me?" he asked smiling.

"Yes, indeed, but"— she leaned weakly against the doorjam and slipped slowly to the floor before he realized that she had fainted.

Before he could reach her there was a clamor at the hall door and the bell rang violently.

He lifted her in his muscular arms and laid her on a couch in her bedroom.

Then he hurried down to the door and opened it.

A policeman brushed through and seized him. Two others followed. They held revolvers in their hands. Outside he saw other policemen. A patrol wagon clattered up and stopped in front of the house, its big lights painting broad paths over the backs of the horses.

"I'm not the burglar," he explained. "Mrs. Yenowine will tell you. She has fainted upstairs. Send someone for a doctor."

The sergeant ordered one of his men to call a doctor and, retaining a tight hold on Levering, escorted him upstairs.

A policeman, following, struck the revolver in Levering's pocket and possessed himself of it.

Mrs. Yenowine's eyelids were fluttering when they entered the room.

The sergeant chafed her wrists and temples perfunctorily. He seemed to understand women's faints.

She opened her eyes and seeing the blue coats, sighed relief.

"Where's Mr. Levering?" she asked.

"Here, Mrs. Yenowine." He knelt by the couch.

She gave him a hand and he chafed it gently.

"The burglar is gone," she said.

When she could sit up the sergeant demanded details and she described the encounter with Levering, but when he asked for a description she described a man a head shorter and two stone heavier, a dark, ugly, brutal-looking man.

"But where does he come in?" asked the sergeant, indicating Levering with his hand.

"I heard the shots and screams and rushed to Mrs. Yenowine's assistance," said Levering, glibly.

"How'd you get in?"

"The front door."

"Who opened it?"

"Mrs. Yenowine."

"Where was the burglar?"

"I don't know.

"I didn't open the door," interrupted the woman. "The burglar opened it and left it ajar when he fled and Mr. Levering came in after he was gone."

The grim, grey sergeant eyed both suspiciously.

"It's — queer," he said, and went his way.

Perhaps that is why the pretty widow married the prosperous son of her painting teacher.

When you consider the facts as the sergeant saw them—but then no question of outraged conventions entered into Levering's or the widow's minds. They innocently tell the story of their first meeting and ever, when that part is reached where Mrs. Yenowine thought she was pressing the trigger, the lady will cover her eyes and shudder, thinking of the happiness she might have missed.

A New Record for Widows

By NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH

NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH

ONCE upon a time there was a widow who when reproached with having married six husbands in as many years replied that she was bound to show the Lord she could get 'em as fast as he could take 'em.

This was, of course, before the days of the grass widow, who, by her superior enterprise, has obliterated the memory of that feeble one-at-a-time record.

But Mrs. Tomczak of Buffalo has come to the ordinary widow's relief and established a new record for speed. For she took unto herself a second spouse while her first husband's funeral was in progress, and its baked meats did literally furnish forth the marriage feast.

To the normal mind that was an inexpressibly shocking performance. But there are many widows, nevertheless, whom nothing but the fear of Mrs. Grundy would keep from a repetition of it, were the matrimonial opportunity to present itself so swiftly.

For the callousness of widows is to me a matter of perpetual marvel.

I remember going into a woman's house on a journalistic errand connected with her husband's death.

It turned out, however, that his decease had been perfectly normal, and had no news value whatever. Nevertheless, the relict insisted on taking me in to see how natural he looked, and when in the actual presence of death I murmured a brief apology for intruding upon her grief, she said graciously:

"Oh, not at all. I'm sorry I couldn't give you a better story."

Another wife, full-blown and 45, in anticipation of her octogenarian husband's decease, had a new photograph taken and sent it to the newspapers, following it a week later with postal cards announcing the anticipated event.

Now, to women like this, the loss of a husband is simply the loss of so much money, and we might as well expect a man to go into mourning for the job he had lost and decline a new one as for her to hesitate at a second offer of marriage, even though made, as in the case of the Buffalo widow, at her dead husband's bier.

Marriage to her is simply a profession, and the number of husbands she acquires a tribute to her efficiency.

Unfortunately, though her numbers are small, they are conspicuous enough to obscure the genuine loving, bereaved widows, in whose hearts love burns a perpetual altar flame. Of them we never read, for they are not looking, like the rest, for all the free advertising they can get—object—matrimony.

How the American Knew.

The American in the corner of the non-smoking first-class carriage insisted on lighting his cigar. The indignant Britisher in the other corner protested, and protested in vain. At the next station he hailed the guard, with hostile intent; but the placid American was too quick for him. "Guard," he drawled, "I think you'll find that this gentleman is travelling with a third-class ticket on him." Investigation proved him to be right, and the indignant Britisher was ejected. A spectator of the little scene asked the triumphant American how he knew about that ticket. "Waal," explained the imperturbable stranger, "it was sticking out of his pocket and I saw it was the same color as mine."—London Chronicle.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The City's Health.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Post-Dispatch has done good work in the past for the city's poor. I come to you to help to keep our city free from the yellow fever, which now threatens this country. A case in point is the following: On or about the first of July I reported to the Health Department that the sewer at my house was stopped up, filling the living rooms with sewer gas. Nothing was done until the 29th of July, or, until I had complained the second time to the Health Department. Between us we finally succeeded in inducing the agent to send out a plumber at an expense of about $200, got the sewer opened so that now it is safe to pass the house without holding your nose. C. M. HOWE.

The Privileged American.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

So long as an American has the privilege of annoying his neighbors with parrots, pigeons, dogs, cats and cattle, why should he complain of missing a little beer on one day of the week?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Here is a little rhyme for the German papers:

Had Not Been Barred.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I passed a vacant house the other day from which children had not been barred. You should see the wreck. I very much fear that they will hereafter be barred. If parents could find some way of keeping children occupied there would be less barring and cheaper houses. FAX.

Democratic Harmony.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice that Gov. Dockery is again giving advice to the Democratic party of this State on the subject of harmony. Now, it would be much better for the party in the State of Missouri if the Governor would maintain a discreet silence. The party has not yet forgotten the brand of harmony that Gov. Dockery was dispensing last year. They have not forgotten his vicious attacks on Gov. Folk when he was candidate for Governor. The great mass of the party knows that outside of Gov. Dockery and a very lean following perfect harmony exists inside of Democratic ranks at this time. The election of Mr. Folk solidified the party.

CITIZEN.

In Defense of Mother-in-Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I noticed the kind and generous manner in which you stood by the mother-in-law in your Saturday edition. In regard to the mother-in-law would say you were right in every sense of the word and voiced my sentiments fully.

My firm opinion is that half the people do not realize what a blessing a mother-in-law is. I am but 18, married a girl of 15 at the age of 17 last fall. I have a mother-in-law that is a veritable godsend. By marrying I lost a fortune and friends, but in return received a mother-in-law to be proud of. She has always been the first to offer assistance and likewise the first to say a cheerful word.

I do not believe that any mother-in-law would scold or bother a young husband as long as he does right. You cannot blame her for wanting to look out for the interests of her daughter when she sees her mistreated. Let all these married men have more consideration for the feeling of their wives and their wives' parents; they then will soon evince a change of sentiment towards their mothers-in-law, and wonder what they would do without them.

ALBERTA.

Protect the Working Girls.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am a working girl in a shoe factory at Twenty-first and Lucas avenue and day after day can be seen women at windows directly opposite accosting every man that goes by. You dare not pass by with an escort, and on Lucas avenue it is just as bad. A porter is kept busy from the saloon on the corner serving drinks or buckets of beer. If such places must be, can't they be compelled to be elsewhere than around factories where girls who have to work must come in daily contact with them? Is the policeman doing his duty to permit such lawlessness?

A FACTORY GIRL.

Extinction of the Buffalo.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

How many of us who but a few decades ago were fortunate enough to stand upon the broad Western plains and view with admiration and amazement the vast and countless herds of buffalo, thought that this majestic and almost awe-inspiring beast, roaming over a large area of this continent during untold ages, would be exterminated in its wild state during the lifetime of man?

Only about 800 remain and these are mostly the property of various parks and individuals. The largest private herd is owned by Pablo & Allard, Flathead Indian Reservation, Montana (an old buffalo range), estimated to consist of about 300 head. We are advised that the Flathead Reservation is to be opened for settlement, and that consequently the Pablo-Allard herd will be sold. This would be a national calamity and mean the final extermination of this historic animal. It has been suggested that the Government should purchase all the live buffalo in the market, preserve sufficient land remote from settlement, suited to the needs of these animals, together with stringent protective legislation, backed up by an organized buffalo guard.

The National Audubon Society and the various Audubon societies in 35 States are deeply interested in this cause. We ask everybody who is interested in the perpetuation of this noble beast to assist in this movement by immediately writing their Senator and Congressman, requesting their co-operation in this important subject. There is lasting fame and the gratitude of a nation for the man who pushes through a bill for this purpose.

AUGUST REESE.

Another Imposition.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The best page in the last Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine was that on "Compositions." One was not mentioned, so I'll tell it. The Water Department notifies a consumer of water rate due. The consumer gets the money together and goes to the City Hall to pay, but finds he has forgotten to bring the notification. The clerk refuses to receive the money until the notification is returned. So the consumer has to make two trips to the City Hall. This is outrageous. I wish I had 100,000 votes to make municipal changes, or that I had time and money to test this absurdity in the courts. A busy man easily forgets; why should he be punished for forgetting just once? TAPIOCA.

Cut Down the Weeds.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We, the property owners on block surrounded by Tesson, Broadway and Pennsylvania street, protest about the neglect of the Health Department to enforce the law of cutting the high weeds. Who is it that owns that property? or who is excepted from the law. The same state of affairs exists along the railroad track. PROPERTY HOLDERS.

PROMOTERS TRY TO MATCH FITZSIMMONS AND HART

WON KAISER'S CUP; FAILED TO GET IT

New York Oarsmen Kept in Suspense Regarding Trophy Won in Germany.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—"Jack" Mulcahy and "Bill" Varley, who won the Kaiser's cup for doubles, emblematic of the world's championship, at the recent Hamburg regatta, arrived in this city Monday on the Hamburg line steamship Bluecher.

Only the bare fact that they had won had been cabled to this country, and their Atalanta Rowing Club mates heard for the first time how the regatta officials withheld the trophy because of another pair's foul. Just as they were sailing they were informed that the cup would follow on the next steamer.

The champions were met down the bay by a tug and on it they went to the clubhouse on the Harlem. Seated on a keg Mulcahy told the tale.

"'Bill' and I came near being done out of the cup," said "Jack." "The Alemania Stettin, Germania, Berlin and Mainz doubles lined up on both sides of us at the start. We had gone over the 2000-meter course, but were not familiar with the German method of starting. As a result after the 'Are you ready? Go!' we were the last to get off, with clear water between us and the last crew.

"At the 500-meter mark we came within a hair's breadth of being pocketed. After we had covered half the course we had passed all but the Alemania and Berlin, who were on a par with us. At 1500 meters we were leading by two lengths, when the referee ordered all back. I learned afterward that the last two crews had fouled each other.

"We let up and then noticed that the others had not done the same, but were gaining on us, so we started again and won easily by two or three lengths.

"Three hours afterward, when we had taken the rigging off our boat, some one, not an official, told us that there would be another race. We answered that the race had not been advertised as a continuous performance, and refused to row again. Allemania and Berlin then rowed a dead heat and the next day the former won.

"When we reached the Bluecher we were disgusted, but we found a letter from the secretary of the regatta saying that the cup would be sent to us on the next steamer. He also sent his regrets that the cup had not been forwarded to us sooner."

Forty Atalanta members and representatives from every New York rowing club were on the tug that met the Bluecher. As the little boat passed the warships lying between Fortieth and Eightieth streets they dipped their colors and the crews cheered the American victors.

Mulcahy and Varley on the top of the pilot-house answered the cheers of Hudson and Harlem River Boat Club members.

They have each put on weight, but are in excellent condition for the coming national regatta.

STAR BALL PLAYER HAS ONLY ONE ARM

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Frank Skeggs is a star baseball player, despite the fact that he has only one arm. He is regarded as the best player on the Woodhaven (Long Island) team, and is a clever all-round athlete. He covers center field in a manner that is spectacular, and he is a marvelous performer with the stick. In catching the ball Skeggs uses his left stump as a stop and traps the ball with his right hand. No drive is too hard for him to hold. Skeggs lost his arm when a mere child, but, being a devoted lover of baseball, he determined to train himself for that sport. Accordingly he went to work and practiced faithfully, playing when he could get a game.

HOT OFF THE BAT.

Catcher Jack Warner, who deserted the Cardinals a month ago rather than submit to a fine imposed upon him by the management, has been sold to the Detroit club. The veteran will be a welcome addition to Armour's catching department.

There is at least one manager who has a right to boast of his powers of prophecy. Connie Mack predicted early in the week that the Athletics would be at the top of the league's standing before the week's end. He made good his boast Wednesday.

Washington's record of three out of four from Cleveland and four straight from Detroit is causing uneasiness throughout the circuit. Particularly are the qualms apparent in the mind of one James McAleer, who is now touching bottom.

Waddell made a new strike-out record for the season at Philadelphia Wednesday, when he fanned 14 men. He has still to equal the nine-inning strike-out record made by Fred Glade in 1904. Glade caused 16 Washington batsmen to swing in vain at Washington, July 15.

The enthusiasm being evinced by the representatives of the association has been no small help to their swimming instructor.

When the Mud Flew.

ECZEMA A FLESH FIRE

Those afflicted with Eczema know more than can be told of the suffering imposed by this "flesh fire." It usually begins with a slight redness of the skin, which gradually spreads, followed by blisters and pustules discharging a thin, sticky fluid that dries and scales off, leaving an inflamed surface, and at times the itching and burning are almost unbearable. While any part of the body is liable to be attacked, the hands, feet, back, arms, face and legs are the parts most often afflicted. The cause of Eczema is a too acid condition of the blood. The circulation becomes loaded with fiery, acid poisons that are forced through the glands and pores of the skin which set the flesh aflame. Since the cause of the disease is in the blood it is a waste of time to try to cure it with local applications; the cause must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. has no equal as a remedy for Eczema; it enters the blood and forces out the poison through the natural channels, and builds up the entire system. The skin becomes smooth and soft again, and the Eczema is cured. Cases that have persistently refused to be cured under the ordinary treatment yield to its purifying, cooling effect on the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any advice wished, without charge.

Eczema made its appearance on my left limb the size of my thumb in 1893, and spread until it was large as my hand, burning, itching and paining me, and for which I could get no relief, until seeing the other cures advertised by you I wrote and secured the advise of your physicians, commenced S. S. S. and it cured me.

GLADE TO OPPOSE POWELL TODAY

Browns Invade Gotham and Are Received by Highlanders as Easy Marks.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The St. Louis Browns arrived here this morning for the first of their series of games with the Highlanders. But four games are scheduled, but it is probable that a couple of double-headers will be included, as St. Louis had two postponed games here on their first invasion of the East.

The coming of St. Louis is good news to the fans of New York, for they believe that after the superb showing of the Highlanders on the Western trip and the four straight wins from Cleveland that the Browns will be easy.

The Highlanders are at least in the first division and are but six games behind the leaders. There has been a revolution in the feelings of the fans toward the American League team. From looking on the performances of the Highlanders with indifference there has been a cnange to absolute enthusiasm. The attendance has increased to twice its normal size, 7000 persons attending yesterday's game. New York may, after all, see the world's championship series played between the Giants and the Highlanders. Glade and Powell are the probable pitchers Thursday.

WIDOW GETS CAPITAL PRIZE

Keeper of Army Canteen Adopts Two Foundlings Who Draw Her Lucky Numbers.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Two children reared at the Paris foundling institution, who drew the numbers from the wheel that won the 1,000,000 franc prize, have been adopted by Mme. Hofer, for whom the tickets were drawn. She has $60,000 in addition to her winning.

She keeps an army canteen for the Twenty-eighth Regiment.

She gave the regiment a punch last night.

She will move into a fashionable neighborhood. She is a widow and 40, but had no children.

The second prize of 200,000 francs ($40,000) was won by Edmon Cousin, an employe in the cloth works of Armentieres. The third prize of $20,000 was won by Mme. Dominique, a candy dealer at Biarritz.

Mme. Hofer bought three tickets, Nos. 2171, 2172 and 2174. She would not accept No. 2173 because the word "trieze" occurred in it, and took instead 2174, which was the good one, instead of the "thirteen."

SAVES AGED NEGRO'S HOME

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 3.—City Building Inspector William M. Connelly has gained a lifelong friend in James Harman, an aged negro, whose home Connelly has rebuilt after it had been torn down as unsafe.

Harman's ramshackle dwelling in South Wilmington was recently condemned. He appealed to the inspector, who told him that if the house was properly braced he would not raze it. The negro worked a week propping up the structure, but when Connelly saw it he realized that it wouldn't do. "It's got to come down," said he to Harman.

"Don't say dat, boss," pleaded the negro. "I'se done worked since de wah to get dat home. Ef it comes down I'se got no place ter go."

Touched by the plea, Connelly told the negro to tear down the old structure and he would build him a new one. Early this week Harman entered Connelly's office. "I'se taken you at yo' word, Mistah Connelly," he said. "I'se torn dat building down."

The next day Connelly sent a force of carpenters and masons to the place and paid the expenses of restoring Harman's dwelling in good shape out of his own pocket.

BIDS WERE ALL TOO HIGH.

Missouri May Have No New Supreme Court Building.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—If former Lieutenant-Governor John B. Omeara of St. Louis and the architects who planned the proposed new building in this city for the Supreme Court can figure close enough in leaving out all ornamentation not absolutely necessary to the structure, and make the cost come within the limit of the appropriation of $189,000, the building will be put up.

The commission will allow the architects and the construction company ten days in which to go over the plans and do the scaling.

Iron Trade Is Satisfactory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The iron trade generally continues in a very sound and satisfactory condition, says the Iron Age.

The rush of buying in the Southern field is over for the present, and in the leading distributing markets Southern iron is slightly easier, since some of the smaller companies are willing to sell on the basis of $11.50 for No. 2 at Birmingham.

The larger interests who sold heavily lately are asking better prices. A lot of 4000 tons of gray forge was sold for Pittsburg delivery at a rather low price.

SPORT FLASHLIGHTS

Manager-Captain-Vice-President Robison of the Cardinals expects to take at least three games from the Phillies.

A baseball authority advises that players who slump in their batting should decrease the weight of their bats accordingly. Here is a chance for some local manufacturer of lead pencils.

Subscriber.—We have never heard of an automobile meet where there were not several world's records broken.

Now that he has attained the dignity of champion, Buddy Ryan is quite willing to meet anyone who will allow him about 10 pounds in the weights.

Rob Fitzsimmons has returned from "way Paree," and we hear that the venerable English fighter, Charlie Mitchell, has offered to meet him in the ring for a $5000 side bet. Mitchell says there is just one good fight left in him and he thinks he can outpunch the lanky Cornishman. Fitz has not been heard from, but the chances are that if the portly Englishman puts up anything like $5.50 of real money, that one fight he mentions will be knocked out of him. Fitz is not the youngest fighter in the ring, nor is he as good as he was 10 years ago, but the way he would step around and dent that huge English edifice, would be far from interesting.

While A. G. Spalding and other baseball authorities are digging among musty records and worrying over the origin of baseball, why don't they ask Beckley, McGuire or someone else who knows all about it.

Now they want to match Fitzsimmons with Marvin Hart. Why not let the Kentuckian enjoy his honors a while. He has been champion only since July 3.

And what has become of Felix Carvajay, the "eccentric little Cuban, who ate green peaches during the Marathon race?"

While talking of club combinations and league reorganization, why not arrange a post-season series between the two St. Louis teams, Brooklyn, the Boston Nationals and Washington, and let them fight it out for the Mut Championship?

VERNON DEFENDS TITLE.

Challenge Match in Doubles Is Unfinished.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—In the challenge round in singles Wednesday O. V. Vernon of the K. C. A. Club successfully defended his title of tennis champion against D. L. James, a member of the same club. Four sets were played, resulting as follows: 2-6, 6-1, 6-1, 7-5.

The challenge match in doubles was unfinished owing to darkness. Two sets had been played by the competitors, D. L. James and Herbert Jones, the present champions, and O. V. Vernon and Dr. F. E. Sheldon. The match will be concluded this afternoon if the weather permits. The score at the end of yesterday's match stood 1-all.

The Oaks, who play in the 15 and 16-year-old class, would like to arrange a game for Sunday, Aug. 6. Address William White, 6574 Odell avenue.

WILL COMPLETE PLANS TONIGHT

Local Oarsmen Show Unusual Enthusiasm in Annual Regatta at Creve Coeur.

A meeting of the officials and members of the Southwestern Amateur Rowing Association will be held Thursday night at the M. A. C. to consummate arrangements for the annual regatta to be held Aug. 5 and 6 at Creve Coeur Lake.

Much enthusiasm is being shown this year, probably due to the stimulus given the sport by the excellent racing at the lake last year for the world's championships, and the intense rivalry between the local clubs.

The different resorts of the oarsmen are crowded nightly by enthusiastics who are speculating on the chances of the contending aspirants for aquatic honors.

Rowing Club Notes.

John Joachim, the local champion sculler, will have to use his old shell in the Creve Coeur races, the new one ordered from Davies being delayed somewhere between St. Louis and New York.

A coterie of enthusiasts gathered about a new pair of oars received by the Westerns wednesday and regarded them as reverently as they do the old shell of Jake Gaudaur, that occupies a prominent place of honor in the club's boathouse.

"Dummy" Heim will row with Joachim in the senior doubles for the Westerns.

It probably will be decided at Thursday's meeting to have the crews locate their headquarters on the east side of the lake instead of the west, as was first intended.

The excellence of the contending oarsmen should make the senior race between the Mound Citys, St. Louis and western crews the most bitterly fought on the program.

Joachim is very diffident when asked about his chances in the single scull event with Zimmerman, the Quincy crack. "I am here to be shown," was all that he would say.

The Westerns entry in the senior pair, Dummeritch and Voerge, will sit in a boat together for the first time in three years. It is not so long ago when this pair won the championship of the Western country in this event.

The Harlem cup winners, Amann, Suerig, Fromanack and Jaeger, are confident they will win the senior fours.

Four new boats are in transit for the Westerns. It is expected they will reach headquarters in time to be transported to the quarters of the club at Creve Coeur Lake.

The Quincy North Ends have entered Martin, Becker, E. Kirtmann, Martin, Opal and J. Kirtmann in the junior barge. The Quincy crew are fast, have a long stroke and will make the others hurry.

The Quincy clubs have entries in the singles, pairs, fours and barge crews.

NO CONSOLIDATION SAYS BAN JOHNSON

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—There will be no merger of the two big leagues this year if Ban Johnson can prevent it. The American's president, in an interview here, Thursday said: "It is true I called on President Pulliam, but my visit had nothing to do with the so-called consolidation of the National and American Leagues. The people do not want two leagues. Healthy rivalry is promoted by the present conditions. This talk of not enough patronage is not coming from the officials or magnets of the American League. So far over 200,000 patrons have passed through the gates of the American League parks and right now some of them have made their entire expenses for the year. No consolidation for the American until the people demand it."

Return With Ten Cups.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—W. A. Larned, Beals C. Wright, Holcombe Ward and W. D. Clothier, the tennis experts who visited England for the purpose of winning the Davis cup tennis competition, returned yesterday on the White Star steamer the Oceanic. They had ten cups with them as trophies of their competition abroad. They were unanimous in praise of the hospitality of English sportsmen. Ward, Larned and Clothier will play in the Longwood tournament next week at Newport.

KAISER FAVORS YACHT CONTEST

Eastern Sportsmen Are Trying to Arrange for Series of German-American Races.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Negotiations are pending for international yacht races between the United States and Germany. They have been informally undertaken by a coterie of American yachtsmen, principally eastern racing men, and are being carried on with members of the Imperial Yacht Club at Kiel.

The German Emperor is understood to have manifested a keen interest in the proposal, and while he has not as yet indicated his entire approval of the plan, is disposed to favor it. If satisfactory conditions can be formulated, it is practically certain that the races will be arranged.

The idea is to make the contests for boats that are of healthy type and not merely racing machines. The racing length of the contestants is now a matter of negotiation. The Americans favor the 23 raters, which are popular among German clubs, and the idea has generally been met with approval.

The plan is to have three boats sail for each country and the race to be determined by the general excellence of the three.

TRYING TO MATCH FITZ WITH HART

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Followers of pugilism will have at least one chance to see a battle of real championship caliber if the proposed plans of Alex Greggains do not go awry. A representative of the Californian manager was here Thursday empowered to arrange for a twenty-round contest between Hart and Fitzsimmons, to be held sometime in September in San Francisco.

The arrangements are still pending, but it seems assured that Fitzsimmons will make the match. The bout is certainly the best that could be arranged to settle the disputed question of heavyweight champion.

OAD OF WOOD AT WOODEN WEDDING

stivities Are Interrupted by Husky Woodman Who Fills Front Yard.

Justice Anthony A. O'Halloran had a ooden wedding Wednesday night and guessed it was the woodenest wooden ding in St. Louis for long.

While his many guests at his home, 7 Cook avenue, were helping him en- y the fifth anniversary of his mar- age, sounds as of a building collapsing ere heard in the front yard. The Jus- e and his friends rushed to the yard. They found a man unloading lumber, ndling wood and big chunks of stove od from a wagon into the Justice's emises so rapidly that the air seemed be filled with flying wood.

When stopped by the Court, the driver the wagon explained that he had en given an order for the wood by me man whom he did not know. He nded O'Halloran a card on which the lowing had been written:

"Burn slowly, Judge, and it will shine richly."

The Court almost exhausted his per- asive powers in getting the driver to nsfer the scene of his operations to e woodshed at the rear, but finally ceeded.

MPEROR AND KING TO MEET

William and Edward Expected to Visit at Marienbad.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The forthcoming sit of a British fleet to the Baltic Sea ppears more than likely to mark the ginning of more cordial relations be- een Germany and Great Britain, in- ead of as has been suggested in some arters, adding to the friction now ex- ting.

The proposed visit was known to the erman Foreign Office months ago and uggestions that objections to it were ised by Germany are unfounded.

The report is revived that Emperor William will meet King Edward during he latter's forthcoming trip to Marien- ad.

POLICE WATCH FOR CITY OF TRAVERSE

Chief Collins Will Raid Chicago Floating Poolroom If It Touches Illinois Water.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Policemen on horseback and afoot followed by patrol wagons are patroling the Illinois shore today all the way from the Indiana state line through South Chicago near- ly to Jackson Park, watching for the gambling steamship, the "City of Tra- verse," familiarly known as the floating poolroom.

While the United States Court has en- joined the Mayor and Chief Collins from interfering with the De Forest wireless telegraph company in furnishing the boat with race reports, this does not prevent the police from raiding the boat, according to Chief Collins.

The policemen in their search have se- cured electric and steam launches and tugs which lie in readiness to race for the "City of Traverse" whenever it comes in sight.

Before daylight this morning the City of Traverse disappeared from its moor- ing at the foot of North Water street. Assistant Chief Schuetter sent out a squad to hunt for the boat, and later information was received that the boat was off South Chicago, near the Gov- ernment breakwater, and in alleged Indiana waters. The breakwater spur extends to a point opposite Sixty-eighth street.

The prospective passengers on the floating poolroom went to South Chicago today by train. There they were met by a fleet of small boats and taken to the Traverse, which did not leave its moorings for the loading, nor at any time touch Illinois waters. The landing will be made in the same way.

NEGRO HIGHWAYMAN WORKS IN DAYLIGHT

Follows Woman Victim Several Miles and Then Attempts to Steal Watch.

IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Screams and Escort Do Not Stop Man Whose Persistence Leads Him to Police.

Mrs. Grace Disig of 3274 Gravois avenue was followed for several miles by a negro Wednesday who, near Grand avenue and Utah street, at 5:30 p. m., at- tempted to rob her of a watch.

Mrs. Disig had been downtown shop- ping and had boarded a Market car for her home. As she was leaving the car at Grand and Manchester avenues to transfer she observed the man for the first time. He smiled at her as she passed him in the aisle, and arising, fol- lowed her.

She watched the fellow, who followed her across the street, but made no at- tempt to speak to her. Several men and another woman were on the crossing, and Mrs. Disig thinks that fact deterred him. She took a seat in the forward part of the car and he sat in the rear.

Mrs. Disig left the car at Utah street. The man followed. She walked west on Utah street, and after going 100 feet she felt the man grasp her on the left shoulder. She turned quickly and he at- tempted to snatch her watch, which was fastened on the right side of her bodice.

Mrs. Disig screamed and Louis Rich- ter, a neighbor, ran to her aid. The man, when he saw Richter approaching, released his hold on Mrs. Disig, but re- mained near. Mrs. Disig requested Mr. Richter not to make any trouble, but to escort her home, as she thought the man was insane.

The fellow persisted in following, how- ever, and when they reached the corner a policeman was attracted by the fel- low's actions, approached and placed him under arrest. Mrs. Disig repeated to the officers that she did not want to prosecute the fellow, as she did not be- lieve he was in his right mind.

SUES FOR HER CHILDREN

Wife of Maj. Davison, U. S. A., Locates Little Ones After Months of Search.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—After searching for months to locate her chil- dren and making many unsuccessful at- tempts to secure them, Mrs. Carolyn S. Davison of Highland Park, near Chica- go, the wife of Maj. Lorenzo P. Davi- son, found them at the Metropolitan Ho- tel in Kansas City, Kan.

Mrs. Davison at once brought habeas corpus proceedings to recover the chil- dren. Maj. and Mrs. Davison's troubles began several years ago, when he was sent to the Philippines with the Fifth Regiment of Infantry. After his return four years later to the United States he did not again live with his wife. He is now retired from the army.

President of Chewing Gum Trust Secures Warrants for Man and Wife.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 3.—Warrants have been issued against Homer Miller, formerly superintendent of the White Portland Cement Co., and his wife, Mrs. Mary Miller, on the charge of assault made by William J. White of Cleveland, head of the Chewing Gum Trust.

The story told by Mr. White in the presence of his attorney and others is as follows:

Monday he ordered workmen to re- move a fence on the property at the cement plant at Four Mile Lake, and he went with them to superintend the work. The fence is a short distance from the home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

While, while giving orders to his workmen, heard a slight noise behind him. He turned and looked into the barrel of a revolver held by Mrs. Mil- ler. He tore the weapon from the wom- an's hands, and as he did so he heard someone coming up behind. He wheeled about and there stood Miller with a drawn revolver.

White promptly covered Miller with the gun he had taken and made him retreat.

POST-DISPATCH NEWSBOYS. NO. 24.

HARRY SUTHERLAND, 1615 LUCAS AVENUE

The Daily Post-Dispatch has won the commanding position of being "First in Everything" by being the vehicle of in- formation for all the people, irrespective of race, religion, etc. In St. Louis everybody reads the Post-Dispatch. Likewise there are found among the vast multitude of Post-Dispatch news- boys in the city races and nationalities represented that make up a cosmopoli- tan army of Post-Dispatch hustlers.

The little fellow seen running to a Post-Dispatch customer in the picture above is Harry Sutherland, aged 13 years, Post-Dispatch newsboy at Eighteenth street and Washington ave- nue.

A year ago he saw other boys making money selling the Post-Dispatch and he says he "followed suit."

He now makes $5 a week and last winter was given extra prizes for in- creasing his sales.

He is a "car-hopper" also and has a good opportunity for big sales at his corner.

Harry is a pupil at the Dumas School, is in the third grade and likes reading best.

He gets his papers at Nick's Post-Dis- patch branch, 1817 Washington avenue. Nick will teach new boys, gladly, how to make money selling the Post-Dis- patch.

EUROPE'S ARISTOCRACY RANKS THE AMERICAN, SAYS COL. WATTERSON

Kentuckian Returns From Trip Abroad Impressed by Observation of Aristocratic Government and Society—Says No Gentleman Will Refuse "a Lady's Request or a Mint Julep."

By Wire from the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Henry Watter- son of Kentucky, suh, has once more planted his foot upon his native heath, if the stone pavements of New York can pass for such.

Anyway, the Colonel is home, and glad of it. He has kind things to say of Europe, too, many kind things, but —well, he had heard of the mint julep celebration which is to be held in his honor tonight.

Is it any wonder that the Colonel was delighted to be home and eager to hear and tell in turn all the news.

"I have come home with my wife and daughter and two grandsons," said the Colonel as the White Star liner Oceanic, on which he was a passenger, was being warped into her dock. "We have been on the other side for more than nine months and have had a really delightful trip—delightful!

"We traveled in Spain, France, Ger- many and of course England," he went on in the slow drawl that marks him as the South's.

"Europe is a wonderful country, a wonderful country, and inhabited by great peoples. The longer I was on the other side the more deeply was I im- pressed with this.

'I observed European aristocracy pretty closely while I was on the other side, and I arrived at this conclusion," went on the Colonel as he mounted his bobby, "the foreign aristocracy is of a much better grade than the Ameri- man article. There aristocracy means lineage, education, brains, a pride of family and a 'noblesse oblige' that we don't often find on this side. Here—

"Foreign aristocracy is of bet- ter grade than the American article. There it means lineage, brains and education. Here—it ranges from bad whisky to Stand- ard Oil.

"Two things a gentleman never refuses—a lady's request and a mint julep."

—HENRY WATTERSON.

well, our aristocracy ranges from bad whisky to Standard Oil.

"I have read with a good deal of sur- prise of the scandals in the Washington departments. One would hardly expect to find the vices of graft among the college men, the men of brains, of edu- cation. Still I have often wondered how so many scientific men connected with the Government with compara- tively small salaries, could live so well. It only goes to show that the college man is not always a success in poli- tics."

"On this matter of mint juleps," began the reporter.

Col. Watterson's smile had all the glow and warmth of a June sunset.

"Well, suh?" was all that he said.

"Some writers of late have been ad- vocating plenty of sugar and just bruising the mint," explained the re- porter.

"Why bother with such creatures?" asked the Colonel. "Every gentleman from the South knows the proper way to prepare that beverage, suh, and we must not expect too much from the Northerners."

"Will you accept the invitation to drink a real julep with your Southern friends tomorrow night?"

"My young friend," said Col. Watter- son impressively, "there are two things a gentleman never refuses. One is a lady's reuest"—

"And the other?" asked the reporter.

"A mint julep, suh, a mint julep."

STRIKE DOESN'T TIE ROAD

Northern Pacific Expects to Run Locals and Accept Perishable Freight Soon.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 3.—The North- ern Pacific is running trains in spite of the telegraphers' strike.

"Our time freights are running and we expect to have some locals running on some of our divisions today," Mr. Horn stated. "We have sent out from this division about 25 agents who will go to points affected by the strike. They are men whom we have examined and who are fully capable of handling our business. This will enable us to handle perishable freight.

"It will take a day or two to get things running, but I think we will be able to show the public some extraor- dinary features of running trains with- out operators with perfect satisfaction to the traveling public.

"We expected to have to meet rumors of collisions and blockades. We have much to contend with in the way of cut wires and misplaced signals, but are coming out all right, and in a day or two we won't know there is a strike on our lines. We have applications for positions from all parts of the coun- try."

FAIRBANKS TAKEN ILL

Vice-President Obliged to Leave Stand at "Soo" Semi-Centennial Celebration.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 3. —Vice-President Fairbanks was seized with an acute attack of indigestion at the reception at the "Soo" Semi-Cen- tennial celebration last night, and was assisted from the stand in the park.

He walked to the Iroquois Hotel and retired immediately.

The shrill tones of a bugle call opened the second day of the celebra- tion. The park was handsomely dec- orated and the addresses were made from a speaker's stand erected at an advantageous point. The grounds were crowded with thousands of peo- ple.

Archdeacon Lord of Sault Ste. Marie opened the exercises with an invoca- tion. Hon. Charles S. Osborne of this city followed with an address of wel- come.

Hon. Peter White of Marquette, President of the commission which had in charge the celebration, spoke on "The Development of the Lake Su- perior Region." He described the de- velopment of the mining industry, both copper and iron, in the upper peninsula and the marvelous growth of the lake marine traffic since the open- ing of the first 350-foot locks here 50 years ago.

ANOTHER WOMANIN COTTON LEAK CASES

Mrs. Fred A, Peckham, Wife of New York Broker, Discovered Through Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A woman in an undergarment business, former- ly in Chicago and this city, now oc- cupies the center of the stage in the cotton leak inquiry.

She is Mrs. Fred A. Peckham, wife of the New York cotton broker who refused to answer questions before the grand jury here on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

What part Mrs. Peckham plays in the cotton scandal is not exactly known but Attorney-General Moody, who has returned to Washington by order of the President it is said, and taken personal charge of the investigation is said to be in possession of the facts.

Secretary Wilson discovered Mrs. Peckham in unraveling the dealings of Edwin Holmes, former assistant sta- tistician of the Department of Agricul- ture, with the cotton brokers in New York.

Following two men through a bank- ruptcy proceeding brought Mrs. Peck- ham's name into the case..

Some time ago bankruptcy proceed- ings were begun against Mrs. Peckham in New York on account of the under- garment business which she was in.

There appeared to be some mystery about the bankruptcy proceedings which it was thought would be unraveled by testimony of the contents of a safe deposit box which Mrs. Peckham was expected to give. She refused to an- swer any questions about the box or its contents to the commission who was taking testimony.

The lawyers went to court to get an order to compel her to answer. Judge Thomas ruled that she must answer. Before the taking of testimony could be resumed by the commissioner in charge of the case, a man came for- ward and by agreement with the at- torneys arranged for the settlement of all the claims against Mrs. Peckham, amounting to thousands of dollars, and the secret of the safe deposit box was never learned.

In the bankruptcy proceedings were mixed up some of the same men who are now involved in the cotton leak scandal, among them L. C. Van Riper and W. W. Judd.

Missourians Invested $6,398,650 in Business Last Month, Establishing 7 New Banks.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—Mis- souri capitalists put $6,398,650 in 113 new corporations last month.

Of the domestic companies 50 are lo- cated in St. Louis. These have an ag- gregate captalization of $1,874,600, while the 28 which are located in Kansas City have an aggregate capitalization of $2,- 342,000, putting it in the lead of St. Louis $467,400.

But to add to this total of $1,874,600 for St. Louis is the increase made by 12 previously incorporated companies, whose original capitalization of $332,000 was increased to $875,000, a net increase of $483,000, making a total of $2,357,600.

Seven new banking companies were incorporated. These, with their location and capital stock are as follows: Corn Belt Bank at Kansas City, $100,000; Citi- zens' Bank at Ava, $15,000; Farmers' Bank at Clarkton, $10,000; Citizens' Bank at Fairfield, $10,000; Bank of Cleve at Cleve, $10,000; Farmers' Bank at Rock Port, $20,000; Ellington Bank at Elling- ton, $10,000—a total of $175,000.

These banks made increases: Bank of Oran at Oran, from $15,000 to $25,000; Bank of Ozark at Ozark, from $10,000 to $27,000; Bank of Caruthersville at Ca- ruthersville, from $45,000 to $50,000—a to- tal increase of $32,000, and making a total of $207,000 placed in banking enter- prises alone during the month.

Twelve foreign companies were li- censed to do business in the State. Their aggregate capitalization is $11,714,000. Of this sum $188,650 was set apart to be employed in conducting their business in this State. Of the Missouri portion of their capitalization $74,150 went to St. Louis, $72,000 to Kansas City, and $42,- 500 to the State at large.

DIVORCEES MARRY; SECOND COURTSHIP

After Test of One Month They Decide Legal Separation Was Big Mistake.

Jacob Reed of 2255 South Eleventh street and Miss Lottie Reed of Alton Wednesday afternoon for the second time were pronounced husband and wife. The ceremony took place at the Caron- delet Presbyterian Church and was per- formed by the Rev. J. H. Gauss.

They were first married in St. Louis in 1895, but the seas of matrimony were rough. After two years there was a separation and then a divorce.

Mrs. Reed often visited the home of her brother-in-law, Frank Reed, in St. Louis, and it was there a month ago that she met her former husband. A reconciliation followed. They talked over their first courtship, their married life and their lives since the divorce. It was agreed that the courtship would be begun again and that at the end of a month if they were still both of the mind that they could live happily to- gether, they would be married.

The wedding Wednesday afternoon was the end of the engagement. Mr. and Mrs. Reed will spend a few days in Alton and will then return to St. Louis to reside.

Saves Life of Woman Falling Five Stories.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A rug which formed a parachute saved the life of Mrs. Katé Getlin today in a fall from the fifth floor to a cement-paved yard. Mrs. Getlin's right arm was broken. The rug lay spread over two clotheslines. From that point downward the edges and corners of the rug flopped against the clotheslines sufficiently to retard the plunge.

B. & O. TRAIN GOES THROUGH BRIDGE

Rail Breaks at Paint Creek, Pa. Killing Baggage Master and Injuring Seventeen.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—The morn- ing Baltimore & Ohio passenger train, bound for Johnstown from Rockwood, was wrecked at the Paint Creek Bridge in Somerset County.

A rail broke on the bridge and the train plunged down.

Louis Don, the baggage master, was killed and 17 others were injured. The smoker and baggage car went into the river.

The train left Somerset at 7:17 o'clock for Johnstown and consisted of the en- gine, baggage car and two passenger coaches.

Just where the road crosses the creek the rails spread and the baggage car and the coach following it went over a 20-foot embankment into the creek, which is a shallow stream. The engine and last coach were not dragged down.

Among the injured is Conductor Hal- benford.

Don, the only man killed, was known as the hero of the frightful Duquesne wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio near Connellsville two years ago. On that occasion his eye was knocked out and was hanging on his cheek, but he pluckily went back to flag the next train.

Another Glasgow Expert Coming to Tell Chicago How to Run Street Cars

MR. CRAWFORD.

Robert Crawford Is an Ideal Municipal Ownership Man in Contradistinction to Dalrymple, Who Is Practical Teacher.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—"Scotch municipal ownership expert No. 2" is coming to offer his services to Mayor Dunne—and incidentally to talk to the country at large on "Municipal Socialism and Its Practical Workings in Glasgow." Mr. Dalrymple's success as municipal ownership evangelist is to Robert Crawford, former Town Councilor of Glasgow.

Mr. Crawford was to have been a teammate of Mr. Dalrymple when the latter made his recent visit to Chicago to investigate street railway service and to report on municipal ownership. When the time came for the experts to leave Scotland he was ill. Now he proposes to come alone—at his own expense—and to give his services not only to Chicago, but to other cities of the country that may need instruction.

Mr. Crawford explained his intentions in a letter in which he says:

"I prefer dealing with broad principles—apart, if possible, from the hurly-burly of the fight over concrete instances—that are concerned in the question of municipal owneship of municipal services and utilities.

"I am of the opinion that a big war is impending in your country over the vast question of principles, and as I always have seen clearly and felt intensely on this subject I would like to strike America at the rising of the wave and do my best to send it triumphantly forward. I have the most absolute confidence in the power of the American people to 'realize' themselves and to rise to a great effort as soon as they see that the thing ought to be taken in hand.

"I am an ardent believer in that phase of socialism called municipalization, and always have been intensely interested in the growth and development of the capacity and desire of people of one community to combine and organize themselves for communal ends. I see no limit to the possible good to be done in this way, provided that good capable men are found with civic patriotism enough to serve their fellows without fee or reward in carrying on these public services as a part of their duty to the community in which they live.

"So long as the aim of civic government is clean, the tone high, the ideal lofty, and the object is to foster and create better conditions of life from every citizen, high or low, rich or poor—apart from all sectional or political interests—then I hold that the control an extension of municipal enterprises of all kinds is a blessing and always will be successful. Towards this end civic reformers in the States must work."

As may be seen from the letter, Mr. Crawford is an idealistic municipal ownership expert, where Mr. Dalrymple was a practical one. For many years he was a wholesale dry goods merchant in Glasgow. He has filled several public offices, but always without pay.

However, like Mr. Dalrymple, Mr. Crawford insists that the possibilities of good in municipal ownership lie in the character of the men who control the city government. It is admitted that his description of a public-spirited citizen does not fit the average Chicago politician.

Some Igorrotes From a Tribe We Have Never Seen

DOMAMOG and his wife, Dangoni, two of the party of Igorrotes now exhibiting at Forest Park Highlands, are citizens of Sagada, a town of 2000 people, 20 miles from Bontoc, capital of the province.

They are members of a peculiar religious stct, named "pacambaba," who eat neither meant nor salt. They are the only Igorrotes who have any form of salutation or any knowledge of handshaking. Dr. Hunt reports that on meeting a representative of this sect, on the lone mountain trails, he stops directly in front of you, instead of stepping to one side to allow you to pass, as do the Igorrotes in other parts of the province, and, with the words "Amay appo" (Good, sir), extends the right hand, the thumb and first fingers of which are curved into a circle, grasping your hand with the remaining fingers, then bending forward, presses his lips to the joined hands.

On no other occasion do they perform anything like osculation, for Igorrote mothers never even kiss their children nor Igorrote men their wives nor sweethearts.

The people of Sagada were formerly greatly despised by the Bontocs, because of their abstinence from meat, and a head-hunting feud existed for many generations, encouraged and continued by the Spaniards, after their advance a short distance into the Province, as a means of keeping the Igorrotes in a quarrel among themselves and preventing their joining hands against the Spaniards as a common foe.

Domamog, who is 32 years old, bears no tell-tale tattoo marks upon his breast (insignia of his prowess in battle as a remover of heads), though he comes from a family of renowned head-hunters. Once, when he was accused of cowardice, he declared that he had slain as many enemies in battle as some of those who boasted of the number of heads taken, but that he believed it a sin to cut off a human head, as it left the spirit headless throughout eternity.

Domamog and his wife are leaders in many of the native dances, in which the people of Sagada, Alab and Gunogon appear to be more expert than those of the town of Bontoc. The beautiful harvest dance, which is given to vocal music and was never seen outside of the province until this year, is a function peculiar to Sagada and the other towns named, and for a time Domamog and his wife, with two other women who are natives of Gunogon and Alab, respectively, were the only members of the company now in America competent to lead it. Now several of the women have learned to lead the music, and Pinosen, who was considered one of the brightest Igorrotes at the Fair, has picked up the air and is as efficient as his teacher.

Some of the members of the company assert that Domamog and his wife have several times in the past few years backslid from their religion, and that while the former is naturally of sturdy build and fine, rotund physique, he always becomes poor in flesh during the time of his repentance, acquiring flesh again quickly whenever he backslides. He is evidently a backslider now, for he abstains from neither meat nor salt and his fine physical appearance indicates that he is enjoying his periodical departure from religious scruples.

A strange coincidence is the fact that Feloa, the chief of the company of which Domamog now is a member, slew a brother of the latter in the spring of 1899 during one of the bloodiest battles ever seen in the Igorrote country.

He and Feloa are friends now, as a result of the policy adopted by Dr. Hunt from the moment he entered upon his duties as Governor of the province, which was to seek to pacify instead of fomenting existing differences.

Domamog is an expert worker in bamboo and bejuco (rattan strips), and is also a proficient chainmaker. The small brass chains attached to the little metal pipes used by most of the Igorrotes are made, a link at a time, by Domamog, with a pair of small plyers to shape short pieces of wire from a coil wound around his left wrist.

One of his favorite pastimes is wrestling, backhold being his choice. At Seattle he contested with a young athlete, a newspaper man, and threw him fairly. After that the man he defeated was greeted by him affectionately as his best friend, whenever he entered the village. This is in line with Igorrote custom, for an Igorrote never harbors ill will against a foe who defeats him fairly, and always extends the hand of friendship to one whom he has outclassed.

KIDNAPERS PLOT TO STEAL CHILD OF A GOVERNOR

Timely Confession of One of the Bandits, However, Warns New Mexico Executive and Son Is Now Guarded.

RANGERS AT MANSION WATCH ALL STRANGERS

Outlaws Hoped to Carry Away Youth, Then Force His Father to Give $20,000 for His Restoration.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 3.—Armed guards are constantly within reach of the young son of Miguel Otero, Governor of New Mexico, these days, and picturesque rangers, with rifles across saddle pommel, are penetrating the almost inaccessible mountain jungles of the Territory searching for the outlaws who recently plotted to kidnap the chief executive's child.

Eight men are involved in the plot. Claude Doane, notorious bandit, was leader. Doane is in jail charged with thee murder of Walter Lyon, a school teacher, in McKinley County. After the arrest of Doane a member of the kidnaping conspiracy weakened and became a traitor to his comrades. He went to Gov. Miguel Otero and made a complete confession, it is said. He gave the names of the eight men who were parties to the plot, but none of these has been publicly announced except Doane's. It is considered reasonably certain that publicity thus far given will prevent the outlaws from carrying out their idea of kidnaping the boy, yet for the sake of caution the parents of the young Otero are having him closely guarded wherever he goes.

Claude Doane, said to be the originator of the kidnaping plot, has a long record of crime in New Mexico. Many robberies are charged to him, yet prior to the present incarceration he has always evaded the law with one exception, which was several years ago, when he spent a term in the Territorial prison for robbery.

How Teacher Was Slain.

The murder of Lyons, the school teacher, which happened several weeks ago, was as brutal as it was bold. Doane, in a disguise, for he had caused it to be understood that he had left New Mexico soon after the expiration of his prison term, it is alleged, inveigled the teacher into going out on a prospecting tour. Doane, who professed to be versed in mining, was to furnish the experience, while the teacher furnished the money. He had saved several hundred dollars from his salary in various district schools during a period of three or four years, and confiding in Doane, who was known to him under an alias, he made free show of his money. The first day out on the prospecting trip it is charged that Doane shot his unsuspecting companion to death, cast his body into a canyon and went away with his money.

Doane was not known at that time to be in New Mexico, and his disguise was so thorough that he might have evaded detection had he not invited capture by stealing a drove of mules. As boldly as though he were a legitimate dealer, he drove the mules across country to market, even growing so foolhardy as to pass through Albuquerque, the chief town of the Territory. The driving of a drove of stock of any kind through New Mexico always attracts more or less attention, and Doane was spotted. Some officers permitted him to pass unmolested, presuming by his air of quiet contentment that he was the rightful owner of the mules, but at last he encountered a pair of old-time rangers, who recognized the mule driver as Doane. He was arrested on general principles, and soon after it developed that he was the murderer of the school teacher.

Shortly after Doane's arrest, a man, whose name is still secret, asked for a private interview with Gov. Otero. The request was granted, the mysterious man outlined to the Governor the entire plot for kidnaping the child, freely admitting his own part. It is said that the Governor promised his informant immunity from prosecution, it being agreed that he will remain only long enough in New Mexico to appear as a witness against the other outlaws in case they are captured, and then leave forever.

An effort has been made to induce Doane to tell something of the kidnaping plot, but he has steadfasttly declared that he never heard of it before. Doane will most likely be convicted of the murder of the school teacher, and that will mean his exit from the world. At least the evidence against him is said by the prosecution to be positive. But if he should be acquittted of that charge, he is certain of a long term in the penitentiary for stealing the drove of mules that led to his undoing.

Gov. Miguel Otero has been the chief executive of New Mexico for eight years continuously, and, while his title is "Governor," he comes more nearly being the king of his people. He is possessed of a personal magnetism which draws his constituents close to him in a sympathetic way, and now that kidnapers have threatened the child of the chief executive, the whole of New Mexico is aroused, as one great vigilance committee, ready to run down the outlaws who made the threat.

According to the man who turned informer, the plan was to steal the little boy and carry him away to the mountains. Then a note was to be dispatched to the Governor, telling him that if he would deposit $20,000 at a certain place and time the boy would be safely returned to him. Otherwise, the lad was to be put to death.

Gov. Otero has made a strenuous effort during his tenure of office to rid the territory of outlaws, and he has made great headway. Not since the administration of the late Gen. Lew Wallace as Governor of New Mexico has more progress been made in the way of suppressing outlawry. It was Gen. Wallace who appointed Patrick Garrett, present Collector of Customs in El Paso, Sheriff of Dona Ana County, New Mexico, for the express purpose of taking "Billy the Kid," a noted outlaw, dead or alive. Garrett took "Billy the Kid"—and then there was one notch on Garrett's gun, for the "Kid" had to be killed before he could be taken. Rewards aggregating $30,000 hung over the head of the outlaw, and when Garrett collected this money he resigned as Sheriff and made a tour of Europe, visiting Ireland.

New Mexico offers many hiding places for outlaws, yet it is believed to be only a question of time until the would-be kidnapers of Gov. Otero's child are captured.

DRIVEN MAD BY SPOOK THIEVES WHO ROB BEDS

Strange, Unexplained Affliction of Traveling Salesman, From Whose Couch the Bedclothes Constantly Vanish as Into Thin Air.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 3.—Stuart Crane, who travels for a Cincinnati shoe house, is in a hospital in Chillicothe suffering from a complete nervous breakdown occasioned by his mental efforts to solve the mysterious disappearance of the bedclothes from nearly every bed in which he has reclined in recent years. Like the hero of Maupassant's masterpiece of ghost stories, "The Horta," in which water disappears from a pitcher before the very eyes of the unfortunate, Crane is the hero of a tale that equals it in all but literary excellence. Instead of water disappearing from Crane's drinking pitcher the clothes disappear from his bed. They evanesce, he knows not whither, and to add to the mystery they are never found again once they are gone. Frequently Crane has paid hotel managers for the loss of the covering that they had provided for his aggravated nerves. To woo sleep Crane has kept a diary, after the fashion of Maupassant's tortured hero, and from it some of the data herein have been selected.

Crane's first experience with a "Horta" that steals bedclothes was in February, 1903, in Hillsboro, Ohio. The next was September 10,1903. He says that on this date he was in Lexington, Ky., and retired about 10 o'clock. Befor 12 o'clock the bedclothes had disappeared. He confessed that on this occasion he was frightened, but he did not ring for more, as the night was warm. He left the hotel next day without saying anything to the clerk. The hotel management, however, missed the bedclothes, including a handsome coverlet, and Crane was charged with packing them in his trunk. This he denied, but offered to pay the cost price of the missing articles. He returned to Lexington from Frankfort to settle the claim and slept at the same hotel that night. That night the bedclothes disappeared again. He asked the hotel people to search his trunk. They did so and were as puzzled as he. Business required that he remain in Lexington for several days, and after paying for two sets of bedclothes he moved to the Phoenix Hotel. That night the bedclothes again disappeared. Crane says by this time he was in a state of panic. He concluded that he was pursued by some mysterious enemy.

Thought of the Supernatural.

Crane even thought there was something supernatural in the disappearance of the clothing, and began to think about ghosts. He went to Louisville one day and stopped at the Galt House. That night the bedclothes disappeared and he was thrown into a condition of terror. He left his trunk and went to the Louisville Hotel, but the bedclothes disappeared from his bed there also.

The next night, Crane locked and barred every door and window, but the bedclothes were gone in the morning just the same. Crane says he was to be married in October, but, after consulting the young woman, they agreed to postpone the wedding until the mystery could be solved. There were no further developments until June, 1904. Meanwhile Crane attributed the strange phenomena to psychic forces, and tried to explain the mystery by attributing it to somnambulism. One night he stopped at the Warner House in Chillicothe, O. A street fair was on, and the hotels were crowded, so Crane doubled up with a friend, Bud McReenhan, a grocery salesman. They retired at 11 o'clock, and about 1 in the morning Bud kicked Crane, and accused him of pulling off the covers. They had an argument, and finally both fully awoke and sat up to search for the missing articles. They were not to be found.

In a Blanchester Hotel.

Shortly afterward Crane arrived at Blanchester, O. He appealed to the landlord, Eddie Hauk, of the Bindley House, to have one of the bellboys sit in his room while he slept. Ben Kent was selected on account of his gameness. About 2 o'clock in the morning Kent rushed downstairs, declaring that the covers from Crane's bed had disappeared. He had just turned his head, and the clothes were gone. That experience proved the undoing of Crane. He went home, and for weeks was ill with brain fever. When he recovered he told his firm the story. The management requested him to resume work and try to solve the mystery. Since then there have been nine recurrences of the disappearance of bedclothes. At Jackson Crane pinned the bedclothes to the mattress. He awoke at 3 o'clock a. m., and the bed clothes were gone. For the next three nights Crane stopped at Caldwell, Cambridge and New Philadelphia. The bedclothes disappeared at each place. When he arrived at Youngstown he was almost a raving maniac. He was taken to the hospital, and that night, although there were four nurses in the ward, the bedclothes disappeared from his cot. Two days later he recovered sufficiently to explain to the physicians and tell his queer story.

WRANGLE OVER SELLECK CHILD

Mother Explains Her Reason for Disobeying Court Order Regarding Daughter.

OUT OF TOWN FOR HEALTH

Mrs. Selleck Sues for Divorce—Husband Accused of Disturbing Her Uncle.

After filing her suit for divorce from Elroy V. Selleck, Mrs. Hazel L. Selleck Thursday morning appeared in Judge Kinsey's division of Circuit Court to answer to a charge of contempt of court.

The contempt case grew out of her failure to allow her husband to see their 5-year-old daughter, Mariana, Sunday, as was ordered by the Court several days before. This order was issued on Selleck's application for a writ of habeas corpus. The mother was given the child, but the father was to see it every Thursday and Sunday.

Mrs. Selleck explained that Mariana was nervous and frightened, and she took her out of town for a few days. The costs of the case were assessed against her, and the order changed to give the child into the custody of the mother's uncle, R. L. Langdeau, of 4529 Evans avenue, the father to have permission to see it Thursdays and Sundays.

While in court Selleck was served with a summons to appear in Dayton Street Police Court Aug. 9 to answer to a charge of disturbing Langdeau's peace July 17. This was 12 days after separation from his wife, and it is alleged he went to Langdeau's home and made a forcible effort to get possession of Mariana.

Mrs. Selleck, in her divorce suit, alleges that her husband abused her, struck her, and July 5, 1905, discharged a revolver near her. They were married June 1, 1899. She asks alimony and sole custody of the daughter.

MEN TO BE FINED COME INTO COURT

No Constable Is at Hand and Telephone Is Used to Tell of Arrest.

FINE IS CAUSE OF ANGER

Man Who Is Penalized Telephones Man Who Was Cause, Who Also Pays.

Long-distance justice is being developed to a wonderful degree in St. Clair County, Ill. An incident that occurred Thursday in the court of Justice Wangelin, Belleville, would seem to obviate the necessity for Constables or other servers of legal papers.

Thursday a warrant was sworn out against George Jung, saloonist at Shiloh Valley, four miles northeast of Belleville, charging him with disturbing the peace. There was no Constable about the court and State's Attorney Tecklenberg was in a hurry.

Justice Wangelin took down the receiver of the telephone and obtained connection with Jung's saloon.

"There's a warrant for you here," he told Jung. "Come in and defend yourself."

Jung came in, offered no defense, but paid a fine of $10 and costs. He was angry, however. "I'll get even," he said.

"Otto Schneider, who hangs around the place, is the man that did that."

He called up his saloon and asked his bartender to call Schneider. Talking to Schneider, he said:

"This is Jung. You come into town and bring $20 with you. You're going to be fined. What? You won't? Well, the Judge will send a constable after you, then. You will come? All right."

Schneider arrived in about an hour and paid a fine of $5 and costs. There was nobody on which he could help inflict justice, and he left the court grumbling.

PYTHIAN GENERAL IS DEAD

Jas. R. Carnahan, Head of Uniform Rank, Passes Away at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 3.—Gen. James R. Carnahan, Major-General of the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, died today at his home in Woodruff place after an illness of two weeks.

He was born in Dayton, Ind., Nov. 18, 1841. His ancesters were fighters and he, at the time of his death, had a long military record. His grandfather fought in the Revolutionary War. His father was a Presbyterian minister.

When 15 Gen. Carnahan determined to earn an education. Through the failure of a bank he had assets of but $5. Despite this he entered Wabash College, Crawfordsville, and earned his way until the opening of the Civil War, when he joined Wallace's Zouaves. He served through the war, enlisting a second time.

After the war he returned to college, being graduated in 1866, and immediately began the practice of law here. He organized one of the first drill companies in the Knights of Pythias. In 1881 he was made Adjutant-General of Indiana.

Too Much to Pass.

McSosh: Can you direct me to the principal hotel in town?

Policeman: Yes, sir. Go two blocks east and turn north. Then you go past a restaurant, a cigar store and four saloons——

McSosh: Hold on, I can't do that! Where's another good hotel?

POST-DISPATCH'S RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

STOCKS CLOSE HIGHER IN A QUIET MARKET

Manipulative Tactics in Some of the Specialties Cause Shorts to Cover Freely and Small Gains Are General Throughout the List.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Stocks opened higher on Wall street this morning with a fair volume of buying orders distributed throughout the list. The traders were active in some of the specialties and the undertone of the entire market was good.

London's range on Americans before the local opening was generally higher, gains of ½ point being noticeable in some of the high-priced issues. Consols and foreign bonds are, however, inclined to be easy. The Bank of England's rate of discount is unchanged at 3 per cent.

Local news continues unimportant; crop reports and reports from the steel and iron markets are satisfactory, but the yellow fever scare is gradually receiving more attention.

* * *

There was little, if any, change in the character of the trading throughout the session from that of yesterday, the list being almost entirely confined to the whims of the professional element. Specialty movements were largely in evidence once again and checked any semblance of weakness on its appearance. The Smelter issues on the continuation of the report that the dividend on the common stock is shortly to be increased were strong features in the industrial class, and the common stock scored a new high record, above 126. The United States Steel stocks were in excellent demand on the bright outlook for the steel and iron industry and the continued slight improvement noted in the pig iron market. While all the subsidary companies of the United States Steel corporation have not handed in their reports from the deliveries of finished products in July, the deliveries so far made indicate that the earnings for the month will be above $11,000,000. This compares with $10,665,000 in the preceding month and $6,344,770 in July 1904. Reports from the Republic Steel and Iron Co. are to the effect that the question of again paying dividends on the preferred stock of the company will be considered this month.

* * *

The near approach of the peace conference instead of increasing speculation is restricting it, as the opinion is daily growing that many conflicting reports will be circulated in the financial district while this important conference is being held. The former belief that an early peace would be quickly reached has been dissipated and it is generally admitted that the chances for a continuation of the war are about as good as those of peace. Should a break come and the war be continued the local market would no doubt reflect the uneasiness that would prevail in foreign markets, and especially Paris, where Russian securities are so largely held. The additional loans necessary to continue the strife will also have to be reckoned with in the money markets of this and other countries. Conservative traders are inclined to let the securities list entirely alone at this level until peace in the Far East is absolutely assured.

* * *

Louisville and National was strong throughout the entire session and there is again talk of this property being absorbed by the Atlantic Coast Line. It it generally believed that eventually this consolidation will take place, but at present it is confidently claimed that the lease of the Louisville & Nashville by the Atlantic Coast Line on a 7 per cent basis, guaranteed, has been opposed and defeated by the large minority interests. The stock, however, is said to be earning at least 12 per cent and the pool active therein finds it easier to bid up the stock and take the light offerings on the advance, rather than let the security lag and be forced to absorb the liquidation from anxious holders, frightened at the yellow fever scare, who would naturally throw over their holdings if the price weakens in the face of the unfavorable reports from the South.

* * *

Trading was quiet after the noon period, the volume of sales being small. People's Gas suddenly became active and rose to 107, but the general list got only a small fraction above the preceding close. Manipulative tactics in Reading held the market steady at the rise and the close showed moderate gains.

Foresters May Raise Rates.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—The question of raising the assessment rates of the organization was to be considered today at the convention of the International Catholic Order of Foresters and it was expected that an animated discussion on the issue would develop. The question of excluding firemen from membership on account of the insurance risk involved is being considered.

Not Worth It.

From the Detroit Free Press.

"Is that man you introduced me to worth a million?"

"No—he's got it, that's all."

Needless.

From Puck.

The Good Fairy called her assistant and showed her a golden box.

"Take this box," she said, "and lock it carefully in the safe. It contains good advice."

"My mistress," replied the assistant, "why should we lock up good advice? No one will ever take it."

WILL BUILD BIG IOWA RESERVOIR

Burlington Railroad Buys Land for 50,000,000-Gallon Storage Basin.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHARITON, Io., Aug. 3.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Co. has bought 210 acres of land west of the city and will build a reservoir on it this summer that will hold between forty and fifty million gallons of water to supply the needs of the railroad at this point for one year, even though there should be no rainfall in that time. The land was bought from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sigler of Indianola and the sum of $100 per acre was paid for it. The road is also negotiating for 30 acres adjoining the above tract, which now belongs to E. E. Carroll, which will make a tract of 240 acres, and forms one of the finest reservoir beds in the State. Work on the reservoir will be commenced in about 30 days.

The road is spending about $25,000 on land adjoining its yards here, and additional thousands to build a large reservoir and waterworks of its own. While it is not known what the intention of the officials is with regard to the action taken, it is conjectured that Chariton may some day be an important point on the Burlington, as it is favorably located for either a passenger or freight division.

SECTION HANDS STRIKE.

D. & R. G. Walkout Does Not Interfere With Traffic.

DENVER, Aug. 3.—The strike of section hands on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, who are members of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, which was inaugurated last evening, has not interfered in the least with the operation of trains.

According to reports received at the general offices of the railroad in this city today only about one-half of the regular force of 2000 trackmen have quit work, and, it is said, the places of the strikers will be immediately filled with new men.

Very Likely.

From the Philadelphia Press.

"I wonder what was the origin of that old saw about people in glass houses not throwing stones."

"I suppose it was meant as a warning to the women. You know, if a woman living in a glass house were to throw a stone at another she'd be sure to hit her own."

CORN HIGHER; WHEAT STEADY

Steady Upward Movement in Coarser Grain Sustains Narrow Market in Wheat.

The strength shown by the speculative grains during most of Thursday's session was not encouraging to local traders, who stayed out. Corn was the strong feature and did much to support wheat in the face of bearish sentiment, but it gained little trade locally. Wheat opened high on cables, Liverpool close was ⅝d high on wheat and 1d on corn. The weather map was good in the Northwest, but wet in the Mississippi Valley, and the corn bulls concluded it was too wet. The range was narrow, but prices fluctuated readily in response to buying or selling or movements in other markets. A break in Minneapolis brought about the first slump from the opening.

Sept. wheat opened ⅛@⅜c up at 81⅜c, and ranged from the higher figure to 81⅛c, and closed at 81½c, a gain of ¼@⅜c for the day. Dec. opened ¼c up at 83⅝c, ranged from 83¾c to 83¼c, closing for a gain of ⅛@¼c at 83½@83⅝c.

Sept. corn closed ⅞c up at 51½c bid; Dec. closed ⅛c up at 43⅛c; May closed ¼c up at 43⅜c.

Oats were traded in even, Sept. at 26¼c.

ANXIOUS TO FOLLOW WIFE.

Aged Alton Man's Wish Granted When Death Came.

J. B. Gould, aged 85 years, died at 2 p. m. Wednesday. He had resided in Alton for more than 60 years, and was one of the true pioneer residents of the city.

His wife preceded him to the grave one month and after her death he stated that he would gladly greet the death summons. He had spoken to no one since that time, and seemed to be only waiting for death. Mr. Gould was for years livestock agent of the C. & A. Railroad in his early life, with offices at East St. Louis. The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. from the home.

ON SHOVEL IN RUNAWAY.

Joseph Schneider, driver of a street grader at Belleville, fell from the grader while driving in Schell street, when the horses became frightened and ran away. He landed on the shovel, the blade of which was a few inches above the ground.

Schneider kept his hold on the reins and caught hold of the shovel as he fell. He managed to keep his body above the earth in this manner while the horses ran a distance of two squares.

Men at the Louisville & Nashville depot stopped the team and rescued Schneider from his perilous position, covered with dirt, badly frightened but unhurt.

MADMAN PUTS HIS GUARD IN INSANE PRISON

TELEGRAPHER'S ERROR PROMOTES THE COMEDY

Not Until Eight Days Later Is Mistake Rectified, Sane Man Being Kept in a Strait-Jacket Meanwhile.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—The "Fiargo" publishes the following story of the accidental removal of a sane man to a madhouse:

A gamekeeper and a baker were, at the Mayor's request, escorting to the asylum at Anjers a certain Legrand, a member of the town council of Cholet, who had lost his reason.

On the road Legrand's escort, finding it difficult to persuade him to accompany them, decided, in order to render him more docile, to ply him with liquor.

They took him into a cafe, and the three indulged in such copious libations that not only the madman but his keepers also were soon very much intoxicated.

When they arrived in this condition at the asylum, the director found it impossible to gather from the incoherent speech of the men which one of them was the lunatic.

He thereupon telegraphed to the Mayor of Cholet asking which of the three men was mad.

"Legrand," the Mayor wired in reply.

The telegraph operator, however, transmitted the words, "Le grand" (the tall one).

The director, in order to be sure of his men, had the trio duly measured, and finding the gamekeeper to be the tallest of the three, he forthwith had him placed in a straitjacket, despite the man's vehement cries that it was not he but the councilor who was the madman. His violence only having the effect of convincing the director that he was dealing with the right man.

Eight days later, the gamekeeper's wife, who had bitterly complained to her neighbors about her husband's desertion, received a visit from Legrand, who, during one of his lucid intervals, remarked to her: "I did not know that your husband was mad. He is though. I am sorry to say. I took him to the madhouse myself."

The whole ludicrous affair was then brought to light, and the gamekeeper, whose reason during his forcible confinement has now really become unhinged, was provisionally released, but placed under strict medical surveillance, while the lunatic, Legrand, has been declared not sufficiently insane to be placed in the asylum.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR 67TH TIME

Offender More Than 70 Years Old Thinks Trip Will Be His Last.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 3.—"Old Bob Moore," one of the most remarkable characters of Pittsburg, was sent to the Workhouse this morning by Magistrate Moke for the sixty-seventh time. "Old Bob," whom the police declare never told a lie in relation to the cause for his arrest, was caught yesterday afternoon stealing a pair of shoes in front of a cheap store on Liberty street.

When taken to the station house, he told the Sergeant that he was hungry, and had intended to pawn the shoes and spend the money for food. The police have every reason to believe the story, but the Magistrate thought that he would be better off at the Workhouse.

"I guess it will be my last trip," said he as he was led away. He is more than 70 years old.

COMMONS NEEDS MUSIC TO CHEER SESSIONS

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Great interest has been excited by notice of the question which Mr. Patrick O'Brien, M. P. for North Tipperary, is putting in the House of Commons, with a view to secure the performance of a select orchestra upon the terrace of the Palace of Westminster.

From time to time half-hearted appeals have been made for the provision of more entertainment for law-makers than is furnished by long debates, tea, smoking and reading rooms, chess and draughts, and the mild diversions of strawberries, ices and ratafia biscuits at the pleasant balcony overlooking the Thames.

Cards and billiards have often been suggested, but the objection all through has lain in the proposition that extraneous occupations at Westminster must inevitably tend to allure honorable gentlemen from those important duties which they have been elected to discharge.

It has even been calculated that the sporting attraction of a "snap" division might be unable to attract a legislator into the lobby if at that moment he was on the point of making the vanquishing stroke in a "hundred up," or annexing a "pool" at the whist table.

Mr. O'Brien is a popular gentleman, very fond of music, and he remembers that during a dreary night in April the House of Commons lobbies rang with sounds of melody, in which several of his own countrymen and many Welshmen—notably Mr. William Abraham, a Druidical Bard of much distinction—bore a distinguished part. The proposal to cheer members with music out of doors is, however, an entirely novel one. Thirty years ago the late Mr. Whalley, member for Peterborough, was frequently requested to sing in the course of a debate, a vocal exercise by that gentleman being deemed preferable to any oratorical one. Mr. Whalley never accepted the invitation, which, indeed, he did not consider to involve a compliment to himself.

WITH GOOD HELP CUPID OUTWITS ANGRY PARENT

EAGER BRIDEGROOM MISSTATED HIS AGE

Special Wedding Party, Comprising Cincinnati Officials Who Worked Overtime in Cupid's Service, Attended the Ceremony in the Courthouse.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 3.—That little Dan Cupid can always find a way, no matter what irate parents or guardians may stand in the road, has been exemplified again in a marriage solemnized in the office of the County Commissioners in the Courthouse here, which joined a runaway couple from Louisville, Ky.

The bride and groom were Miss Clyde Myrtle Wilson and William B. Gordon of Louisville. The bride's aunt, Miss Rose Wilson, a manicure artist of Louisville, accompanied the couple to this city, and she and a prominent county official acted as maid of honor and best man at the nuptials, which were solemnized by Rev. A. F. Hafner, while "Butch" Lees, night watchman at the Courthouse, acted as master of ceremonies.

The bride, who is also a manicure artist, is a beautiful young woman of 19 years, and the groom is of the same age, though he gave his age to License Clerk Frank Biegle as 22. Young Gordon is the son of Bernard Gordon, who is connected with the firm of Bourne & Bond of Louisville. The young man is a copyist in the office of the Interstate Life Insurance Co. in that city.

He met Miss Wilson a year ago and made violent love to her at once. He proposed and was accepted, and arrangements for the marriage were being made when his rather stepped in and declared his son was too young to take a wife. Mrs. Wilson did not object to her daughter's choice and the young man's mother was not averse to the wedding, but the father would not hear of it.

Last week the father learned that the pair had started for New Albany or Jeffersonville in search of a license, and he at once telephoned officials to refuse them. When no marriage could be performed the girl's mother and aunt threatened to have the young man arrested unless he married the girl. Young Gordon was anxious to wed, and declared he would thwart his father.

They decided to come to this city and try their luck. They boarded the first train, accompanied by Miss Wilson's aunt, and arriving here went to the Courthouse, only to find it closed, but Watchman Lees was equal to the emergency, and an appeal to him caused a telephone message to be sent to Deputy Clerk Frank Blehle of the Probate Court, who soon arrived and issued the license.

Groom Was Nervous.

Young Gordon was so nervous that he at first gave his bride's name as Clyde Buella Wilson. It was not until they were about to leave that the mistake was discovered and a new license made out. Rev. Hafner was sent for and the marriage was solemnized in the County Commissioner's office, just a few minutes before 7 o'clock.

The young couple and the aunt, Miss Wilson, registered at the Rand, where they were seen. Young Gordon stated that he would not send his father any word, but let him find out when he returned home with his bride.

"What can he say?" he said. "We are married now, and there is nothing that can be done. Yes, I am only 19 years old, but there was no trouble about that. I told the clerk I was 22. We will go back to Louisville in the morning and face the music. There was a mistake last week. We did not try to get married, but were out at a resort together when they thought we were after a license. The fact that it was published that we were trying to run off informed me as to the manner in which my father would act, and I decided to have no trouble and so came up here. My mother does not object and my wife's parents are satisfied. So am I, and the rest will have to be."

BUTTED BY GOAT, HE GETS INSURANCE

Accident Policy Holds Good for Man Tossed Over the Fence.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GLASGOW, Ky., Aug. 3.—Because he came in contact with the business end of one William Goat, Jack Richardson, chief appraiser in the office of the local port at Louisville, has been paid $12.50 by an accident insurance company.

Mr. Richardson was spending his vacation on a farm near here, and the goat spied him while he was walking through the pasture.

Richardson made for the fence, but the goat reached it about the same time and butted him over. Richardson was laid up two days, and the accident company did not dispute that it was an accident.

WAKED BY SNORING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—To be awakened by the snoring of a stranger in their bed early in the morning was the experience of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dominguez today.

The intruder was a negro. They threw him out of bed and out of the house with such a hubbub that Deputy Sheriff Velarde, who lives next door, was awakened by the commotion and reached his front door just in time to see the negro running down the street.

He opened fire and the negro replied with wild yells. He made his escape.

The negro is supposed to have been one of two escaped from the insane asylum.

WHO OWNS FORMER BED OF A RIVER?

Railroad Tries to Buy One and Finds Two Claimants for Same.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Io., Aug. 3.—To protect its title to Big Lake, a body of water north of Council Bluffs, which, with adjacent land, forms a park tract, the city has been compelled to bring an injunction suit against Secretary of State W. B. Martin to restrain him from selling a right-of-way, 200 feet wide, through the lake to the Illinois Central Railroad.

Some time ago the railroad company, through J. C. Welling of Chicago, applied for the purchase of eight acres of water surface. Thi shas been appraised at $25 an acre. Under a law passed by the last General Assembly the Secretary of State must sell the tract to the first bidder at the appraised price.

The Park Commissioners have secured an injunction to prevent the Secretary of State from conveying any part of the Big Lake property to the railroad company. They claim that the State has no title to the lake, as Congress granted it to the city for park purposes in 1880. The lake, however, was once part of the Missouri River channel, and the recently enacted statute covers all abandoned river beds. The Illinois Central took steps to purchase its right-of-way in order to head off other bidders. It now has a perpetual easement from the city for the strip on which its tracks run, and on that account the injunction suit may not be contested.
